Ground Hog Weather Mostly In February

Seventeen cloudy days and eleven clear ones during February somewhat strengthened the reputation of the ground hogs a weather prophet in this vicinity. The rainfall for the month was heavy, 7.28 inches. At times a few flakes of snow were seen. The coldest temperature of the winter was experienced on the 6th when the mercury slid down to 21 above zero. It went below freezing several days during the month. The winds during February were for the most part rather cold. They came from the northwest 9 days, the northeast 7 days, southwest 6, south 3, west one. Temperature figures for the month are as follows:

	Max.	Min.
1.	57	42
2.	61	51
3.	63	47
4.	59	45
5.	55	36

Board of Education at Beaufort, Tuesday, February 28, 1933, at 7:30 P. M., according to a copy furnished this paper by J. G. Allen, Secretary.

Those attending the meeting were Dr. C. S. Maxwell, Bayard Taylor, W. H. Taylor, R. L. Fritz, Lillian Duncan, H. L. Joslyn, W. M. Webb, K. P. B. Bonner, R. F. Munns, Mrs. Hilda G. Kite, C. B. Wade, Dr. Roy M. Brown, and Miss Mary Ward, District Supervisor, New Bern.

On motion of Dr. Bonner it was unanimously carried that the resolution of the Carteret County Medical Society, dated February 7, 1933, rejecting the offer of this Council so far as it related to compensation for medical service, be accepted with regret that a plan more satisfactory to the physicians cannot be formulated. Mr. Allen states for the information of the public that this means that there is in existence no agreement whereby relief cases can expect any part of their doctor's fees to be paid from R. F. C. Funds.

Gardens for individuals, schools for adult illiterates, and the completion of the American Legion Hut at Beaufort, have been tentatively included in the budget for the month of March but the wisdom of the possible establishment of community gardens is to be thrashed out by a committee consisting of H. L. Joslyn, W. H. Taylor, and C. B. Wade in conference with the County Farm Agent, making its report to the Council at an early date for continued consideration of that question. Labor for the completion of the Legion Hut is to come from the regular allotment of men allocated to relief projects in Beaufort.

JUDGE WEBB HAS NO CONVICTIONS

The case of J. O. Barrett again was brought up after having hung fire for nearly three months. Mr. Barrett gave a check and three drafts amounting to $416.50 to R. A. Cherry in December and they were returned without sufficient funds. The case was continued from time to time for Mr. Barrett, who is an Asheville man. When Mr. Barrett came Tuesday he brought a new bond for $750 and asked that the case be continued for two weeks, because he thought he would have sufficient money to take up the check and drafts by that time. After much deliberation between Judge Webb, Solicitor Davis and Charles W. Stevens, who appeared for the private prosecution, it was decided to defer the case until March 14, with the understanding that if the money is not paid by that time that the trial will take place immediately.

LAW-MAKERS BOTHERED BY SCHOOLS AND TAXES

The House, where, prediction is, it will also be passed. It provides for electing the Public Utilities Commissioner in 1934, two other men, named by the Governor, to sit with him when needed for hearings, to be paid not more than $1,800 a year, at the rate of $25 a day for their services. While pushed as an economy measure, it does little more than abolish Chairman W. T. Lee and Commissioner George P. Peil, if finally enacted. Belief is that Commissioner Stanley Winborne will be named as commissioner.

It now looks as if the general assembly will call for a referendum on the liquor law changes, or probably two: one on repealing the 18th amendment, by a vote on delegates to a convention, another on permitting light wines and beers in the State, if the Federal government legalizes their sale, with tax. The first step has been taken toward legalizing medicinal liquor, the bill to allow its sale by drug stores under federal control, having been approved. A new bill would have confiscated liquor saved for medicinal purposes.

Vote For Consolidation

The Senate voted 38 to 9 to consolidate the State's Prison and the State Highway department, after heated discussion and strenuous opposition. The bill was favored by Governor Ehringhaus as an economy measure. The House is expected to enact it also. Meanwhile, the House enacted a measure to reduce salaries of all highway employees receiving $1,000 a year or more, by 10 to 13-1-3 per cent, based on amount. Some readjustment may be made as a result of the expected consolidation of the departments.

The flood of new bills continues almost unabated, and most of the measures introduced are local in nature, even in spite of the efforts to get the local bills out of the way early so the more important matters could have full attention during the latter part of the session. New measures of general interest are given below.

A constitutional amendment is proposed which would prevent any county, regardless of population, from having more than one senator. Provision for sterilizing mentally defective and feeble minded in charitable and penal institutions is included in a bill, the present law being unconstitutional.

