

A Newsy Trip Around The World

By Elizabeth Saunders

A sign in an Eastern Carolina filling station reads:
"We will crank your Ford,
And hold your baby,
But we don't cash checks,
And we don't mean maybe!"

At Atlantic City, N. J., Julius H. Quatman, automobile mechanic, excused himself from his wife's charge of habitual drunkenness: "I only get drunk two or three days at a time several times a month."

One woman who is not afraid of rats is Miss Julia Becker, who runs a home for 1,200 rats and mice for Johns Hopkins Medical School, at Baltimore. The rodents are used in diet experiments by scientists of the institution.

The old fashioned woman who paid and paid as the saying goes, now has a daughter who says: "Charge it."

In Manhattan, David MacVoy, 55 butcher, walked into Central Park lake over his head. The "incessant blare of radio loudspeakers had annoyed him all day."

At Rio Bravo, Calif., Frank Herbert killed a rattlesnake, discovered a $5 bill in its coils.

In London, P. G. Wodehouse's daughter, as hostess at a large house party, had microphones placed in all the cozy corners. Loud speakers in the drawing room entertained the more sedate guests with a complete record of the petting going on about the place.

A newly wedded pair in Pueblo, Col., were handcuffed by friends "to give them a good start in married life." The couple appealed to the police and were released from the handcuffs.

At Charlotte, N. C., Clarence Sulp, Negro, ran from behind a street car plump into a motorcar, and without damage to himself bumped off a door handle with his head.

A celebrated Western tenor was in an automobile accident and a paper recording the accident said: "We are happy to say he was able to appear at the concert next evening in three pieces."

In Eldorado, Ark., John Rhodes poured four quarts of beer into his boots when officers entered his home to search for liquor. He was arrested on a charge of bootlegging.

Because of the expense of importing pillows since the war, bedtime pillow fighting among the elephants in the circus at Brooklyn has been discontinued.

At Auckland, N. Z., one "Wizard" Smith, racing a motorcar at 148.607 m. p. h. along Ninety-Mile Beach, bashed into seven large sea birds, killed them, was nearly blinded by one which he hit with his face.

Here's a new one from Robert Ripley: Grantia is an animal that buds like a plant, and also produces eggs. It is a sponge and is shaped like a vase. It has a skeleton of stone and yet it swims.

In Boston, Miss Elizabeth Carvell is director at the first typewriter orchestra on record. While a phonograph plays "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," the typists hammer out their work with redoubled speed and in perfect rhythm.

In Liberty, Mo., Mrs. Elizabeth Viles, widow, last year gave to a neighbor a plot of ground in which she had for several years searched and dug, seeking her wedding ring lost in 1893. While planting her spring vegetables, Mrs. Viles' neighbor found the ring, returned it.

New York Club women who are fat and don't mind admitting it are planing an "Unstylish" show in protest against clothing makers who make only slender garments. The portly matrons will wear the exaggerated skinny models to show how ridiculous they look.

To escape from the ire of his wife, Ralph Durr, of Los Angeles went to a police station and tried to sell a bottle of cognac, so he would be put in jail.

At Birds, Ill., Ernestine Stevenson, 21 months, daughter of Ernest Stevenson, school teacher, fell into a cold well, bobbed to the surface, clutched the iron suction pipe until her father, summoned, crawled down to fetch her up.

In Evanston, Ill., Policeman Charles Boulanger was detailed to watch costly wraps at a big church function. Not a single article belonging to the guests was lost, but Boulanger found his own hat had been stolen.

shoulders and back was so severe I could hardly stand alone. I was down to 100 pounds in weight, extremely nervous, slept poorly and an inactive liver kept me habitually constipated. Four bottles of Sargon strengthened me wonderfully, all pains are gone, my nerves have steadied and my sleep is restful and invigorating. I'm steadily gaining weight. I eat heartily without a trace of indigestion and my friends all remark about my splendid health.

30 Days in February
February was not always the shortest month. Up to the time of Julius Caesar it had thirty days, but in order to make his honor month, July, longer, he took a day away from February. Then along came Augustus who named a month after himself and added an extra day at the expense of February.

LENOIR COUNTY LAWYERS AND THE JUDGESHIP:

In recent advertisements Mr. J. Paul Frizzelle appears a statement signed by members of the Lenoir County Bar. The following letter explains itself:

Rouse & Rouse
Attorneys and Counsellors at Law

Kinston, North Carolina.

May 28, 1930.

Hon. R. A. Nunn,
New Bern, N. C.

Dear Judge Nunn:—

Mr. J. Paul Frizzelle recently requested that members of this bar give him a testimonial as a lawyer and man, which the members of the bar felt willing to do; but that they did not feel that they should take part in undertaking to shape the action of the voters of the Fifth District by action which might be construed as expressing a preference for the nomination of Judge. Mr. Frizzelle stated that he did not expect us to do that, and that it would be entirely satisfactory to him for the members of the bar to give you a like testimonial. This I now enclose which has the same verbiage as that given him.

This is a rather unusual procedure, I admit, but it is handed to you to use or not as you think best. The esteem and respect of the signers for you impel them to send you this statement, and I am sure you will not misunderstand it.

With my esteem and good wishes,

Sincerely yours,
N. J. ROUSE.

We, the members of the Lenoir County Bar, are personally acquainted with the ability of Hon. R. A. Nunn as a lawyer and believe his experience and ability and his integrity as a Christian gentleman fit him to perform the duties of Superior Court Judge efficiently and in keeping with the fine traditions of the Superior Court Bench.

WITHDRAWS FROM PRIMARY

Mr. L. W. Nelson, of Gloucester who announced his candidacy for the County Board of Education sometime back, has decided to withdraw from the Primary election. He says that there is too much strife within the party, and that he withdraws for the purpose of bringing more harmony and peace in the Democratic Primary. This leaves Mr. Dennis Mason of Atlantic sole contender for that office.

Due to a short honey flow for the last two years, some of the bee-keepers of Caldwell County report losing as many as 50 per cent of their bees.

Cleveland County farmers have sold $30,706.62 worth of poultry to two firms in Shelby during the four months of January, February, March and April.
