DAIRY FACTS

COWS NOW HEAD PROCESSION

At Top of List of Farm Animals So Far as Value is Concerned—Quality is Improving.

The expansion which has been taking place steadily in the dairy industry of this country during the last seven years has at last put milk cows at the head of the list of farm animals so far as value is concerned. This is shown by a recent report by the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture. The value of these animals now exceeds that of horses and cattle other than milk cows, the two classes formerly standing higher on the list. On January 1 of this year there were approximately 23,747,000 milk cows in this country, an increase of 272,000 head, or 1.2 per cent, as compared with a year ago.

Head of Jersey—Milk Cows Now Lead All Other Farm Animals in Value.

Their aggregate value is placed at $2,021,681,000.

Ten years ago the average milk cow was worth $35.29, compared with $78.20 a year ago and $85.13 January 1, 1920. It is generally recognized that the quality of the milk cows of this country is improving at the same time that their number is increasing.

The class of cattle, consisting of calves, steers, bulls and cows, not kept for milk production and designated as "other cattle," shows a decrease of 700,000 head, or 1.6 per cent. Ten years ago the average value per head of animals in this class was $19.07, a year ago it was $44.22, and $43.14 this year. The number of "other cattle" in the country at the present time is approximately 44,385,000, and their value $1,914,575,000.

DRY CORN FODDER AS SILAGE

Cattle Like It and Do Well on It, but It is Not as Good as That From Green Corn.

In reply to numerous inquiries on the feeding value of dry corn fodder in comparison with the fodder used as silage, H. H. Kildee, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of Iowa State college, says that the fodder put into the silo makes better feed than the dry fodder.

Many of the farmers have followed the practice of filling their silos with dry fodder after the silo has been emptied or nearly so. In almost every case the fodder will need the addition of considerable water to make good silage. The water may be put in the fan-box of the ensilage cutter. Many farmers, however, pump the water directly into the silo.

Silage made in this manner is not so good as that made from green corn. Cattle like it and do well on it. It is reported that last year farmers filled their silos as many as three times with dry fodder. The fodder was cut at the same time as the corn for ordinary silage and was left standing in the field until needed.

AVOID DIRECT HEAT OF SUN

Proper Care of Cans Must Be Taken in Transferring Milk to Station for Shipment.

In taking the cans of milk to the station for shipment, care should be exercised to see that they are covered with blankets in order to keep off the direct heat of the sun. Dairy supply houses handle special blankets for covering cans which it is highly desirable to use where milk is shipped for any distance and refrigerator cars are not supplied.

DAIRY NOTES

Keep the cows in clean quarters. The profitable marketing of dairy products is very important.

Grass by itself is not considered a balanced ration for the milk cow.

The smaller the opening into which the milk goes the less the danger of dirt.

The general farmer is finding that the dairy cow is a valuable asset in his farming operations.

Stanley is one of a large family. Besides numerous sisters and brothers, there are aunts and uncles galore and many cousins. The only young people, however, are those in his immediate neighborhood. At Thanksgiving dinner Stanley gazed solemnly around the table for a while and then announced gravely: "My mother and the cat seem to be the only people in this whole family that bats any eyes."

Ways to Clean Books.
Spinning of books, most family libraries are disgraced by one or two once-lovely volumes in unpractical shades of pale silk or white leather, long since dimmed by grime. Art gum or a soft kneaded eraser may clean them. If not, try fine powdered pumice lightly applied with a clean chamois. This is what picture dealers use to clean the margins of old prints. It mottles the surface less than rubber.

Would Please Him.
Lindsay had the little hen fast and was trying to bring her head close to the ground. "What might you be trying to do?" exclaimed her father coming upon the small girl in the yard. "She trying to make this hen say her prayers." "Well," said the parent sadly, "I hope she'll say: 'Now I lay me'."

In Praise of Books.
Books let us into the souls of men and lay open to us the secrets of our own. They are the first and last, the most home-felt, the most heart-felt of all our enjoyments.—William Hazlitt.

Succinct Information.
Friends of ours have a family of three children, Elizabeth and twins James and Joseph. The twins resemble each other so much that it is hard to distinguish them. One day while the children were playing in the yard a neighbor asked Elizabeth which of the boys was James. She very promptly received the reply that James was the one standing next to Joseph.—Exchange.
