GREENE COUNTY FARMER KILLED ON HIGHWAY

Kinston, Nov. 10—A. R. Sumrell 52, Greene county farmer, was instantly killed late last night when he stepped his automobile on the Snow Hill-Farmville highway and another car crashed into it. Sumrell, state police said, was standing in front of his car which was hurled against him. His body was badly mangled.

The driver of the other machine R. K. Pipkin, of Farmville, was blinded, it is claimed, by the lights of an approaching car and did not see the standing vehicle.

A coroner's jury called together on the spot exonerated Pipkin, and highway patrol investigators today absolved him of blame.

Hot After Speakerships Shift of 29 members of the House of Representatives in 1929, including one Independent, to the Democratic column in 1931, a part of which was unexpected, has brought about redoubled efforts among the new Democratic members on the part of the four candidates for the Speakership of the next House. The candidates, Willis Smith, Raleigh, E. B. Moss, Spring Hope, Fred I. Sutton, Kinston, and H. G. "Tobe" Connor, Wilson, are out after the new Democrats.

All have numbers of pledges of support, but it is impossible now, with the possibilities of trades and shifts, to make a safe prediction.

Only eight members of the 1929 Senate will return, but several of the new members have had legislative experience in one or both of the houses before. Three candidates are mentioned for President Pro Tem of the Senate, to serve with the president, Lieutenant Governor R. T. Fountain, including Marvin K. Blount, Greenville, and Rivers D. Johnson, Warsaw, and H. P. Horton, Pittsboro the latter two returning after two-year intervals.

Bank Deposits Decrease Deposits in State banks in North Carolina decreased nearly ten million dollars, $9,950,000, during the past year, or to $250,000,000 on Sept. 24, last, as compared with October 4, 1929, the report of John Mitchell, chief State bank examiner, on the 405 banks, including 84 branches, shows. Total resources of these banks decreased $27,652,000 in that period, or from $341,182,000 to $313,530,000, but in the last three months, since the call dated June 30, 1930, the resources has increased slightly, $1,469,000, the report shows. Investments in stocks and bonds during the year increased by $5,800,000, while decreases were shown of $26,000,000 in loans and discounts, $1,800,000 in government securities, $1,200,000 in cash and due from banks, and $4,300,000 in banking house, furniture and fixtures. Capital surplus, etc., decreased $2,200,000 and borrowed money decreased $15,000,000, the report shows.

A county Board of Education has supreme and final authority in fixing the number of teachers in county schools, even at a figure lower than the State schedule, the N. C. Supreme Court held in dismissing the mandamus brought by Johnston county school districts to force the board to supply the schedule number of teachers, after a cut, due to a reduced budget, had been made. The action of the board in that particular was not subject to control by mandamus, the court held. A compromise had previously been reached by the education board and the board of county commissioners, so the decision has no definite effect upon this much contested Johnson county case.

Great Democratic Victory

The "irreducible minimum" of 13 Republicans in the North Carolina legislature, 10 representatives and three senators, achieved in 1923 thru the charged gerrymandering of senatorial districts by the late Col. A. D. Watts, was still further reduced to eight Republicans, six representatives and two senators, as a result of the election last week, which proved a landslide for the Democrats of greater proportions than the 1928 Republican deluge.

While the Democrats were winning more than 100 Representatives and a dozen Senators for an almost exact even number with the Republicans in the National Congress, and carrying many hitherto rock-ribbed Republican states with the election of Democratic governors and other officers, North Carolina Democrats made inroads that surprised even the most sanguine of the party leaders by electing a full Democratic delegation to Congress, electing 144 of the 150 representatives and 48 of the 50 senators in the State General Assembly, and reclaimed county governments in more than 20 counties.

The only two Republican senators are A. F. Grant, Mocksville, veteran representative from the 24th district, composed of the heretofore Republican counties of Davie, Wilkes and Yadkin, Davie going Democratic and Wilkes naming a Democratic representative this time, and Roy A. Harmon, Elk Park, from the 30th district, composed of Avery, Madison, Mitchell and Yancey.

The six counties having Republican representatives are Avery, Mitchell, Pamlico, Randolph, which elected half of the Democratic ticket, Sampson and Yadkin, where the Republican majority of 15 is being contested. Some of the counties that have been Republican since Civil War times swung to the Democratic column last week, and some of those remaining in the Republican column are there by greatly reduced majorities. All of the counties which went to that column in 1928 were returned to the Democratic fold.

