SITES OF HISTORIC INTEREST

Many Places Around Dutch City of Doorn Should Be of Interest to the Kaiser.

Doorn, the little Dutch town now the home of the former emperor of Germany, is surrounded by sites that may give the former kaiser cause for reflection, says a bulletin of the National Geographic society. At Rhenen he might find an historical companion in misery. Friedrich of Pfalz, the exiled king of Bohemia, took refuge there. Perhaps the most noteworthy aspect of Rhenen is its tower, which bears the name of Kunera, after the daughter of the ruler of the Orkney Isles, who accompanied Ursula and her 11,000 virgins on a pilgrimage to Rome. Upon their return, according to the legend, now known to have been based on a misreading of a Latin text, the maidens were coming ashore to Cologne when Huns killed them all except Kunera. Later she leaped to her death from a castle parapet.

From the Moravian settlement of Zelst the former kaiser might learn of humility, virtue and genuine piety. Considerable property is held in common by the people. There widows, married women and girls are classified by their attire. At Maarshergen the Pyramid of Austerlitz was erected by Marmont's soldiers to commemorate the crowning of Napoleon. At Utrecht the treaty was signed which opened the way for Britain's present great commercial power, as it gave her Gibraltar and several colonies.

PURPLE DYE FROM SHELLFISH

Possibility That New Industry May Be Developed, Since the Supply is Inexhaustible.

On the Pacific coast of Costa Rica, especially in the region about Cocos bay, there abounds a kind of shellfish called the "nacascot" from which a fine purple color is obtained. So far no way has been found for preserving this dye, and the industry has remained in the hands of the few old people who take the trouble to dye a few ounces of thread every summer. The process is very simple. On picking up the shell from the beach or detaching it from a bowlder, the gatherer blows her breath into it, whereupon a few drops of a greenish liquor ooze out. This liquor is collected in a clamshell and after a sufficient quantity has been collected the thread is passed through it, soon after assuming, on exposure to the sunlight, a beautiful purple color, which is absolutely fast after it has turned purple. It is thought possible that the dye turns fast only on exposure to the air and that the liquor could be preserved by keeping the air from it. There is little doubt that this industry of dyeing thread could be extended to greater proportions if an extensive demand at good prices could be found for the dyestuff.

General Wood's First Battle.

When Geronimo, the last of the great Apache chieftains, began murdering American women and most hideously torturing American children in New Mexico and Arizona, Leonard Wood, then an army surgeon, exchanging his surgeon's scalpel for a rifle, became one of a famous little company which chased the monster over the sandy and burning plains of the Southwest and northern Mexico, and did not desert until the enemy surrendered. The reports of General Lawton and Miles witness to the healthy-minded zeal which Wood manifested toward the barbarians who wreaked their savagery on American women and children; and the fact that Wood received that greatest of all military distinctions for his efficient bravery in this campaign—the medal of congress—is testimony of the same kind. —Burton J. Hendrick in the World's Work.

Trunk Lines in the Air.

Long distance air transportation will soon be a commonplace. The successful trip from London to Australia recently completed has encouraged Great Britain to lay out a number of great air routes, connecting England by great trunk lines with its possessions. The service will be maintained at first by airships and later doubtless by airplanes. The first of these trunk lines will connect London with Canada by way of Newfoundland. Another line will operate between London and Egypt and will be extended to South Africa. The air lines will be backed by large government subsidies.—Boys' Life.

Trained Nurses Popular.

That trained nurses are being employed in increasing numbers shows that employers generally are recognizing their services. Previous to 1919, only 66 industrial firms employed trained nurses. Today more than 871 industries have nursing services. The industrial nurse has proved to be a good investment. She is a teacher of hygiene, and health education means prevention of accidents, which in years gone by have cost industry many thousands of dollars.

Once Thought to Be Worthless.

The shark is found to furnish about 11.9 per cent of hide, 31.3 of edible food, and 44.7 of fertilizer material, and a ten pound liver yielded three quarts of oil. The oil, fairly free from fishy odor, is well adapted for tanning and paints. The dried fertilizer material equals about 20 per cent of the total weight of the shark, and contains 18.3 per cent of nitrogen. The stomachs may be utilized for leather.

ENGLISH TERMS ARE ADOPTED

French Take Kindly to a Number of Expressions That They Learned During the War.

We all know what an army of French words has billeted itself permanently upon the English language. Not so many of us think of the interchange of prisoners, so to speak, between French and English, of the numerous English words naturalized in France. In sport, of course, this English contingent was to be expected. "Champion," "ring," "knockout," "coming man," "singles," "football," "touring club," "skating rink,"—long is the list of such English words in French. Even the French labor dialect has suffered some English infusions—"trade union," "lockout," "leaders." There is even the lovely verb "lockout-er." "Whisky" and "pale ale" and other exported names of sin most meetly remain unmentionable here.

The war has introduced "boy scouts," hardly to be recognized in its French pronunciation, "scouts." "Tanks" and "nurses" are familiar words in contemporary French. At a theater or railroad office you are almost as likely to get a "ticket" as a "billet." "On the golf links," wrote an English collector of French Anglicisms last year, "one may hear 'J'ai droppe une balie,' instead of the clumsy 'laisse tomber.'" "Lavatory" has suffered a sea change. In Paris it means a barber shop where you can get a shampoo.

Powerful Subs.

The submarines of the English "K" class are said to be the fastest and most powerful, submersible craft in the world. They are propelled on the surface by steam turbines at a speed of 24 knots, which is about eight knots faster than the speed of ordinary submarines. They are 340 feet long, and displace 2,570 tons. These boats have unusually long periscopes, measuring 30 feet from top to bottom. Their funnels are made to hinge back before the boat dives.

Lucky Bird.

"I would I were a bird," sighed the mere man. "Just think of coming back to last year's nest without having the nest raised."

Wonderful Shakespeare.

Among the English authors, Shakespeare has incomparably excelled all others. That noble extravagance of fancy, which he had in so great perfection, thoroughly qualified him to touch the weak, superstitious part of his readers' imagination and made him capable of succeeding where he had nothing to support him besides the strength of his own genius.—Addison.

Only Partly Afraid.

Robert is quite afraid of a neighbor's dog. Recently he was so absorbed with his playing that he failed to notice the approach of Tige until he was at the child's heels. The boy gave a scream, and when untie hurried to his rescue he tried to be brave and tremblingly exclaimed: "I isn't afraid on the inside where my heart is, it's just my legs that are afraid."
