P. T. A.

Under the leadership of Mrs. N. Pickett, President, and Mrs. Maggie Oden, Secretary-Treasurer, the P. T. A. is making a determined and so far a successful effort to finish paying for the piano.

On Monday evening, a week ago, the second meeting under the new officers was held. A program was presented by the children of 1-B after which the committee previously appointed, reported thirteen dollars and ten cents; on the previous meeting another committee reported twelve dollars, eleven cents.

The following ladies served on the committee in order named: Mesdames Elida Ward, Esther Stewart, Annie Sparrow, Maggie Rooks, Helpers Mesdames Lizzie Oden, Fannie Stanley and Mattie Hardesty. Mesdames Hetty Ward, Nannie Pickett and Mollie Campbell.

THIRD GRADE

As the school year draws nearer to its close we are trying to remain energetic so our goal is reached. Plans are being made and perfected for our closing exercises. Much interest is being shown by the special characters and also the chorus boys and girls. We hope to be very successful in the end.

FOURTH GRADE—Arithmetic

We are now studying the fractional parts of numbers. We find it a very interesting phase of arithmetic. At first we learned the rule, which told us how to find the fractional parts of numbers. As the rule was given it was also explained in parts. We first learned that the denominator and the numerator of a fraction were called the terms of a fraction. We then learned just what the denominator and numerator really were. The next step then, was to know just what was meant by dividing the number by the denominator and multiplying the result by the numerator. Examples were put on the board and each part worked out and explained. Samuel Chadwick, Russell Davis, Orle Monroe, Walter Rhodes, Joseph Parker and Nelson Fulford are doing exceptional well.

"IT'S YOUR MOVE," SAY SOWNER OF CHECKERBOARD STORE

Anyone who has passed down Live Oak Street recently, has undoubtedly been impressed by the brilliant display of red and white checkers emblazoned on the front of the Beaufort Building and Supply Co.'s Store. To the uninitiated let it be known that this unique store front is not meant to be a battling ground for followers of the grand and glorious game of checkers, but is the official trademark of the Purina Mill of St. Louis and its checkerboard products. Mr. Phelps in having his store checkerboarded, is only taking this means of letting the public know that he is handling the celebrated Purina line and that he is ready to do business with any and all feeders in this district. "We have the goods and we can give the service," says Mr. Phelps "and now it's your move." If feeders want to lower their production costs and give their poultry and livestock the best and most perfectly balanced ration on the market today, they know they can always get it by coming to the checkerboard store.

And he's right. Feeders in this community are fortunate in having a Purina "service station" located so near. The Purina Mills have built up an enviable reputation for themselves by the foursquare business methods and by the merits of their Chows. We consider it a real asset to have a representative of that concern in this town, and we are sure that every shrewd feeder who is interested in producing more eggs, more milk, and more beef at less cost will pay a visit to the checkerboard store in the near future.—Adv.
