NEW LONDON NEWS

Prof. R. L. Flowers, of Trinity College, delivered an interesting address here on Sunday evening at 7:30 to an attentive audience. His subject was the Christian Educational Movement.

He convinces us that reformation and progress of any sort depends on Christian knowledge to maintain its integrity. To please God and succeed we must have religion, morality, without christianity will not withstand in the time of trouble.

The commencement exercises of the New London High School will begin Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, April 9th, and will continue until the 12th. The correct programs have not been given out, so we are unable to give it. The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday, the 10th, at eleven o'clock. The faculty are busy with closing arrangements and we are sure all who come will enjoy the different entertainments. The graduating exercises will take place on Tuesday, and the annual play will be given Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. D. W. Russell of Granite Falls, N. C., spent last week in Albemarle and New London with relatives.

Mrs. W. P. Broom, of Peachland spent Sunday with her father, Mr. F. E. Reeves, and others.

Mr. Adam Russell, who has been in the lumber business in Wake County, near Raleigh, for some time, was called home on account of the illness of his aunt, Miss Martha Russell, whose condition does not seem to improve.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Huckabee of Albemarle visited awhile in town with relatives Sunday.

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. M. Sumrow on Tuesday afternoon, the 6th of April at 8 o'clock. All of the members are requested to be present at this meeting.

Mr. Cletus Crook, of Winston-Salem is visiting his mother, Mrs. Henrietta Crook.

Mr. J. M. Elliott and family moved into their new home on Monday.

Mrs. Calvin Blake returned to her home here Monday after having spent several weeks in Pekin with her daughter, who has been seriously ill.

Miss Judith Blake, sister of the sick woman, has gone to take the place of her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ritchie of Badin were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ivey for the day Sunday.

On Easter Monday one of our popular young men fell from a tree and was painfully hurt as he was attempting to get "dogwood" blossoms to decorate the car in which he and a young lady were riding. The following Sunday evening he was cranking a Ford to go get a young lady to take her to church, and unfortunately he broke his arm. We hope the third accident will not prove fatal. "What happens twice will happen thrice."

MOUNTAIN VIEW NEWS.

Our school is progressing very nicely at present and only a few of the pupils have stopped to farm.

Honor roll for the 5th month is as follows:

First Grade—Joe, John, Ogden Redwine, Margaret, Cecil Fesperman and Lucile Cranford.

Second Grade—Francis Clark, Madge Redwine and Mildred Fesperman.

Third Grade—Jay Fesperman and Stella Smith.

Fourth Grade—Forrest Fesperman and Fred Russell.

Fifth Grade—Ila Smith.

Sixth Grade—Wayne Smith, Pauline and Gela Kirk, Clay Ingram and Grace Smith.

Seventh Grade—Dera and Baxter Kirk, Gladys Ingram, and Vann Smith.

Our school will close April 30th. We are planning for a commencement exercise on the night of the 30th at 7:30 p. m. and our program will be given later.

The Mountain View ball team played the Ingram school on last Friday afternoon. The Ingram school team had nine boys and the Mountain View team had only six, but the locals beat the Ingram team just the same, the score being 9 and 14 in favor of Mountain View.

Mrs. Pride Jones of Greensboro is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Redwine this week.

MISENHEIMER WHIFFS.

Fine weather, and the farmers thinking of planting corn.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cranford was buried at Wesley Chapel M. E. Church on Monday.

Mr. C. C. Barringer is confined to her bed and has been for quite awhile, and is entirely helpless.

The automobile skeleton which caused the death of George Arey was sold Saturday at public auction with a horse and buggy, and harness. The auto brought $47.50. The young, fine horse 3 years old only brought $50.00.

G. D. Troutman's road force has done some good work on our roads around here opening up and straightening the road. They have made wonderful improvements, the roads having been laid out and straightened and cleared off and much heavy work done at the expense of Mr. J. D. Johnson, and also Mr. Johnson furnished some hands, and the dynamite, etc., for the present work, which is very commendable of Mr. Johnson.

