Mr. Cox says he "thinks God that he is free and unfettered".
Maybe so. Chas. Murphy, Geo.
Brennan and their cohorts probably have a different idea about the matter though.

The Durham Sun has been publishing some very strong political editorials of late. This newspaper is the strongest acquisition that the Republican party in North Carolina has made to its ranks in some time.

Never in the history of the country perhaps has there been such a flood of worthless stocks stock poured over the land. Oil wells, mining enterprise and sometimes local undertakings that have no merit in them are trying to get money of the foolish investor. When one considers how many opportunities there are to buy good bonds, building and loan, bank stock and land, it looks like nobody but a fool would throw away his money on speculative stock.

The effect on the political parties of the granting of suffrage to women is somewhat problematical. The general opinion seems to be that the women will vote about like their men folks. If this hypothesis be correct then Harding will be elected by an enormous majority.
The Southern states will give larger Democratic majorities than usual and Carteret county will go Republican by a big majority.

The most important matter that is now claiming the attention of the people of this county at present is that of politics. An election is near at hand and officials who will look after the business of the country for several years to come are to be chosen. This matter of selecting public officials is or should be one of the greatest interest to all citizens, because all of us will be more or less affected by the outcome.

For a little over two months to come the columns of this newspaper will carry a good deal of political matter. Some of our readers may think it useless and perhaps improper to reflect so much politics upon them. Our opinion is that the importance of the election justifies us in making a liberal use of our columns in this way. To those who do not agree with us we would say "Have patience it will be worth it."

Politics In The South

The Southern States have for many years been handicapped by the fact that they have lived under the "spoils" system of government. On political organization controlled by a "boss" has been the cause of the backwardness of the South. It is the task of the people of the South to get rid of this spoils system and to establish a government which is responsible to the people. This system of government while it may have done some good in the past, it has done more harm than good.
It has kept the South in a state of backwardness and has prevented the people from getting on with their work.
It is time that the people of the South should get rid of this spoils system and establish a government which is responsible to the people.

comment when there is no such thing and under cover of a political name to allow an oligarchy to rule the country in a false and unpopular manner.

Any one who thinks that the people of the Southern States are running their political affairs ought to study the election returns. With the exception of North Carolina and Tennessee where a strong minority party brings out the vote, the voting at the regular election in the South is a mere farce. In such states as South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Texas not one fourth of the adult males go to the polls. It is obvious that there can be no real government of the people by the people for the people when the people do not vote.
If the important matter of choosing law makers and those who administer the laws is handed over to a group of self constituted leaders there can be no real popular government.

In the great area south of the Potomac and reaching to the Rio Grande there is in need of a political awakening. The masses of the people should give some intelligent study to political matters. Politics are not to be dismissed with a sneer or a wave of the hand. The Government of the people is or should be, one of its chief concerns. All citizens should give political matters their careful attention and when voting time comes should vote without fear or prejudice, their honest convictions.

WORTH FELTS IN DEMAND

Worth felts are in demand because they are so warm and comfortable during the coming winter months.

In recent years several trials of the durability of a little value as to offer an inducement to the trader, have increased in price, and consequently collecting them has been quite profitable.

Worth felts, which are extensively used by hat makers, are among these products. Formerly rabbit skins were of virtually no value, country boys who eagerly sought the hair of the skunk and the muskrat and who were even able to sell squirrel skins, thought as little of the rabbit and made as little effort to dispose of the skins that they were seldom used except to form a pad on which they "knocked down" in the marble game.

Now, however, rabbit skins are worth something and the country boy who will devote this winter to saving and marketing the skins of the rabbits he kills should make a comfortable sum of money.

One big eastern firm has announced that it will need 10,000,000 rabbit skins.
The skins are usually sold by the dozen, which will contain seven or eight skins.

Best Harts Slipped Him.
The man who knew Best Harts was discovered in the lobby the other morning.

"I was a devil in the shop where the Overland Monthly was printed," he began, after being identified as James E. Barry, editor of the Star, San Francisco's only Democratic paper. "Best Harts was employed in the unit. He sent over the manuscript of 'The Luck of Boating Camp' and they finally decided to print it despite the objection of a sensitive lady proofreader. Somehow the proofs had to be pulled in a hurry, and the only ink available at the moment was blue. I carried the blue proofs over to Harts. He said:
'What the hell is this blue ink for?
I can't read it. Haven't they got any black?'"

"I was too scared to make any explanation and I got the usual reprimand administered to printers' devils in those days. Harts reached over and stopped my feet. I always hated him after that."—8th and New York

Found a 10-Pound Nugget

A nugget of almost pure gold, weighing 12 pounds, was recently discovered near the Chertown Tower mine in Queensland, Australia. For years the Towers of Queensland, which up to the present has been a barren tract, too poor and rocky for mining, has yielded a peculiar position among Australian gold fields. Lenses are worked at a depth of nearly half a mile. This particular find is worth $4,000. A 10-pound nugget is no record; but in most respects all is not gold that glitters; a 10-pounder of "almost pure gold" is rare. The world's record nugget came from California in 1855—3217 ounces worth $1,000.

As It Seemed to Her

Dorothy was taken to see the doctor. She was very much interested in everything, especially the accretions.
On returning home she was excitedly giving an account of what she had seen, ending up with: "And there were some people flyin' in the air with their bathin' suits on."

Diamonds and Banking

Buying a Diamond is a transaction just like banking. You wouldn't walk into a bank and deposit all your savings - without first knowing something about your banker. And when you buy a diamond - find out something about your jeweler.

What assurance have you that he really knows diamonds? Know something of his reputation and his guarantee and then know what stands back of his guarantee.

A reputation of honesty and fair dealing earned thru over a quarter of a century of Diamond merchandising.
