A Newsy Trip Around The World By Elizabeth Saunders

In Washington, D. C. the police radio commanded: "Scout car No. 10 go to Georgia Avenue and Taylor St. Police being attacked." The message came over Scout car No. 10's receiving set but Policeman Smooh and Renner were too busy to respond. They were the police being attacked at Georgia Ave. and Taylor St.

In Paris, France, Paul Joyeux recently celebrated his 102nd birthday. Said he: "I've smoked since I was 15 years old, and began drinking wine long before that. I've kept this up all my life."

In Lynn, Mass., the stork overtook the Swans in a race. Lawrence Swan was taking his wife to a hospital. While the automobile was halted in traffic in Central Square, Mrs. Swan gave birth to an eight pound daughter.

In Ewing, Neb., Ogia Wood, mechanic, jeweler and inventor has a set of aluminum false teeth that he made himself.

A three-legged turkey was hatched on the ranch of Dwight Breckenridge, near Woodlud, Calif., recently. The fowl was normal in all respects except for the extra leg.

The depression apparently has hit the counterfeiting industry. Counterfeit pennies have appeared in Boston recently.

In New York, on trial for his life for murder, William J. Turner, 21, pulled out a deck of cards began playing solitaire. The judge stared, sent the jury out of the courtroom, protested. Attendants confiscated the cards. The judge spoke briefly on courtroom conventions. Said defendant Turner: "What do you think I'm going to do—sit here all day and cry?"

Wandering into a suburban Chicago fire station, Felix Robenski selected a fire engine and whizzed away with the siren screaming. Police and firemen, after a fast chase, found him parked in front of a pile of charred wood and old ashes. Said he: "Too late, too late. That fire was five months ago. I remember because I started it."

On a charge that he alienated the affections of Mrs. Edward J. King, 40, Hiram H. Langford, 86, of Salem Mass. has been sued for $25,000 damages.

A small lock of Napoleon's hair brought only $5.30 in a sale at a London curiosity shop recently. It was cut from his head by Dr. Barry O'Meara the exile's physician on St. Helena.

In Cincinnati, O., two robbers entered a store owned by Mary Wilhelm 45, Miss Wilhelm prayed audibly that she be spared from the robbery. The two men eyed each other quizzically and hurried away.

Male choruses from many parts of the world, including two from the United States, will meet in Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, for the eleventh German singing festival, July 21 to 24. The two American choruses are the Arions, of Brooklyn and Baltimore. Three concerts by mass choruses of 15,000 voices will be feature events.

An ad in a Lawton (Okla.) newspaper read as follows: "Found: lady's leather purse in my car. Owner may have same by calling at my office, identifying the property, and paying for this ad. If she will explain to my wife that I had nothing to do with it being there, I will pay for the ad."

Each day at Buckingham Palace, in London, more than 150 breakfasts, lunches, and dinners are served to officials, servants and attendants who form the royal retinue, at the residence of England's monarchs.

In Camden, N. J., one George F. Bestler pinched and poked his son George, Jr., 3 making him cry. Criticized by his sister, George F. Bestler snatched up his son, ran to a bridge-rail, suspended the child over the river. Said he: "You can't tell me what to do with my own child."

In St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Carl Peters is suing her husband for divorce because he placed toothpicks on top of the front door when he went to work. If they were disturbed during his absence he knew some one had been there, and then he asked questions.

As Ernest Goudge, 55, of Spokane, Wash., lay on an operating table one surgeon sawed off his right foot and another removed his appendix. Told that both operations would be necessary, he requested that they be combined.

Four thieves had themselves shipped from Lodz to Warsaw, Poland, in boxes marked for storage. Duly lodged in a railroad warehouse, at night they hammered open their boxes and looted the warehouse, sawing their way thru the storage locks and escaping with their booty.

D. W. Morton ANNOUNCES

To The Democratic Voters of North Carolina His Candidacy for State Insurance Commissioner

I stand for intelligent effort to reduce insurance rates. Automobile liability insurance rates especially are too high. Automobile owners who have never had an accident or lawsuit are entitled to lower insurance rates. There is no reason why the careless and reckless automobile operator should be given the same consideration with respect to insurance rates as the prudent and cautious driver is entitled to.

Insurance companies offered approximately 10 per cent reduction on such risks in the recent past and the State Insurance Department failed to get the reduction for North Carolina. Other States got it. This has cost the people of North Carolina many thousands of dollars which went into pockets of insurance companies and which the insurance companies apparently did not expect. Furthermore, automobile insurance rates have been increased several times to the present very high level, so that the mutual companies are profiting thereby. I do not propose to make such a blunder.

FARM PROPERTY
Effort should be put forth to make farm property attractive to insurance companies. Certainly no class of our citizenship is entitled to more consideration than the farmer.

DEMOCRATIC RECORD:
My vote in this primary will make 46 votes that I have continuously voted the Democratic ticket.
