

Sunday Night Radio Concerts BY WORLDS GREATEST ARTISTS Arranged For This Winter

Following an announcement recently by A. Atwater Kent, Philadelphia radio manufacturer that the world's greatest opera and concert artists broadcast programmes on successive Sunday nights, beginning October 4, and ending May 1, the project has received the indorsement of educators and music lovers throughout many sections of the country.

Dr. John J. Taggart, U. S. Commissioner of Education, in a statement given out by him from Washington yesterday, said that the broadcasting of concerts by eminent artists will add another important milestone to radio development.

Educational Value Praised

"The plan to introduce operatic stars to the public through radio is excellent," said Dr. Taggart. "It will be of great educational value to radio audiences and will stimulate interest in American music. This will do much to increase this country's contribution to the surplus music."

Mrs. Arthur T. Watkins, executive secretary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers' is another leader who heartily approves the proposed plan to bring the voices of great singers and musicians to the homes of millions of persons.

"I am sure that many persons who have failed to make the most out of radio programmes in the past will now listen in more frequently," said Mrs. Watkins. "Personally, it is my belief that radio broadcasting will be placed on a much higher plane, musically, than has been the case in the past."

25 Leading Singers Engaged

Twenty-five of the world's leading opera singers and other musical stars already have signed contracts to entertain radio fans throughout the coming season, according to Mr. Kent subject to the approval of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Victor Talking Machine Company and the Brunswick Talking Machine, sixteen other artists have signified their willingness to sign up.

The artists already engaged and definitely announced for the series of concerts are: Louise Homer, contralto; Edward Johnson, tenor; Mabel Garrison, soprano; Reinald Werrenrath, baritone; Marie Kurenko, coloratura soprano; Salvatore de Stefanso, harpist; Alexander Brailowsky, pianist; Leo Luboshutz; Chas. Hackett, tenor; Florence Austral, soprano; Albert Spaulding, violinist; Benno Moiselwitsch, pianist; Toscha Seidel, violinist; Felix Salmond, cellist; Vincente Ballester, baritone; John Powell, Pianist; Eva Gauthier, soprano; Anna Case, soprano; Frieda Hempel, coloratura soprano; Paul Altouse, tenor; Arthur Middleton, baritone; May Peterson, soprano; Paul Kochanski, violinist; Mischa Levitski, pianist, and Hulda Lashanska, soprano.

Broadcasting to Be Extended

Broadcasting of these concerts will be extended with stations throughout the country which ask permission to join in on the programmes. It is also possible that later on we shall arrange for the artists to broadcast directly from stations in different sections of the country.

The concerts will begin at 9:15 P. M., Eastern Standard Time. The third concert will be by Louise Homer Sunday October 18th, they will be broadcast through WEAF and other stations to be announced later. The artists have expressed enthusiasm regarding the project, many of them believing that one opportunity of singing and playing directly into the homes of the American public will afford them greater interest in their work.

The Better Buick is a Man-sized Motor Car

People appreciate a smart-driving, easily-handled, but full-sized, man-sized car. The Better Buick for instance.

Each Buick model seats its capacity of full-grown people—in relaxed ease—without cramped legs or necks. Tall people, especially, enjoy its extra head-room and leg-room.

American men and women are above the average stature. And a smaller car than Buick is apt to be tight-fitting, low-ceilinged, crowded!

Drop in and try the ample, arm-chair comfort of a car that is right in size. Bring some of your six-footer friends. You will find another big reason why Buick is so widely considered a better motor car—another reason why there are a million and more enthusiastic Buick owners.

Or telephone, and we will send a Better Buick to your home or office for you to try.