A party of 17 of the Mitchell Home have been in the region of Bright's Ferry on a camping trip since last Friday and returned Monday. We are not so informed as to give any details of the success while on their expedition, whether fishing, or gathering flowers or some may have been photographing the river and mountain scenery in order to send to some of their homes in Ohio, Pennsylvania, etc.

It is not thought that the recent cold snap did much, if any damage to fruit and other vegetable matter.

The pneumonia sufferers all have about recovered.

We have a few cases of the mumps and many are afflicted with a bad cold and know what it would be to have the whooping cough, but many have it and also the whooping cough.

THE PICTURE I WOULD PAINT.

By Frank G. Moorhead.

The man who can paint the innocence of a child's smile, the purity in a woman's eyes, the loving tenderness lurking in the drawn corners of a stern man's lips, is the world's greatest artist. His model is in his heart. He can have no other.

I can not draw a straight line. I can not amuse the youngsters who play at my knee by making a picture in any wise resembling a dog or a cow. By dint of herculean effort I can draw what I proudly think sometimes looks somewhat like a house, with 4 square doors and windows; but the wisp of smoke which I add (with a Spencerian flourish) on top the chimney, is usually taken by the juvenile spectators to be a pig's tail. Yet I should rather be an artist than anything else in the world.

In my mind's eye I can see the picture I should like to paint. There is a doorway as a sort of frame for a mother and a little girl. The love light is shining in their eyes, their faces are now aglow with welcome. Up the lane, towards the house, comes he who is King of the little house hold, monarch of all he surveys. A tousled-haired youngster is enthroned on one of the big horses coming in from the field, and a younger brother rides atop his father's shoulders—shoulders stooped a little since with the day's toil, now straight and squared, because man has thrilled anew to love. Father and boys are waving to the mother and girl who stand in the doorway, through which streams the welcoming light of Home. They call cheerily to each other, these loved and loving ones. The peace of night falls again over that humble, but glorious castle of Love and Faith and Hope.

There would have to be a companion picture to get it all in. A little brood is gathered about the father's knees, while the mother does her chores nearby. The brood listens eagerly while the father reads or tells such stories as children have loved since the beginning of time; the childish eyes grow big, but there are strong arms nearby to protect, fear vanishes. Slowly but surely the father leads them on, from King Arthur to Him, who is Lord of Lords and King of Kings. Night comes on apace. The stars come out. The stairs creak. The little brood gathers closer. Mother joins the circle. And the heads of all, old and young, bend low, while a deep, tender voice, supplemented by childish treble, intones "Our Father who art in Heaven." After this one by one the little folks go "piggy-back" up the creaking stairs to bed.

Who can paint such a picture? Yet who cannot see it in his mind's eye? The man who can not see it has lost two-thirds of his life; the woman nine tenths. There are no tears hot enough to drown that picture from our memory.

Yes say it can not be painted; there are problems of technique which can not be overcome. Our Art will not be Art until such a picture can be painted. Our life will not be Life until such a picture is in every man's and every woman's mind, visible alike in the light and in the dark.

"He who is far from home is near to harm." As the journey ends, and we pass through our own door, that peace which passeth understanding settles down upon us. We drop the pack off our shoulders. We are free men again. Behind the closed door is the solace of sympathy, the tenderness of love.

"This be the verse you grave for me, Here he lies, where he longed to be: Home is the sailor, home from sea, And the hunter home from the hill."

THE HARDWARE QUESTION SOLVED Going to Build

No matter what you intend to build—whether it's a house, barn or merely a shelf in the pantry—you have to have tools. And the better the tools, the better the job. Poor tools are expensive at any price. They last only a short time and never do first-class work.

To be sure of getting tools worth buying, get them from us and you will be proud of your purchase. In addition to the tools, you most likely will need other things in the hardware line.

We have locks, doorknobs, hinges, brackets, nails and everything you will want.
