Constantinople.
Within its girdling walls Constantinople rises, like Rome on its seven low hills, crowned by the splendors of mosques, whose gleaming cupolas and minarets, silhouetted against the blue sky, look down on the waters of the Bosphorus. A strange, incongruous huddle of palatial buildings and tumble-down hovels, of stately avenues, and silt-littered lanes, flanked by unblinking bazaars, through which the human tide streams and surges.

Charity.
How many things might be tolerated in peace and left to conscience, had we but charity, and were it not the chief stronghold of our hypocrisy to be ever judging one another.—John Milton.

where no snow.
Chester was slow in wit, but he appreciated the aptness of speech in one of his playmates, evidently, for when asked why he was anxious to be in Jack's company so much he replied, "Oh, everything he says has a kick to it."

WHEN THEY DROVE THE HUNS

No American Who Took Part in the Capture of Berzy Will Ever Forget the Thrill.

The fall of the plateau south of Soissons and the thrust across the Chateau-Thierry road sealed the fate of the great Marne salient. The lads of the Twenty-eighth infantry, First division, made this success possible by their grim tenacity in driving the Germans out of Berzy after being repeatedly repulsed in their brave efforts to take the place.

But, despite every effort, the grim walls of Berzy still loomed ahead beyond the shell-pocked strip of upland as the summer twilight faded from the sky. Through the night its guns, like those of a beleaguered fortress, continued to flame. In it stood at bay the last German garrison of that "plateau south of Soissons," with the whole western front of the Marne salient planned upon it, which had for so long held a black menace over Paris.

Now and then there is a man who conceals a timid heart behind a long, drooping mustache and the general appearance of a western sheriff of the days of Jesse James, but Gen. Beaumont B. Buck is not one of them. As the second hand of his watch marked 30 minutes past 8 and the barrage fell, General Buck stretched his long legs out in front of the first wave, advised his men in no mincing words to follow him and get the d—boches this time, and led off the streaming rush across the open.

They followed—who would not with such a leader? On and on they went toward the hot muzzles that flamed through the cracks of split walls and behind fallen masses of masonry, on past those muzzles, yelling, cursing, striking down with swinging blows those desperately resisting Germans behind; on by the massive quadrangle of buildings in the western edge of the village, past the ravished church and down the crooked main street until they pulled up where the road pitched down into the Crise valley and against the last eastern walls of the hamlet on which pattered bullets from the German nests clear beyond the valley.—Joseph Mills Hanson in the Home Sector.

That Troublesome Apostrophe.

The woman living next door to the schoolhouse was a splinter of uncertain age. And she seemed to put in most of her time watching the schoolhouse so that she could find some reason for complaints. Many had come and many had been settled in a way that had caused sorrow to the boys of the school. And this spring came a new one. During a ball game in the school yard several of the boys had occupied as their grand stand seats the roof of the lady-next-door's chicken house.

The principal was inclined to stand with the boys, so she made their punishment very light. They were to write a note of apology to the woman. The note was written and dispatched one morning. That afternoon brought a fiery splinter to the building. She said the note was insult added to outrage.

The principal took the note and read, "We, the boys of the N—school, offer our apology for sitting on the old hen's house during our ball game last Friday."

The boys said it was all the fault of a misplaced apostrophe. The teacher was wise.—Indianapolis News.

A Highbrow Boast.

Wearry Rhodes—Dat guy gives me a pain. Always trying to show de other feller up.

Dreary Dan—What's wrong now? Did he ditch ya?

Joseph Fisher; Alice Johnson; Rosa Fisher; and the heirs-at-law and all grantees of such heirs at-law, of Chas. H. Bell, Rosa Fisher, Joseph Fisher and Alice Johnson.

In the Superior Court Before the Clerk.

Notice of Service by Publication on parties named defendant, and parties and persons whose names are unknown.

The defendants above named, Joseph Fisher, Alice Johnson and Rosa Fisher, will take notice that an action or special proceeding as above entitled, has been commenced in the Superior Court of Carteret County, North Carolina, to sell certain lands and premises (being part of the northern half of lot no. 102, Old Town, Beaufort, N. C.) for division among the persons thereto entitled; and the said defendants will further take notice that they and each of them are and is required to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Carteret County, at Beaufort, in said County, on the 28th, day of June, 1920, and answer or demur, or otherwise plead, to the petitioner in said action or special proceeding, or the petitioner will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in said petition.

The heirs-at-law, children, descendants, and all grantees and persons claiming by, thru or under such, of Joseph Fisher, Alice Johnson, Rosa Fisher, and Chas. H. Bell and all persons interested in the estates of such of them as may be dead the names of such children, descendants, heirs at-law, grantees and persons being unknown to petitioner in this proceeding) will take notice that the Court orders them, and each of them to appear at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Carteret County, at Beaufort, N. C., on the 28th day of June 1920 and answer demur or otherwise plead to the said petition which has been filed as aforesaid and show cause if any they have or can why the relief demanded in the said petition shall not then be granted.

And said persons or parties, above named described or indicated and each of them will also take notice that the petitioner in said proceedings has filed a petition demanding the sale for division of the lands described in first paragraph of this notice and more fully described in said petition filed, said petition showing that an actual partition of the said lands is impracticable and that a sale thereof is advantageous to all persons interested or concerned therein, so that parties thereto entitled may have and hold the proceeds of such interest in severalty.

The parties or persons above named described or indicated will further take notice that a sale of said lands will be ordered on the return day of the process namely June 28th 1920, and the proceeds of said sale will be ordered to be distributed among the parties in interest as such interest shall be developed upon the hearing herein cited if no cause to the contrary shall be shown and appear as aforesaid.

This 21st day of May, 1920.

Clerk of the Superior Court of Carteret County. 6-24

What a Thing it is to be Fit!

To be not merely free from actual sickness, but to be well, abundantly well, exuberantly well—and to have the mental vim and stamina which go with physical robustness!

Wholesome food, regular habits, exercise—that is the way to keep fit.

Such health is out of the question for you as long as you are constipated. And laxative and cathartic pills only aggravate and confirm the constipation habit.

Nujol works on an entirely new principle.

Instead of forcing or irritating the system, it simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world. Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol Trade Mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger".
