outstanding and originally issued by R. T. Wade, now deceased, former owner and manager. Since the issuance of these passes four or five years ago all of the theatre properties have passed into other hands, and its management has completely changed. As a matter of courtesy and for fear of misunderstanding on the part of the holders, for several years after the change of ownership and management of the theatre we have continued to honor the passes outstanding. Now, however, on account of the extreme financial conditions prevailing, we feel justified and compelled, though much to our regret, to give notice that no passes will be honored on and after January 1st, 1933.

We wish to express to the public generally our appreciation for the patronage given us. It is our purpose to offer a high-grade class of entertainment. To the end that we might know and make ourselves responsive to your wishes, we shall be pleased to have your comments and criticisms from time to time.
