

em of Poetic Fancy Is "America's Making"

This interpretation of the United States, titled "America's Making," was written some years ago by Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of the Temple, Cleveland. It has been widely copied and noted.

"God built him a continent of glory and filled it with treasures untold; He studied it with sweet flowing fountains and traced it with long finding streams;

"He carpeted it with soft rolling prairies and columned it with thundering mountains;

"He graced it with deep-shadowed forests and filled them with song. "Then he called unto a thousand peoples and summoned the bravest among them,

"They came from the ends of the earth, each bearing a gift and a hope, "The glow of adventure was in their eyes, and in their hearts the glory of the new world.

"And out of the bounty of earth and the labor of men;

"Out of the longing of hearts and the prayer of souls;

"Out of the memory of ages and the hopes of the world,

"God fashioned a nation in love, blessed it with purpose sublime, and called it America."

Gould Credited With French-Fried Potatoes

Like all others who take delight in a platter of crisp, hot French fried potatoes, I always supposed this particular way of preparing them was originated by some eminent French chef in the distant long ago, until along came one of those fellows who are always digging into history and finding things to shatter our pet illusions.

According to his version, the French fried potato originated not in France but in New York. One day, so the story goes, Jay Gould dropped into Delmonico's restaurant in that city and said: "I want potatoes quartered and fried in deep fat." The desire to imitate the doings of a Gould probably caused the use of potatoes fried in this way to assume the proportions of a fad, although, unlike many other fads, this one survived. For years these were known simply as quartered potatoes. Then Delmonico took to slicing them thinner and called them by the name under which they are now known throughout the country.

Whatever may be said of Jay Gould as a financier and railroad builder, all lovers of French fried potatoes are under lasting obligations to this forceful American.—Louis Globe-Democrat.

Early Tax Exemptions

Cows were exempt from taxation in Ohio under the act of February 3, 1825. That act was the first provision for general property taxation and there were many exemptions, certain kinds of property being regarded as important in a new settlement. However, the cow exemption covered only one cow in the name of any one owner. The exemption was to encourage every householder to have a cow. Among other forms of property exempted were factories producing nails, leather, glass, salt, cotton or woolen goods, grist and saw mills, paper mills and distilleries. Whisky seems to have been looked upon then as an indispensable product. To encourage purchase of lands in the state by settlers, the act provided that such lands should be free from taxation for five years after the purchase.—Detroit News.

Excuse Not All Bad

When I make an excuse for myself—and goodness knows I have made many of them—I always feel somewhat guilty. Yet I am not sure that the excuse habit is entirely without its good side. It evidences at least a disposition to make matters appear better than they really are, and this, in turn, evidences a pride or self-respect of a sort, which qualities are commendable to some extent. The difficulty lies in one's inability to repair consequences in this way. As Lem Gidge said to the family cow: "Your eyes are well-springs of innocence and your hearing is that of blamelessness, but the milk's spilled and your foot's in the bucket just the same, doddiast you!"—Portland Oregonian.

Oldtime Home Brewing

Brewing beer was a respectable household task among families along the Tigris and Euphrates rivers 9,000 years ago. Evidence of this high antiquity of the craft of brewing and its place in ancient social systems of Babylonia and Egypt has been traced by German scientists of the Society of History and Bibliography of Brewing.

There were laws about drinking in those days, the report shows. Certain rations of beer were allowed to each class of workers. Beer was also used in mixing medicines, and as an offering to the gods. Brewing was an organized business as early as 5000 B. C., it is stated.

Use of "Assignats"

The assignats or notes issued by the French revolutionary government between 1789 and 1795 were used as currency until they became valueless. They were issued on the security of lands of the crown, the church, the nobles and emigrants, which had been appropriated, and they were inconvertible except in payment for the public lands. The total issue of assignats was over 45,000,000,000 francs.

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

For the MOST in Value at $1485 ~
~Buy this Nash!

Search as you may among cars selling for or around this price. Nowhere else will $1485 buy such VALUE, such costly, LUXURIOUS quality.

NONE have the style. NONE have such high character in finish and fittings.

Step into the front seat and SEE the luxury. A costly walnut effect on the instrument board before you, on the door panels beside and behind you.

Choice Mohair Velvet upholstery all around, cushioned deeply on the seats, tailored smartly on the side walls.

And when it comes to performance, NOT ONE comes even NEAR this spirited Nash. There is absolutely no comparison!

Step on the starter, then on the accelerator—and GO! The soft even flow of power is due to the ultra-modern crankshaft. It has 7 main bearings—three or four MORE than most other cars. A bearing at every possible place to hold the shaft firm and rigid.

It has BIGGER bearings too—wider and stronger ones. MORE bearing surface than any other Six in its price class.

Try a long steep hill and feel the EXTRA power. Nash straight-line drive sends the power DIRECT from motor to rear axle—no energy wasted by angles or curves along its route.

Bring in your old car as part payment on a new Special Sedan. Among fine sedans at this price, there's NOTHING to equal this Nash. Come in—TODAY—and see.

The Nash price range on 26 different models extends from $865 to $2090, f. o. b. factory.
