A Surgical Operation.

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will ease when everything else fails—it has done this in thousands of cases.

Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of the salve cured me eight months ago and I have not had a touch of the disease since.—H. A. Tidwell, Statesboro, Ga. For blind, bleeding and protruding piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by W. L. Fields.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Doss Brinson.

Mrs. Doss Livingston Brinson, wife of Mr. A. J. Brinson, of Hoffman, was found dead in bed last Monday morning at the home of her father, Mr. P. H. Livingston, near Laurel Hill, where she was visiting. The cause of her death is supposed to be heart trouble.

Her husband spent Sunday at Mr. Livingston's and returned to Hoffman late in the afternoon, where he was at the time of her death.

The remains were tenderly laid to rest in the Livingston graveyard, Tuesday, July 7th.

A legion of friends extend tender sympathies to the bereaved husband and other relatives.

Gov. T. Everett Appointed.

Gates of the Steamer.

When the steamer is overcrowded, when the food is taken into it that fails to digest, it decays and inflames the mucous membrane, exposing the nerves and causes the glands to secrete mucus. Doctors and medicines failed to benefit me until I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.—J. C. Rice, Coppell, Texas. Sold by W. L. Fields.

A Long Fall.

The New Yorker was in the midst of an accident connected with the nose-diving Platirion building, with his pants, etc., when he was interrupted by his Boston friend.

"Well," he said, "you surely have heard of our Boston building that stands square against it."

"Well," said the Boston man, "when they were putting the last story on a workman fell off the top. Some time later I was passing along the street when a boy yelled: 'Help! Fall account of the accident!' I started to read the report, and what do you think? While I was reading something dropped with a crash."

"What was it?" inquired the New Yorker.

"The workman. He'd just reached the ground."

The Platirion story man from New York was silent.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Magnets as Surgeons.

Not long ago a New England electrical engineer who accidentally got a needle stuck into his leg twisted some wires about a piece of iron and connected the wires with a dynamo. Then with the magnet thus made he pulled the bit of steel from the wound. About the same time an apprentice in the Mare Island navy yard in California was injured in the face by some bits of steel from a broken tool. The surgeon failed to extract all the pieces, and the wound inflamed. The chief difficulty was extracting them—impossible a magnet capable of lifting 500 pounds and held it in front of the boy's face, when the remaining bits of steel flew out of the wound as promptly as if it had been sent for. Now if some one would invent a magnet that would pull silver out of a boy's fingers thousands of young Americans would rise and call him blessed.
