LOCAL AIRPORT PLANS ARE REVEALED

Fort Macon Site May Be Selected

Very little has been said about two airport projects which have been under consideration for this section of the coast. Through Paul May, Washington Correspondent for The Beaufort News, we are able to submit exclusive stories about each project. They follow:

FORT MACON

Washington, D. C., July 15—The establishment of an airport at Fort Macon Park will be recommended to the State of North Carolina, as the result of an investigation undertaken by the National Park Service, it was learned today. A survey of the National Park Service found that the establishment of a landing field at this park is "advisable" since the nearest airport is at Kinston, seventy-four miles away. Officials of the Park Service said the establishment of a landing field at this park would make it more readily (continued on page five)

MOREHEAD CITY

Washington, July 16—(By Telegraph)—With the Morehead City airport project approved by the Bureau of Air Commerce, local interests are trying to get government dredges assigned to start work on the seaplane basin proposed as part of the airport layout, according to information learned today at Senator Josiah W. Bailey's office. However, Army engineers, who control government dredges, said no application for the dredges had been received. (Continued on page five)

CARTERET COUNTY AMONG GROUP DUE N. C. ROAD REFUND

East Carolina Chamber Of Commerce Gives Out Story

MINIMUM REFUND $163,000

When the good roads movement started in North Carolina several years ago, many counties in the State turned over large amounts of actual cash donations for the purpose of hastening the completion of the present system. Carteret was one of 44 counties listed among this group which have total claims of $8-443,000, said amounts being set up on the highway records as gifts or donations. News received here this week indicates that there is a possibility that the amount will be paid at sometime in the near future. Under the present setup Carteret would be refunded $163,000.

But that is not all which is due the county according to the opinion of one official. The total amount due Carteret would be between one and two millions, it was stated. In the meantime the following progress has been made, according to information received by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce this week, leaders in the movement started two years ago, to secure the refund, when efforts on the part of individual and separate counties had failed.

Governor Ehringhaus promised a committee from the Commerce group, that he would appoint the Fact Finding Commission authorized by the last legislature. At the time he stated to the committee that the personnel of its members would be of such character that they would give the counties fair and impartial hearings in connection with their counties.

--- Such Boats As These Trawl Our Waters Illegally ---

Out Of State Fishing Fleet Anchored In Ocracoke Harbor

When the N. C. Board of Conservation and Development had their biennial meeting at Atlantic Beach this week many matters were discussed, but no mention was made about any method to curb illegal trawling in state waters by non-resident fishing smacks.

The Department of Conservation's commercial fisheries commission has tried for several years to curb trawling within the territorial limits of the state by non residents, and some success, mainly a number of arrests have been made. But the illegal trawling will continue until the State Legislature, the Conservation Group or those in authority see to it that a suitable boat is purchased (Continued on page eight)

Fishing And ALL OUTDOORS

By AYCOCK BROWN

THE RAYMOND STREBS of Raleigh who are stopping at the Old Davis House were the first to break the ice, following a holiday of game fishes. Last week we truthfully reported that although anglers were numerous in these waters during the Fourth of July season—fish were not. This situation was brought about perhaps to shifts of wind—or maybe the trolled for spead had followed the menhaden schools somewhere. Anyway—they were not in the same vicinity where anglers went—or if they were—they were not biting.

BUT EARLY THIS week luck changed. The Strebs were out on two different days. Both days they caught plenty of blues and mackerel. Other anglers going out trolling had similar luck. So the fishes holiday is over and anglers are happy again.

Five Sites Are Offered U. S.

Assessed Valuation Of Four Tracts Much Less Than Bids

BIDS OPENED MONDAY

Five tracts of land were offered the United States government as sites for the proposed $118,000 Federal building here on Monday. With the exception of one site the price asked by owners varied considerably from the assessed valuation of the properties. Three of the tracts offered are on Front Street, one on Turner and one at the corner of Turner and Ann.

No action will be taken on the proposals opened by Postmaster Wiley Taylor until a representative of the Treasury Department comes down to consider the bids. That will be sometime within the next few days it was stated. The five tracts offered, the dimensions, owners, prices asked and assessed valuation on the tax books follow:

Dr. C. L. Duncan property on southwest corner of Front and Pollock, 120, feet by 230 feet, plus water lot offered for $15,000. Assessed valuation including improvements $22,500.

Inlet Inn Inc., C. R. Wheatly, president, southwest Front and Pollock streets, 165 by 270 feet plus waterlot offered for $25,000. Assessed valuation including im-

Another Audit

Several months ago A. M. Pullen & Company of Richmond, Va., sent O. O. Hewitt to Carteret county for the purpose of making certain audits, covering a nine months period of the County Accountant's office—a longer period of the office of the Clerk of Superior Court. Sometime recently the audit was completed, or completed if reports are true, and returned to county officials. Last week when the County Commissioners gathered for a two day session the audit was revealed. So far, if reports are true, it has not been accepted by the board of County Commissioners. The Beaufort News has been advised by an official that until "the audit is accepted by the board of commissioners," it is not public news. Later we hope to publish same.

LEWIS vs. BRENNAN

Election Story

Earl Davis of Harkers Island revealed through sworn affidavits last week that in his precinct during the late lamented Second Primary on Independence Day, 117 persons qualified to vote did not cast ballots; 120 persons qualified to vote signed their name to the affidavit swearing they voted McDonald. Davis contends there are less than 500 persons on the island of voting age. The affidavits with names affixed were sworn to before Notary Public Charles T. Nelson. The other side of the story: On Tuesday, July 7, Election Officials of Harkers Island turned in an "official ballot" from Harkers Island Precinct showing that 428 persons voted Hecy—43 voted McDonald—total number of votes 471.

Escaped Prisoner Is Spotted In Virginia

Milton Phillips who escaped from the county jail here night before last has been spotted in Virginia according to a telephone message from the chief of police in Clarksville to Sheriff Chadwick here shortly after noon today. The Virginia officer stated that he believed it would be only a short time until the escapee was captured.

Phillips was held in the local jail in default of $500 bond on (Continued on page five)

Covering The WATER FRONT

By AYCOCK BROWN

CAPTIONS FOR columns with the word "Waterfront" used in some manner or other seems to be getting increasingly popular along the Atlantic coast. Before this column "Covering the Waterfront" appeared in The Beaufort News, early in 1935, I had never seen a caption used by any writer which used the word. I am not saying however that the "Waterfront" idea is original. If I did that someone might say, "What about that guy who wrote a book called 'I Cover the Waterfront,' back in 1931?" If I should (Continued on page eight)

:: This Tobacco Grew In Carteret ::

Scenes On The Lee Fulcher Farm

The above scenes show the kind of tobacco that a good farmer like Lee Fulcher can grow on fertile Carteret soil. His farm is near Wildwood on Newport R. F. D. The photos were made on June 15. Since that time Mr. Fulcher has already harvested nine barns of tobacco from his plantation, including the above field, or part of it. In the upper left photo, is Mr. Fulcher's tenant, his mule and Mr. Fulcher. Hugh Overstreet, county farm agent is shown in upper right photo. Bottom photo shows one of his fields. In the lower picture were Mr. Fulcher, his tenant, the mule and Mr. Overstreet, but they are almost hidden from view by the splendid growth.—(Beaufort News Photo.)

TIDE TABLE

Information as to the tides at Beaufort is given in this column. The figures are approximately correct and based on tables furnished by the U. S. Geodetic Survey. Some allowances must be made for variations in the wind and also with respect to the locality, that is whether near the inlet or at the heads of the estuaries.
