Entered as second-class matter February 5, 1912 at the postoffice in Beaufort North Carolina under the act of March 3, 1879

And so the victim's name is Cox.

The proposed joint discussion between Messrs Gardner and Morrison was abandoned after Governor Bickett and other leading Democrats had entered their frantic protests, but this desire for Democratic harmony did not deter the Governor from firing a broadside at Chief Justice Clark also a Democrat.

In writing of taxation matters Judge Clark was treading upon the Governor's toes and it was most too much to expect the Chief Executive to remain calm under these circumstances. It is always easier to tell others how to behave than to do it one's self.

It is natural that Democratic politicians should be resentful of Judge Clark's criticism of their taxation methods. This a campaign year and the said politicians are not feeling any too good anyway. The League of Nations Wm. Jennings Bryan, re-valuation, prohibition and the hot weather are getting on their nerves. Starting a row here at home in their ranks therefore is a little more than they can stand.

It was probably well enough that the Morrison-Gardner debates did not occur. It would have afforded Republicans considerable amusement to be sure, but they can go to a picture show and see Charlie Chaplin which as an entertainment is just as funny and tally as elevating.

Judge W. P. Stacy who is a candidate for the Supreme Court was one of those who put the Fish Commission act through the legislature. His Democratic friends here will have some difficulty in explaining this to the voters if he should be nominated.

Which is the worse offence, for two candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor to engage in a joint debate or the Governor of the State and the Chief Justice to have newspaper controversy?

According to the census of 1910 there were 461 white men in Carteret county who could not read or write. They are probably in that condition yet.
It is useless to talk about why these men are illiterate but it is very important that their blinded eyes should be opened.

Moonlight schools, as they are called, in various parts of North Carolina have removed the stigma of illiteracy from many grown people. Such schools should be conducted in Carteret county until every person in it can read and write.

Bogue Sound watermelons will be arriving in a few days and then our cup of joy will be full, not to mention our anatomy.

Next November will show what a Southern Democratic prohibitionist is willing to swallow.

The Machine Wins Out

The nomination of Cameron Morrison for Governor of North Carolina is a distinct victory for the Democratic machine.
Morrison did not enter the fight until late in fact he, was not seriously considered until after the Democratic convention held in Raleigh not many weeks ago.

His victory over Messrs Page and Gardner therefore would be remarkable but for the fact that the all powerful machine was behind him.

After the Big Boss had given his approval of Morrison's candidacy all the office-holders, ex-office holders and would be office holders got busy and proceeded to put Morrison over the line. Of the three candidates Page was probably the best, Gardner the second best and Morrison the worst. He is a man of no great ability, has never distinguished himself in any way except by having made a large number of virulent speeches in that stormy period as she "red shirt" campaign. He is a demagogue and is not fit to be Governor of North Carolina. The Democratic machine may elect him but if they do they need not be proud of the job.

WOULD BREAK SOLID SOUTH

Extracts From Speech Of John J. Parker

"The great problems of Amercan life", said he, "are being fought out in the arena of national politics but the South is practically without a voice in the solution of these problems. Both parties ignore the south. The Republican party thinks that nothing is to be gained by consulting the wishes of states which are hide-bound in political prejudice. The Democratic party thinks it can count on the support of South whatever its platform or whoever its nominee and it drafts its platform and names its candidate to please the Democratic party in those states where Democrats are more independent.

"I am proud of the fact that I am a southerner. I am proud of the men and women who in antebellum days made the name of the south a synonym of chivalry and honor. For more than a century my ancestors have lived in North Carolina and my grandfather fell fighting for the Confederacy at Chancellorsville.
Every tie of affection and gratitude binds me to the southland.
But to me and to every other thinking man of the south what Judge Carter calls political serfdom is a source of shame and regret.

"The conditions which gave rise to the political situation no longer exist. It was reconstruction, the great mistake of Thaddeus Stevens, which drove many of the white men of the south into the support of a party in which they did not believe and fastened upon us the curse of the one party system. That curse has rested upon the life of the south like a blight. Not only has it deprived us of all voice in party councils, but it has also caused local politics to degenerate into a petty personal squabble for office. Deprived of means of properly expressing their convictions, chained to a national party which stultified their intelligence, the great men of the South in too many instances have given their lives entirely to private business and have left the noble of statesmanship to men of lesser breed. This is another reason why the voice of the South counts for so little in the nation.

"But the reason for the Solid South no longer exists. Reconstructions is a thing of the past.
The race issue has been eliminated from politics. The men of the south can and ought to give their best thought to solving the problems of the nation. This year the Republican party has taken up the gage of battle in defence of the civilization and the constitutional government in which the people of North Carolina believe. North Carolina owes it to herself and to the nation to give her electoral vote to the Republican party in this election."

TO THINKING PEOPLE

Did you ever stop to think that whenever a professional man was compelled to go away from his home searching up patronage, that perhaps he had lost the confidence of his home people and if they would not patronize him—WHY?

In the first place scientific eye examinations are made with fragile instruments that are not lugged from town to town.

Take notice that these traveling spectacle men have a small case full of glasses, and merely keep trying them until you tell them with which you see clearest.

DO YOU IMAGINE IT TAKES MUCH SKILL TO DO THAT