Josiah William Bailey's majority for U. S. Senate over his Republican opponent, George M. Pritchard, will probably reach 120,000, the largest in the history of the State. In the 9th Congressional district, the only one in grave doubt, Major A. L. Bulwinkle defeated Congressman Charles A. Jonas, Republican, majority by a large majority, and Zebulon Weaver was returned in the 10th, winning easily over Brownlow Jackson, Republican, thus reclaiming the two districts carried by the Republicans in 1928 and giving the State a solid Democratic delegation of 10 Congressmen, with two Senators.

Another Candidate in Sight

A. H. ("Sandy") Graham, of Hillsboro, is expected to be a candidate for Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina in 1932 and for Governor of North Carolina in 1935.

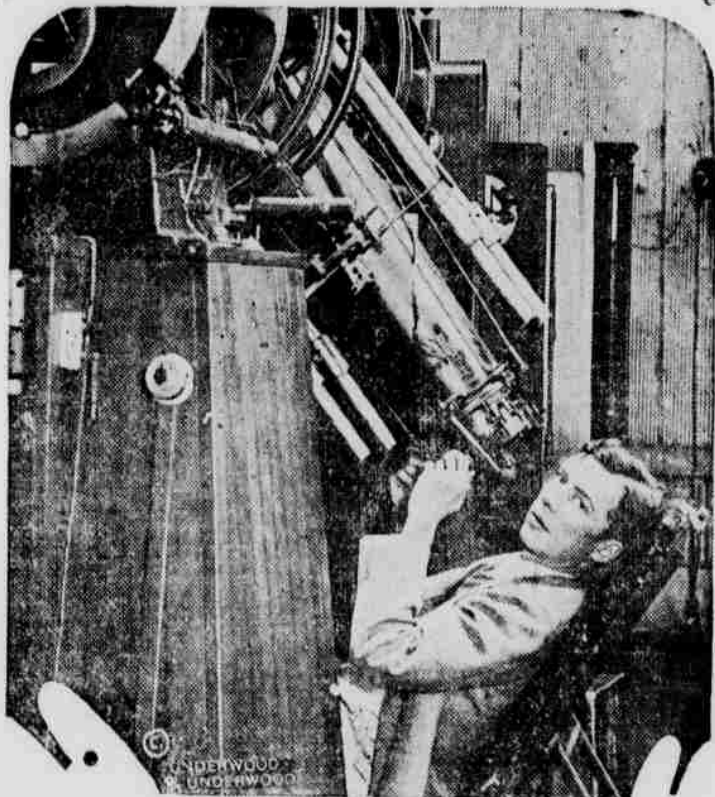

While no definite announcement has been made in either case, it is generally understood among his friends that Mr. Graham will enter the race for Lieutenant Governor in due time, and that, such entry will have a very definite object—that of becoming candidate for Governor four years later.

Since 1921 he has been a member of the General Assembly from Orange county and has served as chairman of several important committees, and preparing him for the speakership in 1929. He has served as a member of the Advisory Budget Commission for several years and during the past two months has been Executive Counsel to Governor Gardner, all of which, his friends say, are excellent training for the positions to which he is almost certain to aspire.

In the first contest he will doubtless have to contend with D. F. Giles, Marion, former legislator, secretary of the N. C. Railroad and, within the past year or two, becoming an attorney at law. William F. Wood, also of Marion, has also made some sort of announcement, conditioned, for the lieutenant governorship.

In the second race, that for the Governorship, Mr. Graham will doubtless contend with Judge Thomas L. Johnson, Asheville, formerly of Lumberton, who retired from the approach ing governorship race in 1932, who has let it be known that he is looking toward that goal in 1936, and probably Col. Thos. L. Kilpatrick, Charlotte, original good roads enthusiast, who has said that he will be a candidate in 1934. Other prospects are W. M. Hendren, Winston-Salem; A. L. Brooks, Greensboro, and—but that is enough for the present.

Going Long Distance for Short Job

Bevan P. Sharpless, a young scientist of the Naval observatory at Washington, has started on a 7,300-mile journey to the tiny island of Nihoa, where he will observe and photograph a total eclipse of the sun which will last only 1.9 minutes. The photograph shows him at work at the observatory preparing for the trip.
