AMERICAN PRODUCTS ABROAD.

World-Wide Distribution of American Farm and Factory Products-- Interesting Facts.

The contributions which the people of the United States are making to the comforts and requirements of the daily life of those in other parts of the world are scarcely realized even by those supplying the articles so contributed. How little does the girl or woman employed in the factory realize that the cotton cloth being manufactured with her co-operation is to become a holiday dress for some other girl or woman in China or India, or the Philippines, or South Africa, or the Islands of the East or West Indies! How little does the boy or man who engages in the daily round of farm life realize that the bacon to be made from pigs which he collects may be exported to British Guiana, or Peru, or Cuba, or Central America, or the various countries of Europe! Yet these and many other curious and interesting incidents of the neighborly interchanges between our own people and those of other and distant parts of the world are shown as part of the every-year, all the year round routine of trade recorded by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

Its annual volume, "Commerce and Navigation of the United States," which it supplies free of charge to those desiring it for study of our foreign commerce, shows many curious things about our trade with the various parts of the world. It is interesting for example, to see that the American mule goes to Africa, Australia, the Island of Oceania, British, Dutch, and French Guiana, Ecuador, Brazil, Haiti, Costa Rica, and British Honduras for service on the roads and plantations. American candles, of which the exportations amount to from 3 to 8 million pounds a year are lighting homes in Japan, Korea, Siberia, Tasmania, Venezuela, the Dutch West Indies, Salvador, the Philippines and French possessions in Africa. American brooms and brushes are making clean the floors and dusting the garments of dwellers in Turkey, Roumania, Malta, the Azores Islands, Egypt, Spanish possessions in Africa, German Islands in the Pacific, Hongkong, and Santo Domingo. American peanuts, of which the exportations range from 5 to 7 million pounds a year, go to British India, the Guianas in South America, the Danish West Indies, Guatemala, Labrador, the Island of Bermuda, and the Belgian Congo in Africa. American boots and shoes, of which the exports range above 10 million dollars a year, go in increasing quantities to every part of the world, Hongkong, Siam, Japanese territory in China, Java and Sumatra, the Straits Settlements, Australia and New Zealand, German possessions in Africa, Liberia, Brazil, Paraguay, Mexico, Canada, and practically every country of Europe. American wind mills, of which more than a million dollars worth are exported every year, are seen in South Africa, the Canary Islands, Turkey in Asia, French China, Haiti, Santo Domingo, Turkey in Europe, Switzerland, Roumania, Greece and Greenland.

And so we might go on extending the list indefinitely, enumerating products of the American farm and factory which are being sent to other parts of the world, and these articles would include sewing machines, typewriters, motor boats, organs, pianos, pianolas, soap, perfume, oranges, raisins, prunes, chewing gum, toys, and many other equally curious and interesting articles, to say nothing of the great classes making up the grand total of more than 767 million dollars worth of manufactures, 565 million dollars worth of raw materials, and 370 million dollars worth of foodstuffs. Of raw cotton alone the year's exports amounted to 450 million dollars; of meat and dairy products, 130 million; of wheat and corn, partly in the grain and partly in the form of flour and meal, nearly 125 million; of iron and steel manufactures, 180 million; of petroleum and other mineral oils, 100 million; and of copper manufactures, nearly 90 million dollars, and so on down the list. The countries, colonies and other territorial divisions to which these articles go, as shown in the volume, "Commerce and Navigation of the United States," above alluded to, are over 100 in number, and it would be difficult to find in any part of the world a country in which some article or articles of American production are not being sold.

The articles which people of other countries send to the United States in return will be discussed next week.

The home of Mr. J. T. Draper was the scene of a very pretty marriage last Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock when their daughter, Miss Vergie, became the bride of Mr. W. C. Powell. The hall and parlors were beautifully decorated in evergreens and potted plants, bearing the color scheme of green and white, white candles added brilliance to the scene. Mrs. E. B. Lassiter presided at the organ, rendering several selections previous to the entrance of the bridal party, whereupon strains of Lohengrin's Bridal chorus pealed forth. The bridesmaids were Misses Josie Parker, Mamie Jenkins, Mary Johnson and Lizzie Beale, attired in white lingerie. The groomsmen were Messrs. Grady Parker, Esten Griffin, Carl Draper and Walter Futrell, wearing conventional black. Rev. D. Cale performed the impressive ceremony. The bride was attired in a going-away gown of blue chiffon broadcloth. The bride and groom immediately left for a trip North. They were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents attesting their popularity. They are both popular and well known young people and have the best wishes of their large circle of friends.

The boys and girls have returned to their respective schools as follows: Misses Maggie Baugham and Ruth Cooke to Chowan College; Messrs. Paul Parker and Bruce Lassiter to Wake Forest and W. C. Lassiter to A. & M. College, Raleigh.

Parker-Brittle Nuptials.

On last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Woodland M. E. church was the scene of a beautiful marriage when Miss Beulah Parker became the fair bride of Mr. Tilton Brittle. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreens and potted plants. Friends and relatives of the contracting parties had filled the house to overflowing.

Miss Jessie Blanchard presided at the organ and just before the bridal party entered Mrs. W. H. S. Burgwyn sweetly sang a Solo, "Because God made thee mine," after which to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bridal party entered as follows: Messrs. H. C. Harrell and H. J. Purvis as ushers, then came Miss Nora Benthall with Mr. Aubra Parker of Durham, N. C.; Miss Eunice Pope with Mr. L. C. Cope-land; Miss Vergie Knight of Aulander with Mr. Fred Jenkins; then came the groom with his best man, Mr. N. J. Griffin, followed by the bride with her maid of honor, Miss Lizzie Overton, of Lewiston, where they met at the altar and Rev. A. J. Parker, brother of the bride, assisted by her pastor, Rev. D. L. Eardhardt, pronounced the solemn words that made them man and wife.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white messaline, trimmed in pearl trimmings and wore a bridal veil, caught up with brides roses. While her maid of honor wore white silk and her other attendants wore white baptist trimmed with val and baby irish. The bride carried brides roses and her attendants pink carnations.

The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mrs. S. E. J. Parker and is greatly loved and admired for her sweet and snashy disposition. She will be greatly missed by her many young friends. The groom is a prosperous young farmer and a man with many noble traits of character.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride where a reception was tendered them. Mr. and Mrs. Brittle are keeping house at the old home place of the bride near Menola. They were the recipients of many handsome presents. Congratulations to this young couple and may theirs be a life of wedded bliss.
