LOCALS.

TO OUR PATRONS.

With this issue we suspend the publication of the Weekly Record. Our suspension is due from two causes, viz: our bad health, and the lack of sufficient patronage. We have labored early and late to make the Record a success. We have failed for the reason, that our people did not give us a hearty support. We have published the paper at a loss, our receipts from the same not being sufficient to pay our compositors. If the proper inducements are offered us, we may commence the publication again, otherwise, not.

Warmer weather.

Rain! Rain! Rain!

The early peas are looking finely.

Fine frosts in the market this week.

It costs money to run a newspaper. If you don't believe it, just try it.

Plant plenty of garden truck, it will bring you ready money.

With this issue we bid our friends an affectionate adieu.

Heavy freshets and floods are predicted by the U. S. signal corps.

Our merchants are complaining bitterly of dull trade.

The schools, and the Record force, had a holiday on Washington's birthday.

The recent fine rains are just what the early pea crop wanted. The prospects are fine for a good crop.

The Fish and Oyster Fair to be held in New Bern next month will draw a large crowd from the surrounding counties.

Little Phil Sheridan says that he will not allow his name to be used as a candidate for the Presidency.

We are glad to see Dr. J. B. Davis out walking with his daughter on Wednesday. We hope to see him restored to perfect health soon.

It is rumored in Washington D. C. that all of the Republican light house keepers are to be beheaded. The first removals are to take place shortly.

Rev. Mr. Pearson is holding religious services in the Presbyterian church in New Bern. Give us an extra 25 cts. Mr. Bryan, so that we can go up to hear him.

Our job printing department will be kept open notwithstanding the suspension of our paper. Those in want of job work will please hand in their orders as heretofore.

We respectfully request all who are indebted to us to call at our office and settle with us. Don't wait for us to dun you, we need the money and need it now.

Married—February 6th, at Portsmouth, N. C., Mr. W. O. Williams, and Miss Lina Roberts, Rev. J. F. Cannon officiating. We join their many friends in wishing them many long years of prosperity.

The President and Mrs. Cleveland are in the South again. They were greeted with bouquets and cheers at Goldsboro. They will visit the Southern Exposition at Jacksonville Fla., before they return to Washington.

A special train will leave Morehead City on Thursday March 1st at 9 o'clock a. m., returning will leave New Bern at 10 o'clock p. m. Fare for the round trip 75 cents. This will be a fine opportunity to hear the Rev. R. G. Pearson the evangelist.

Mr. Wm. Mitchell of Connecticut, paid us a very pleasant visit on Wednesday. He informs us that he will engage in the fish business in eastern Carolina, and has an idea of putting on a steamboat to run in these waters.

There are to be many interesting features at the Craven County Fish, Oyster and Game Fair, which comes off on the 15th, 14th and 15th of March. A tournament, a great parade of one of the most efficient fire departments in the South, and a glass ball and clay pigeon shooting. Special low rates over railroad and steam boat lines in the State, and excursion fares from points North have been secured.

The schooner Melvin, Capt. Abbott, arrived on the 18th instant, from Prince Rupert, Borneo, twenty-eight days out with a load of fruit. The Melvin was bound to New Bern, came into this port in distress. The vessel passed Hatteras three times; crossed the gulf three and a half times; lost her three ribs off Charleson. Her main topmast is badly torn, her bowsprit and gaff are broken and her quarter rudder is split. The crew had no meat for twelve days they subsisted mainly on bananas. It was fortunate that the vessel did not strike a leak. Capt. Souhey Nelson of this place was mate on the vessel. Her cargo of fruit is in a damaged condition.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington D. C., Feb. 15, 1888.

Our lawmakers on Capitol Hill have interpolated their work this week with an immense amount of gossip and idleness. There has been some legislation of a local character, for the district of Columbia must have some attention once in a while, and there have been some interesting speeches made on the Blair Educational bill but beyond that Congressional proceedings are not worthy of mention.

Mr. Blaine's non-candidacy was talked over for a whole day in the cloak rooms and corridors of the Capitol, and was a matter of intense interest in the Senate wing where there are quite a number of aspirants for Presidential honors.

One reason alleged for the President's proposed trip to the land of flowers next week is that the National Democratic Committee meets here on the 22nd, and some of his friends have represented him that it might be better to be in the city at that time. It is not likely, however, that they do not appear that the President is in any way affecting the deliberations of the Committee. The trip will not consume more than a week. It will be made by special train, without any more stops than are necessary, and one day will be spent at Jacksonville and one at St. Augustine.

