

Fishing And ALL OUTDOORS

By AYCOCK BROWN

IF IT IS BIG game the hunter is looking for Carteret offers not only deer but also bear. Up in the Newport section a number of bears have been killed already this season. Anyone wishing to try their luck with brother bruin can let the matter be known in Newport and arrangements can be made for a guide with dogs.

WEATHER SUITABLE for trapping fur bearing animals is almost here and in Carteret county there are varieties of fur-bears which can, if caught, add a lucrative income for any rural resident. Minks, otters, opossums, fox, bear and muskrats are numerous and the pelts always bring good prices.

IT IS A WONDER that some person has not tried fur farming in Carteret as a sideline. This sideline has proven very profitable to rural residents in any part of the country, especially in the north. More information about fur farming may be obtained from any of the sporting magazines for sale on the newsstands of Beaufort and Morehead City and elsewhere.

AUTUMN MONTHS are the best months for surf casting for channel bass. Especially is this true down on Hatteras and Ocracoke Island. Each year large numbers of New York and northern anglers go to these localities in the Fall for the surf casting. Channel Bass taken from the surf in the autumn usually run larger in size than those taken during the spring and summer months. . . . It is doubtful however, if anyone will equal the record catch made by F. A. Mitchell-Hedges of Hatteras in the surf there during the early summer. His fish weighed over 65 pounds which is not only a record for the year to date but also an all time record. He stands a mighty good chance of winning the national championship in channel bass class this year.

Used Car Sale Is Attracting Many

"The nation-wide used car and truck clearance sale, now being conducted by Ford dealers throughout the United States during October, offers excellent opportunities for purchase of used trucks able to deliver many thousands," according to Loftin Motor Company, local Ford dealers.

"Farmers and business men who require more efficient hauling equipment than they now possess and yet are not able at this time to finance the purchase of a new truck or commercial car will be able to select with confidence from our used-car stocks the type of hauling unit they require and which will give them many thousand miles of worth while service," said Mr. Loftin.

"Many of our customers have found it decidedly to their advantage to use this method of building up the efficiency of their hauling equipment. In this way they are able to turn in equipment which has passed its present period of usefulness or which requires expensive overhaul for better equipment capable of handling the job on which they are engaged.

"Particularly is this true of used trucks and commercial cars which bear the Ford 'R & G' emblem and which have been renewed by our mechanics and are guaranteed to measure up to standards set by the Ford Motor Company.

Urging Members Of 4-H Service Clubs To Attend Meeting

In an announcement made this week Miss Virginia Stanton reporter, and Miss Emma Stanton, secretary of the 4-H Service Clubs in Carteret county urged all members to attend a general meeting here on Thursday night, November 5.

The announcement follows: You are reminded that the Carteret County 4-H Service Club meets on Thursday night, November 5th, at 7 o'clock, at the Home Agent's office. The hour was moved up to provide time for a special entertainment that is to be given. You are cordially urged to come and enjoy this surprise—if you miss it you'll surely regret it! So don't forget to be at the Home Agent's office on Thursday night, November 5th, at 7 o'clock.

IN APPRECIATION

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindnesses and thoughtfulness shown during the illness and death of our mother and grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Willis. James Willis and family. C. L. Willis.

H. C. Miller of Maco County has applied 12 tons of lime to his crop land this fall and says one ton is needed an acre to get a good stand of clover.

Nearly One Million Helped By R. R.

RALEIGH, Oct. 27—More than 800,000 families are being assisted by the Resettlement Administration, according to a report made public today.

A total of 766,000 farm families are receiving loan and grant aid under the rural rehabilitation service while 55,000 family heads are employed on various works projects under the jurisdiction of the Resettlement Administration. Rehabilitation aid to date totals $106,000,000.

About 40,000 men, including 3,500 C.C.C. workers, are being employed in the Resettlement Administration's land program, clearing forests, checking land erosion, building life refuge and recreational areas. Sixteen thousand are employed in construction of resettlement homes, thousands of which have been completed and are now occupied. These figures do not include men working on 46 projects transferred by the Resettlement Administration to the National Park Service, on August 1. At that time, approximately 15,000 were employed on these projects.

SMYRNA PTA TO HAVE SQ-DANCE

A Hallo-ween square dance will be presented at Smyrna on Friday night by the Parent-Teacher Association of that community, it was announced this week. Music will be furnished by a colored orchestra from Beaufort. A nominal charge for admittance will be made. Everyone in Carteret county who like to square dance is extended a cordial invitation to attend, it was stated.

Gaston County is harvesting one of its largest hay crops although recent rain has damaged the quality somewhat.

Feed Quail And Check Erosion At Same Time

RALEIGH, Oct. 27—Every farmer knows a bobwhite quail when he sees one, but few are thoroughly familiar with its food and breeding habits, its enemies and the diseases that thin out its numbers.

George B. Becker, biologist of the Soil Conservation Service, says that 86 per cent of the food of the quail consists of waste grains and plant food.

In providing quail and other desirable forms of wildlife with food and cover by the planting of shrubs, legumes and grasses in gullied areas, galled spots and odd corners, the farmer in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service and State College Extension Service not only helps to replenish the supply of wildlife but controls erosion on his farm.

Cowpeas, soybeans, waste grains left after harvest, sorghums, millet, wild plum, mulberry, dewberry, ragweed, lespedeza, beggarweed, blueberries, huckleberries, dogwood, wild cherry and weeds are among the food producing plants attractive to the bobwhite quail.

Fourteen percent of the food of the bobwhite quail consists of animal life, including grasshoppers, weevils, locusts, chinchbugs, caterpillars, squash bugs, cucumber beetles and wireworms, said Becker.

The bobwhite mates usually in May and lays from 6 to 20 eggs, which are hatched in 23 to 24 days. Soon after hatching the young are able to take care of themselves in their new environment, and if everything goes well with the first brood the female usually does not lay another set of eggs.

Among the agencies tending to decrease the bobwhite, Becker pointed out, are its predatory enemies, disease, and weather conditions.

Some of the prominent enemies of the quail are stray cats and dogs,

Cooper's hawk, sharp-shinned hawk, wild cat, o'possum, cotton rats, snakes, ticks, redbugs, and red ants.

Quail are very susceptible to poultry diseases and cannot be propagated successfully near chickens. Quail disease, coccidiosis, and blackhead are among the diseases of the bobwhite.

While farmers have no control over the weather, Becker stated, they can provide the quail with food and cover, which will at the same time help to control soil erosion and build up the fertility of the soil as well as add beauty of the farm.
