Uses Wings in Water

The water ouzel, or dipper, as it is commonly called, is a bird that uses its wings under water in exactly the same manner as when flying through the air. The birds are much like the thrush and walk along the bottom of streams in search of food. While they are thus submerged, they must make constant use of their wings to keep down, for their bodies are so light that they would immediately come to the top otherwise. When they do come to the surface the water rolls from their feathers and they are perfectly dry. They are not webfooted, but they swim on the surface with perfect ease.

Ye Ed's Explanation

The fellows who poke fun at that little meerschaum pipe which we have dug up after years of disuse may be interested in learning that a philosopher of considerable discrimination says he don't think he ever heard of a crook who smoked a pipe and doubted that anybody ever planned a murder or a holdup while smoking a pipe. Now, that's consoling and takes away some of the smack of ridicule which our friends have been using in their efforts to determine whether we are practicing economy in our smoking or just "putting on" with the Jumpy pipe.—Atchison County Mail.

Mysterious Grave

The chamber of commerce of Gary, Ind., says that it believes the grave which lies near Gary in the middle of the steel plants is that of one Andreas Zirngibl, which lies within the city limits of Chicago on the main highway between Gary and that city. Mr. Zirngibl is said to have owned large tracts of land on the southern shores of Lake Michigan which was considered in his time as waste land. When he died he willed that his remains be buried in this land and that it never be disturbed. Although the will is said to have been broken, the grave still remains in its original place almost entirely surrounded by industry. The dates on the crude headstone are, Born 1707, died 1855, and it bears a legend in German.

Measurement Systems

The sexagesimal system of circular measurement has been in existence from a very early period. It was used by the early Greek mathematicians. Their influence was so great that all the medieval astronomers and mathematicians, Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan, used the same system. When a particular form of measurement has become established through the ages there is always reluctance in making a change, because of the confusion that would be involved; calculations would have to be changed and existing text books, tables and reference books would be out of date.

American Gardens and Homes Both Distinctive

About 1100 A. D., the Crusaders entered Byzantium and the Holy Land and carried many ideas back to the countries of central Europe. The Persians and Arabians likewise carried the Byzantine influences to their respective countries. From this the Arabs developed a type of landscape architecture very different from previous styles. Their ideas were carried by them to the countries of northern Africa and by the Moors to Spain, where many famous gardens were made. These all had a touch of oriental design.

The American Colonists found no gardens in this country when they landed. They brought with them ideas from England which were influenced by the necessity of growing their own fruits and vegetables. Their desire for ornamental plantings was inherited from their English ancestors and this desire has now grown to the extent that the United States is outstanding in its development of small home gardens. The growth of these gardens has kept pace with the increase in population, and the construction of homes and the style, while influenced by many others in past centuries, has become truly and distinctly American.

And let the weevil WORRY

LOOKS like a mighty bad weevil year. We had two bone-dry summers in 1930 and 1931 and are about due for a wet one now. Owing to mild weather, weevils had a picnic all winter and they are just waiting for the squares to form.

It is going to be a race between the cotton and the weevils. Cotton sure is going to have a job keeping ahead of the weevils without a little help from you. Not much, if any, fertilizer under it, the crop is almost sure to be slow and sickly by June. Just the way the weevils want it.

What they do to your crop depends largely on what you do for your crop!

Side-dress! Chilean Nitrate, 100 pounds per acre (200 pounds would be much better) will set the crop early, ahead of the weevil. Then you are reasonably safe. But be sure you get Chilean. Nothing takes its place for side-dressing cotton.

Your dealer has it or can get it on a moment's notice. See him now!