The Blair Educational bill is heading a vote in the Senate but it is not ready to pass. Before you receive this letter you will probably know its fate. Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, placed himself on record as opposed to the measure. One day this week. He characterized it as a bill to promote mendacity, and to entice beggars. He said it declared the failure of local self government in one of the Supreme interests of the people. It also falsely declared the bankruptcy of States, which, before our eyes, are rich and growing. It made an ineffectual, if not false, pretense of temporary action. He said it was not for eight years. It was the beginning of a new policy of a permanent new relation between the Federal Government and the States, which would never diminish, but whose influence would grow. Senator Hawley wished that every Senator would vote upon this bill just exactly as he felt about it, and not as being bound by resolutions of State Legislatures, or previous commitments, or anything of that sort. He was willing to see the bill defeated by any of the Constitutional means, whether by the House, by the Senate or by the President.

But the Senate will not go down to history as the slayer of the famous measure. While I was writing the above the Senate passed the bill by a vote of 39 to 29. This is the fullest vote that has ever been had on the Blair bill. It will be seen by a comparison of this vote with that of two years ago that the Blair bill has made no converts. Senators who voted against it before voted against it again this time. Several Senators—including Blackburn, Kenna, Spooner and Voorhees who voted for the bill two years ago voted against it this time.

In 1884 the vote was 33 to 11, 32 Senators refusing to vote, and in 1886 only two more voted. On this occasion only four Senators abstained from voting, which shows that opposition to the bill has almost tripled in the past two years. This increased opposition was a matter of considerable interest. The prediction by many now is that after having consumed much of the valuable time of the Congress, the bill will now go to the House again for defeat, or in case it should happen to struggle through that body alive, that it will be vetoed by the President.

Scarcely had he str over the Blair letter subsided at the Capitol when another interesting bit of political gossip came floating along. It was merely a rumor, but it gained rapid circulation. Briefly it was to the effect that Mr. Cleveland would write a letter similar to that given out by Mr. Blaine, and decline to allow his name to go before the Democratic nominating Convention, if the Democratic majority in Congress failed to redeem the pledges which the party had made to the country with regard to tariff legislation.

COMMUNICATED.

Ed. RECORD.—We are determined not to be behind in the March of progress, this is evidenced by the fact that there are fifty men at work building the Teachers Assembly and making additions to the Atlantic Hotel, the authorities are determined to have them in readiness for the summer season.

The whale and porpoise factory of Mess. Bell, Daniels and Watson are in full blast with thirty operatives in the various departments of the work. While the fish, oyster, and esclop market, is active and always to the front. When people come to this town they must be struck with the frequency of society meetings, entertainments, &c., there is one every night in the week but one.

The proposition for the encampment of the State Guards in this town during the coming summer, meet the approbation of all. An invitation should be extended to Guards of other States, it would do much towards building up other parts of the country an interest in Morehead City, which are now unknown. We understand that Jas. L. Menney, Captain of the "Old Tossail Riflemen," and John D. Davis, Captain of the "Flew Pecks," anticipate going with their respective companies in encampment with the State Guards, should their encampment be at this place, which should by all means be the case. D. M. F. Atwood should be requested to deliver the address of welcome. Col. H. C. Jones, of Charlotte, should be requested to deliver a lecture, giving the history of the State Guards and the practical use of the gun, and Col. A. M. Waddell, of Wilmington, should be invited to deliver his famous lecture on the capture of Fort Fisher, which he so eloquently did at Richmond, Va., last October. Two such lectures would be the crowning act of the season.

We have but little hope of the state Convention being held at this place. We learn that the politicians of Raleigh want it to meet there of course the Executive Committee will say Amen.

MAKE ME A SONG.

Out of the silence make me a song,
Beautiful, sad and soft and low;
Let the loveliest music sound along
And wing each note with wail of woe,
Dim and dear;
As love's last tear
Out of the silence make me a hymn
Whose sounds are shadows soft and dim.

Out of the stillness in your heart—
A thousand songs are sleeping there,
Make me but one, thou child of art,
The song of a hope in a last despair.
Dark and low,
A cheer of woe:
Out of the stillness, tone by tone,
Soft as a snowflake, wild as a moon
Out of the dark recesses flash me a song,
Brightly dark and da by bright,
Let it sweep as a love-star sweeps along
The mystical shadows of the night,
Sing it sweet,
Where nothing's drear, or drirk, or dim
And earth's sons melt into heaven's hymn.

—[Father Ryan.

The advantages of a reliable, safe and efficacious Family Medicine, is invaluable, and when such is found, the blessing is thus happily expressed.

I EXCLAIMED, "EUREKA."

I have been using Simmons Liver Regulator myself some five years or more, and my family also, and can testify from experience to its virtues. I never remember a medicine unless I know it to be good. In a minority of twenty-five years I have often felt the need of such a medicine and when I found it I exclaimed, "Eureka."—Rev. J. P. Harper, proprietor of the "Christian Visitor," Smithfield, N.