A labor measure would regulate employment of male persons in industry; another would shorten the hours of toil of women in industry; one would protect the health of workers from poisonous gases and fumes.

On February the twenty second Mrs. Warren Taylor celebrated her seventy seventh birthday with a party at her daughter's Mrs. Charles Hill on Ann Street.

Her children, grand children and great grand children were present and many old friends enjoyed the occasion. Mrs. Taylor received many lovely gifts.

Ice cream and cake were served. Little Miss Lyda Bruce Willis entertained a few of her little friends at a picture show party, honoring her seventh birthday Wednesday afternoon. They all enjoyed the picture especially the comedy very much. After the show they returned to Mrs. Willis' home where they were treated ice cream and cake and enjoyed many little games.

Those enjoying the party were: Katy Lou Jones, Jeanne Fodrie, Mary Dawson, Skippe and Lyda Bruce Willis.

R. F. C. Council Denies Men Would Not Work

"Dr. Roy M. Brown, R. F. C. Technical Supervisor, who was present, stated to the Council that a careful personal investigation into the records of the county unit of the R. F. C. revealed no warrant or justification whatever for the charges made in its cover of lace and its center piece. A three layer cake with its fifty two candles a gift presented to Mrs. Taylor.

Legal measures proposed are: require clerks of superior court to order guardians and trustees to render satisfactory and sufficient reports; authorize them to determine and allow attorney's fees in cases in which real property is sold by administrators, executors and commissioners, executors and commissioners in foreclosed and special proceedings; and authorizing clerks to accept resignations of administrators, executors and collectors in certain cases; require qualifications of any person executing a criminal bond; regulating appeals in civil cases from justice of the peace courts; regulate the sale of real property by administrators, executors and collectors in special proceedings; require that fees for which the county is liable, as jurors fees, be applied to paying taxes; amend Sec. 3243, C. S., as to sales; amend the uniform criminal extradition act; to secure attendance in criminal cases from witnesses outside the State; declare women liable for jury duty; declare a moratorium for two years on accounts due and owing in North Carolina.

Functions of the Commissioner of Labor would be defined under one bill. Property tax payment in installments in all counties is provided in one. Branch banking laws would be amended by a bill introduced.

Repeal of the absentee ballot laws, as they relate to primaries, is sought in a bill.

The General Assembly, overwhelmingly Democratic, is heading toward the Republican high tariff on goods produced in this State. A new bill urges the N. C. delegation in Congress to support tariffs on jute, sisal and bear grass products. But the committee killed it.

Education bills would encourage perfect attendance in schools and regulate the handling of school books in the State.

The Roanoke Colony Commission would be created to have charge next year of celebrating the 350th anniversary of the beginning of American civilization at Roanoke Island.

One measure would protect persons on thoroughfares from injuries and damages done in accidents caused by negligent operators of State, county or city vehicles; another would place certain motor vehicle law violations under jurisdiction of justices of the peace; horse-drawn vehicles on highways would be regulated.

Ed. Hancock and Mrs. N. H. Russell were hostesses last Monday evening to the members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Mrs. Hancock's home on Queen street.

The invitations were unique—the little vers of "Turn backward, turn backward time in your flight and make me a child again, just for tonight" were carried out in the costumes of the guests.

The table in the dining room was beautiful in its appointments a cake in the shape of Noah's ark, iced in pink, with animals at the windows and doors made a very realistic and lovely center piece. About on the table were little carts made of gum drops and drawn by cracker animals holding peanuts.

Each guest on arrival drew a slip of paper on which was written the first line of a Mother Goose rhyme they were to say. This added lots of fun to the occasion. The nursery song and Three Blind Mice were enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Corrie Norcom in her college girl costume was very attractive. Mrs. Lina Hutton as a pantalette girl was very jolly, Mrs. Chas. Skarren as a baby was enjoyed by all.

The first prizes went to Mrs. Chas. Case who was a typical Tom Sawyer, and Mrs. Lawrence Hassell who took the part of a school girl to perfection. A large stick of candy dressed up as a school girl was given to each. The other guests dressed as little boys and girls of today were all worth mentioning.

After the games the guests formed in a line and marched to music to the dining room, were served a plate containing ice cream, animal crackers and lolly pops, returning to the living room and enjoyed the treat.

The party was enjoyed by all. The judges Mesdames Chas. Clawson, Bullock, Harry Parkins, Eubanks and Will Pierce were congratulated by all in their selection of the first prize winners.
