A Newsy Trip Around The World

In Shamokin, Pa., singing in the bathtub cost Jack Jordan his liberty. Jordan chose the early morning hours for his bath and vocal exercises and awoke most of the neighborhood. Police arrested Jordan on charges of intoxication.

In Upper Marlboro, Md., on trial for bootlegging, Frank Bassford was asked to raise his right hand as he took oath. Said he: "I'll not only raise my right hand and swear I'm innocent, but I'll lift both hands, stand on my head and raise my feet." Charge dismissed.

In Oakland, Calif., Mrs. George Reid was given a divorce because her husband regularly ended arguments by shutting her up in a folding bed.

Fritz, a Dachshund owned by M. J. Alford of Montville, O., chased a rabbit into his burrow. The rabbit went out of the "back door," but Fritz's long body got stuck. It took a crew of men with pickaxes and shovels to release Fritz.

There's a lonesome Minnesota bachelor who hasn't heard of Oklahoma's cold wave. He wrote Mayor Blinn, of Oklahoma City, promising "a nice present" if the mayor could induce some girl to marry him, adding he wants to get away from a cold climate and come to Oklahoma to live "among the flowers and sunbeams of the South."

In Braintree, Mass., beaten down by immemorial jokes, citizens changing the name of the road that divides Braintree from West Quincy, from Purgatory Road to Wood Road.

"The charge," said Police Justice Rogan, in Albany, "is that you stole a powder puff, two pairs of bloomers and a girdle from the store at 51 North Pearl street." George Davidson, 35, homeless, scraped his feet nervously and blushed. Said the judge: "Nice things for a man to be stealing." Said Davidson: "Judge, I must have been out of my head." He went to jail for 30 days.

Two pigs with one head between them were brought to Georgetown, S. C., recently from a nearby farm. The pigs had been born with perfect bodies joined to one head. They died at birth.

The pet deer of Charles Calkins in the country near Exeland, Wis., is probably the best dressed deer in the north woods. It's wearing a pair of red trousers and a coat these days. The plan of Calkins is to protect the deer from being shot by over-zealous hunters.

Did you know that there is an old law on the statute books of North Carolina which says that twin beds must be at least two feet apart?

PLAN ORGANIZATION TO PROMOTE RURAL LIFE

By F. H. Jeter

RALEIGH, Dec. 26—Community organizations in which will be welded all the social forces of the rural community in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service for the general improvement of farming and rural life will be attempted in North Carolina during the coming year under the guidance of home and farm agents, vocational teachers, the Grange, and other agencies now existing in most counties.

The Extension Service of State College is now working on plans for a model community organization and when these are completed a bulletin on "Community Organization in North Carolina" will be published. The plan of organization is modeled somewhat after those now in operation in Virginia and Missouri. There will be a central executive committee for the county with the proper county officers and with committees for each community in the county. These committees will be responsible for any program of work to be attempted by the people whether it be in home gardening, canning, poultry raising, soil fertility, home beautification or any other such activity.

The county home and farm agents will work with and through the communities attending all the meetings and securing the necessary aid and information where desired.

In announcing this plan for a more intense community effort, Dean I. O. Schaub, director of the Extension Service, says the time has passed for the county agent to devote his or her whole time in attempting to work with individuals. At the present time, the home agents have well-organized demonstration clubs welded into county federations and guided by county councils of farm women. The farm agents also have boards of agriculture which work with the agents in an advisory capacity. There is need, however, for a further welding of community and county effort and this will be attempted in the new set-up which will be tried next year in a number of selected counties as a beginning.

New Chevrolets Add Over 85,000 People to Payrolls of Nation

TOP: New 1933 Chevrolet roadster climbing hill at General Motors Proving Ground.
LEFT: New Fisher "No-Draft" Ventilation system illustrating how each passenger may have individually controlled ventilation instead of being subjected to a sweep of air through the car, with resultant discomfort and danger to health.
RIGHT: New rear-end of all closed models screening all unsightly underparts of the car.

Chevrolet's public showing of its new 1933 line means a material spur to national employment and materials consumption, since this company is the largest manufacturer in the largest industry in the world. More than 85,000 people are back at work, 30,000 in the company's twenty domestic factories, 21,000 more in Fisher body plants working exclusively on Chevrolet-Fisher bodies, and more than 36,000 in dealerships throughout the nation. As many more are indirectly benefited by the announcement, through making their livelihood by building parts for the car which Chevrolet buys from independent suppliers.

Chevrolet's 1932 volume totals nearly 400,000 cars and trucks with a retail value in excess of $200,000,000. This is said to be one of the greatest contributions made by any company this year to the economic welfare of America.

In the new line, now on display at all dealers', is a variety of models featuring longer wheelbase, new Fisher "No-Draft" Ventilation and many other features which the company has designed to retain for it. The leadership in the industry it has enjoyed for four years out of the past six.

Other features included in the new line are more power and speed in the engine, which is newly cushion-mounted; improved free wheeling plus Synchro-Mesh transmission with Silent Second gear; a new "Starterator" that greatly simplifies starting; such safety elements as shatter-proof glass in the windshield; larger and lower bodies by Fisher, in the new "Aer-Stream" model; three fewer controls, with really automatic features in some of those retained; an Octane Selector that insured the highest possible operating efficiency from all grades of gasoline, besides a uniform gasoline cost per mile; dash instruments of airplane type, for instant, easy reading; positive brakes; and still easier steering.

With all these, and many more, the price range continues to be mindful of the buyer's pocketbook. It has been found possible to equip the new Chevrolets with many fittings that used to be confined to cars selling at several times Chevrolet's base price.

Since October first, trained former employees have been going back to work in Chevrolet's widely distributed manufacturing and assembly plants, with welcome additions to the general purchasing power, made possible by more wage money in circulation. Throughout November, the increase in employment continued to a seasonal peak to the middle of December, when concentrated operations incident to prompt dealer stocking were in full swing. More than twenty million dollars worth of the new cars were in dealers' hands when the national introduction was made.
