the act of March 3, 1879

Last year North Carolina stood fourth in the Union in the value of its agricultural products. Unfortunately it was no where near that figure in the matter of public education.

Governor Bickett was very fearful that the proposed debate between Messrs. Morrison and Gardner might hurt the Democratic party. It looks as if the controversy he started with Judge Clark might also do a little harm to the sacred party. Maybe though he does not value his and Judge Clark's efforts so highly as he did those of the gubernatorial candidates.

As a matter of fact stock in the Building and Loan Association is a good investment but even if it were not, every citizen here ought to be a stockholder. This organization has already helped Beaufort and every citizen of the right sort ought to do what he can to help a thing that he knows is a benefit to his town.

A meeting is to be held in Raleigh on August the 16th which ought to be of interest to almost every body. This is a good roads meeting and its object is to get the General Assembly to pass a law looking to the building of a State system of highways in North Carolina. These proposed roads are to be built by the State and kept up by the State. The scheme we think is meritorious and deserves careful consideration.

The successful construction of an all metal aeroplane seems to foretell a revolution in aviation. This type of machine, which was invented by a German, Hugo Junker, has also been built in this country and given a thorough test. A trip in this sort of machine from Omaha to Philadelphia was made, a distance of 1200 miles, carrying several passengers at a speed of more than one hundred miles an hour. This is the longest continuous flight ever made in this country.

A Business President

If Senator Harding should be elected President as he probably will be, he will be the first newspaper man and the first real business man to hold that office. Most of the twenty seven presidents have been lawyers, soldiers or planters. George Washington was a civil engineer, a planter and a soldier.

When a very young man less than twenty one, Senator Harding with the help of his father bought a little run down newspaper in the small town of Marion Ohio. He helped set type, run the press, solicit ads, collect subscriptions, edit the paper and do all the many jobs that the publisher of a small town newspaper does.

By his energy and intelligence Mr. Harding developed that little one horse newspaper into a modern daily paper that carries the news of the world and is a power in the territory where it circulates. His little plant of the early days has been succeeded by a modern establishment that possesses eight type setting machines, a fine press, and other equipment, a three story building and employs fifty people.

Besides developing a newspaper and taking an interest in other business in his community Senator Harding has always found time to study the political questions of the day and to take part in political activities. He has filled the offices of State Senator, Lieutenant-governor and United States Senator. He is a forceful writer and an eloquent speaker. He is a member of the principal Baptist church of Marion and for many years has been a trustee of that institution. Mr. Harding has always been deeply interested in the affairs of his town and state and has been an important factor in their development. Marion has grown since Mr. Harding's early newspaper days from a town of few thousand to a bustling little city of 30,000 inhabitants. He bore a conspicuous part in that growth.

Senator Harding will carry with him into the office of President the common sense of a successful business man, the convictions of a student of political problems, the charm of an orator and the patriotism of a sincere American. He is no super man, for which we should all give thanks. He is though a high class American citizen whose ability and character are a credit to him, his party and his country.

Tortoise Shell.
The best of tortoise shell will get dull in time, but a good jeweler always knows how to bring back the pristine luster. Combs, barettes and pins that have become clouded and dingy—real tortoise shell, of course—will come back from a jeweler who understands his business looking as good as new. To brighten the imitation shell hair fixings wash them first with a little tepid water and then polish with a bit of chamomile dipped in olive oil.

WARM DEBATE ON IRISH QUESTION

BRYAN FORCES ARE DEFEATED IN TEMPORARY BATTLE IN PLATFORM COMMITTEE

BOTH WETS AND DRYERS ARGUE

Anti-Saloon League Paid Bryan for "Only Four Months" of Service in Behalf of Prohibition

San Francisco.—Open warfare over prohibition, the Irish question, and other troublesome issues of the Democratic platform began today in a storm swept committee hearing while in private the leaders continued their negotiations for a settlement to keep the hostilities from spreading later to the floor of the convention itself.

A momentary defeat was administered the Bryan dry legions in the full platform committee when a preliminary battle for position on the speaker's list was decided in favor of the wets by a vote of 27 to 25. When the drys were forced to go ahead, Mr Bryan took charge of the time allotted to that side, but divided all of it among other speakers representing the Anti-Saloon League, church associations and other prohibition organizations.

For the wets, W. Bourke Cockran, of New York, was the chief spokesman during a debate in which Mr. Bryan was called upon to explain his connections with the Anti-Saloon League. He denied that he ever had received compensation from the league, except for "four months of last year, for certain public speeches."

The issue was argued in such a hot fashion that the crowded committee room was in almost constant uproar. Opponents of the proposal for recognition of the Irish republic were kept under a hail of heckling and derision from Irish sympathizers.

Diamonds and Banking

Buying a Diamond is a transaction just like banking. You wouldn't walk into a bank and deposit all your savings - without first knowing something about your banker. And when you buy a diamond - find out something about your jeweler.

What assurance have you that he really knows diamonds? Know something of his reputation and his guarantee and then know what stands back of his guarantee.

Here, back of our guarantee stand seventy three years of constructive merchandising - a reputation of honesty and fair dealing earned thru over a quarter of a century of Diamond merchandising.
