THE ARDENT WOOLERS

There are 32 Legislatures in which the Republican party is in power. There are 16 in which the Democratic party is in power.

Twenty-nine Republican Legislatures have ratified the Federal Suffrage Amendment. Six Democratic Legislatures have ratified.

It is the 36th state that counts. The party that will have the final claim on the woman vote in November is the party that brings in the 36th state and thus makes ratification operative in the other 35.

THE CASE FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

"Woman suffrage is vital to the right solution of the great problems which we must settle and settle immediately. We shall need women in our vision of affairs as we never have needed them before; the sympathy, the insight and clear moral instinct of the women of the world.

"We shall need their moral sense to preserve what is right and fine and worthy in our system of life as well as to discover just what it is that ought to be purified and reformed. With us their counselings we shall be only half wise."—Woodrow Wilson.

Many persons do not know that the sweet and fragrant essence resides in minute cells, close to the surface of the fruit, and that by slicing it thin they will cut through these innumerable cells and thus obtain double the quantity of the essential oil that could be procured by anyone careless of this fact. The cells being cut through, it follows that a great part of the oil remains on the white of the lemon. This is easily abstracted by rubbing a lump of sugar over it.

Wonderful Scales.
What is claimed to be the smallest balance of precision used for important work is that of the United States bureau of standards, a little more than a foot tall in its glass case. It takes loads up to two grams, and is accurate to one-thousandth of a milligram, or about 0.0001 of a gram. It will weigh the ink of a signature. The case is dust-proof, and is devoid of influence of the weigher's body heat the weights on the scale may be manipulated by a long rod from another room.

STRIPED BEETLE QUITE HARMFUL

Insect Transmits Bacterial Wilt to Cucumbers, Squashes and Other Plants.

SPRAYING IS RECOMMENDED

Insects Prefer Unsprayed Plants as Food and Efficiency of Control Would Be Enhanced by Use of Early Trap Crop.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Infection with the bacterial wilt of cucurbits does not occur through soil or seed. The striped cucumber beetle and the 12-spotted cucumber beetle are both summer carriers, and probably the only means of summer transmission of the disease in the localities that have been studied. Introduction of virulent bacteria into the interior plant tissues is necessary for infection. These points are given in a recent United States department of agriculture publication detailing the results of studies on the disease, which occurs in 31 states, including the territory from Vermont and Canada to Florida and west to Minnesota, Nebraska, Colorado and Texas. The disease also probably occurs in parts of California. Of the common domestic cucurbits the disease affects cucumbers, cantaloupes, summer and winter squashes and pumpkins, but not watermelons.

Use Bordeaux Mixture. Spraying with strong bordeaux mixture and lead arsenate paste (4-5-50 plus 2) is recommended where the disease is likely to be severe. Treatments should begin as soon as the cucumber plants develop their first true leaves and should continue at intervals of about a week until the cucumber beetles practically disappear from the field. In localities where downy mildew is also prevalent the treatments should be continued later as a partial insurance against this disease. The beetles prefer unsprayed plants as food, and undoubtedly the efficiency of wilt control would be enhanced if a slightly earlier trap crop, such as squash, were planted along the edges of the cucumber field. The beetles could be easily poisoned there with a strong insecticide.

Pulling of wilted vines during the first part of the season, or as long as it can be done without mechanically injuring the healthy plants, will greatly assist in controlling bacterial wilt if consistently done in all neighboring fields. The diseased vines should be buried, or otherwise removed from access by the beetles.

Where a few plants only are grown, in garden plots, screening the hills with fine mosquito netting will prevent the appearance of the disease.

Control in Greenhouses.
For control in greenhouses the beetles, in the first place, should be kept out. Do not grow cucurbits nor pile cucumber refuse in the immediate vicinity of greenhouses, as this attracts the beetles and many will later find their way into the houses. If the beetles once gain entrance to a house filled with growing plants hand picking is the only remedy to be recommended until some fumigant is found that will kill the beetles without injuring the cucumber plants. Besides destroying the cucumber beetles, great care must be exercised in disinfecting all instruments used in pruning wilted vines before using them again on healthy plants. This may easily be done with a bottle of 1 to 1,000 mercuric chlorid and a sponge.

MULCH IS NOT APPRECIATED

Practice Has Long Been Recognized as Important Factor in Successful Fruit Culture.

Although mulching has long been recognized as an important factor in successful small fruit culture, the value of summer mulching in the vegetable garden is not yet appreciated by most home-acre gardeners, and it is not practiced by them as generally as it deserves to be.

INJURIOUS TO CROWD SWINE

Far Better Plan to Order Additional Car Than to Pack Too Many in One Compartment.

Losses of hogs in the past have proven that it does not pay to try to crowd a few extra in the car. It would be far more economical to order an additional car, the freight rate being no larger than the loss that may be entailed by the overcrowding.

Early Insurance Company.

This insurance originated in its modern form immediately after the great fire in London in 1666. In 1696 the "Hand-in-Hand"—probably the oldest fire insurance company in the world and certainly the oldest in Great Britain—was established on the mutual principle.
