But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

A FAIR EXAMPLE.

The News-Herald has for some time been begging those who have loose change to deposit the same in local banks. We have insisted all the time that this practice guarantees absolute safety to the owner of the money.

A concrete illustration of this argument has been brought to our immediate attention. Recently the town of Albemarle voted school bonds in the amount of $50,000. Heretofore, counties and municipalities, and generally states, have been selling their bonds in New York and on other northern markets.

There are yet many money owners in Stanly who are failing to deposit their money in the banks. These should go at once and place their money where it will be safe, where it will draw interest, where it will benefit the local banks and where it will help the business world to conduct its affairs and make the country prosperous and wealthy.

WISE SELECTIONS.

In the appointment of Editor Wade H. Harris, of The Charlotte Observer, to the presidency of the North Carolina Railroad, and Archibald Johnson, Editor of Charity and Children, as secretary and treasurer, Gov. Morrison has made wise choices. Mr. Harris has had wide business experience, and the position he has held as editor of The Observer has been such as to develop him along the lines necessary for the efficient filling of this position.

The Salisbury Evening Post, commenting upon the appointment of Messrs. Harris and Johnson, has the following to say editorially:

"Wade Harris, President; Archibald Johnson, Secretary and Treasurer of the North Carolina Railroad, announces the governor, and it is an announcement that will prove acceptable to the great majority of the people of the state. Governor Morrison in naming his friend and political supporter, the Charlotte editor, did more than that, he gave place to a man who for many, many years has been doing valiant service in the state, one who has labored in and out of season for the advancement of the state, and for him to have a small place in the management of the state's affairs ought to be exceedingly pleasing to the people of the state. We know of no one who has rendered more helpful service to the state than Wade Harris, and it pleases us very much to see him secure a place of this character. What has been said of Mr. Harris can also be said of Mr. Johnson. Two fine North Carolinians were honored when Governor Morrison gave place to Wade Harris and Archibald Johnson.

OUR REAL STRENGTH.

Once more on considering a few figures, we find the question arising, where are we heading? With ninety-three cents out of every dollar of our Federal income going to feed the "War God," and seven cents to all other purposes, what may we expect? At this rate, can there be any question as to the ultimate result? It is not possible for our other industries to keep pace in growth and development with our military parts, and the results can only be this, a hedge of bayonets surrounding a poverty-stricken nation, wherein the food supply and other necessary items are such as to arouse from within a more dangerous foe than can come from without. No one will dispute that when the war closed, Germany was still capable of long and bloody resistance, but for her internal disturbances. Had the Kaiser won out and carried out his most merciless intentions toward his fallen foes, he could not have fastened on the Russians a more burdensome yoke than that they brought on themselves by internal disturbances. Could Mexico have been in worse shape the past ten years, even though under the control of the worst tyrant from without? National strength is not in armament. Give us a prosperous and happy people, and we will soon find burning in those contented breasts a love of home and country that will set at naught our military developments. The average man is generally a fair-minded fellow, and a very reasonable one also. Give him a home and a country that mean something, and you need not worry as to whether he will defend it or not; but give him poverty, oppression, burdensome taxes and a feeling of servitude, and he is worthless as a soldier, let his training and his arms be what they may.

It is announced that the Lancaster, S. C., cotton mills, which have been closed down since the first of June on account of a strike on the part of the operatives, will resume operations on July 18th. It is reported that the workers will return to their jobs under the same conditions which prevailed prior to the walk out. It is thought that work will be resumed in the Charlotte, Kannapolis and Concord mills, shortly, we learn indirectly, but not officially, that satisfactory terms are about to be reached whereby the strike may be settled.

CAROLINA WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS.

The 1921 season of the Springs opened on the 2nd of July with all indications of a very successful season.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brown of Concord came on Wednesday afternoon to spend awhile.

G. H. Schenck returned last week from a two weeks trip to New York having made the trip through the country with friends from Greensboro.

Mrs. R. A. Brown of Concord is spending awhile at the Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bivins of Albemarle were guests at the hotel Monday evening.

Miss Anna Schenck has returned home after a visit to various parts of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Leak Barnhardt and Mrs. W. Means of Salisbury spent Sunday at the Springs.

H. W. Calloway of Concord spent Saturday at the Springs.

R. A. Craver, of Winston-Salem has returned home after spending a few days at the Springs.

E. M. Schenck has returned to the Springs after a trip to New York, the New England States and other points.

Miss Katherine Webb and Mr. Walter Carver of Salisbury were guests at the Springs Saturday.

Miss Daisy Trexler, Clarence and Charlie Trexler are attending Summer School at Carolina.

R. J. Holmes, of Salisbury, has been a guest at the Springs.

Mrs. E. M. Schenck and two daughters have gone to Gastonia after a several weeks' visit to her mother, Mrs. J. E. Schenck.

E. L. Misenheimer and family of Albemarle, and J. L. Fisher of Salisbury were guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Misenheimer Sunday.

LOCUST NEWS.

The Township Sunday School Convention is supposed to be held at Providence Church on Saturday before the 4th Sunday of this month. It is to be hoped that all the churches and schools will rally to the work and gather and impart inspiration anew.

The Fourth seemed to be an unlucky day for many, not even those who stayed at home being out of danger.

Master Lee Treece, who underwent an operation in Charlotte was brought home last Friday and is doing well.

Mrs. R. W. Simpson is spending some time with relatives near Plyler.

One of the children of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Barbee was bitten by a black spider last Monday, but we were unable to get particulars as to the result.

One of the dogs of J. H. Hartsell, which had been bitten some time ago ran made last week and was killed by the owner. Mr. Hartsell refused to kill his dogs when bitten, keeping them up and hoping that no bad results would come from the bite, as he prized his dogs highly.

When Paul Treece put his hand under the barn to gather eggs a few days ago, he was bitten by a snake (supposedly.) He was rushed to Dr. Yow at once for treatment.

Ralph Smith and L. J. Little were each badly hurt in a wreck on the 4th on the road where so many others were injured. Little had his tongue badly cut and Smith's face had a number of cuts.

A spreading adder snake seemed intent on taking possession of Mary Belle Tucker's kitchen a few days ago when she found one entering through the window. She attempted to kill the intruder, and he disappeared, only to return again in a short time. She tried again to dispense with him but failed, as he went into hiding in some vines near the house.

MISENHEIMER NEWS.

Crops are looking fine around here considering the season that we have had.

The people of this section are about through threshing around here. The wheat crop is reported to be very small. Mr. William Canupp is very ill at this writing.

We have a few cases of mumps at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Bolton spent Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bolton.

Miss Hurlie Miller spent the week end with home folks in Kannapolis.

Mr. J. D. Johnson has gone to Danville, Va., on business.

Miss Ethel M. Chapin has been right sick for the past week, but is improving, we are glad to note.

Miss Annie Farrell left last Monday for Ocracoke, where she will spend two months with Miss Beatrice Williams.

Johannie Bolton and Krone Casper have been painting at the Mitchell Home for the past few days. They are going to have everything looking nice and up to date for the people when they come back to school.

The death angel knocked at the door of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hopkins and took away their precious baby last week.

There will be children's day at St. Paul's Sunday, the seventeenth. You are invited to come and bring your friends with you.
