NO PAPER NEXT WEEK. We shall omit our regular is a few days off, and since it has been number of years since we have taken this privilege, we feel that our subscribers will gladly grant to us this Christmas privilege.

To one and all of our readers and friends, we extend hearty wishes for a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

The active movements of Mr. Dun speculation as to the final plans of the promoters, and it is being asserted that the Rockefeller interests, which own various lines of the northwest, are behind the Norfolk Southern. It seems definite that the link between Troy and Concord by the way of Aibeing ie will be built, and that Charinthe was not only be included, but the road is to be extended beyond. Just now it looks as if the biggest railroad project ever known to the South is on foot, and no time is to be lost in its development.

A New London writer asks infor mation in regard to an alleged act of the last Legislature. A Republicar informant says a bill was passed "i tax all cotton buyers of a town $50." and that the object of the bill was to keep down competition and enable the mills to buy cheaper. There was to such bill passed by the Legislature as a close review of the public laws of the session of 1911 reveals. The story was evidently bred in the mino of some Republican whose desire to impose on the credulous mind of some voter outweighed any indication to ward telling the truth he may other wise have had. The fact that no such tax is being collected is the best evidence that there is no such law to this effect. The story deserves to be placein the class of campaign canards, and should deceive the mind of no one who

The way some of the Stanly Republicans and their "orgin" are chang. ing front in their views of Presides Taft leads one to think that the Fed eral pie counter has some prizes morimportant than individual views Some who are clamoring hard not for positions have said some verharsh things about the President President Taft, in his rugged honesty is too big a man for his party-i fact, for any party, as to that. He is not a partisan, and, consequently, no politician. While he has made mis taken, it is safe to predict that the opposition in his own party to him just now will amount to but little, and the national convention will renorm sate him. While our views are not it one with those of Mr. Taft's party. yet we are not blinded to a conscious admiration of our President, and his rigid adherence to a line of duty and truth as he sees it. Mr. Taft is a hip man, and, like Cleveland, will be loved most when memory of his administration blots out party prejudice and do the man justice.

Where legislators of the type i Congressman is supposed to be lose sight of their duty to the public generally and so far forget themselves as to make wild appropriations of public funds and where such appropriations are unneeded and uncalled f r, all for the sike of gaining political popularity, then it may be said the affairs of government can not safely be entrusted to such guardians nouncement on all hands of the pen-sion grab bill which passed the lower house of Congress last week, and which seeks to add $40,000,000 to the already overloaded pension appropriation. Eighty-four Democrats and eight Republicans opposed the measure, and these deserve to have their names recorded. For years, it has two parties to see which could give the old soldiers the greater amounts the old soldiers the greater amounts the could sold the greater amounts the could be considered to be considered to the could be consider from the public treasury. It is a form of bribery to obtain votes which deserves to be censured, and an unsafe serves to be censured, and an unsafe father. They have the best wishes should the best wishes of a host of friends. Should the bill pass the Senate it is to be haped that President Taft will use his right of veto. He is one President who seems to be trying to do his duty as he sees it, to enforce laws which statutes plainly provide.
