The DEBUNKER

Although many historians are doubtful whether such a person as Arthur ever lived, others concede that there may have been a British chieftain by that name, but state that his "existence and deeds have very little to do with the origin of the cycle of romances to which his name is given." He is supposed to have lived in the Sixth century and to have been killed at the battle of Camlan. Authentic history, however, does not have any record of his actual existence—much less the existence of his legendary court and "Knights of the Roundtable." WNU Service.

Commercial Truck Base Payments Are Available In 1939

"Commercial Truck" bases can be established in 1939 and a payment earned for all farms that can show an average of several acres for the past three years, according to information released to growers of Carteret today by Farm Agent J. O. Anthony. But, it will be necessary for the farmers to supply a more accurate truck record than in the past when it was not necessary to get acreage of various crops, especially double and triple cropping.

Blanks are available which carry spaces to be filled out by growers of Irish and sweet potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, beans and melons and other crops. Truck farmers are urged to visit the Farm Agent's office in the Federal Building here immediately and supply the data necessary for obtaining the payments, or fill out blanks which have been sent them.

MOLAR OF A MAMMOTH

Charley Salter of Bettie Road Recent Beaufort News Story About Fossils And Then Brought Editor Huge Tooth Found In Adams Creek In 1909

A prehistoric tooth, which Editor Aycock Brown believes or assumes is the molar of a Mammoth, was brought to The Beaufort News office this week by Charley Salter of Bettie. Mr. Salter said that he had owned it since 1909 when it came from the pipes of the old Dredge No. 9, which was cutting the Adams Creek Canal at the time. He brought the tooth to the editor, as a result of reading recent articles in The Beaufort News relative to Carteret fossils. Shown to several people who could not at first identify the fragment of bone, the general consensus was that the object was a tooth at all but instead a piece of petrified wood. But when the roots of the molar and the nerve casements were shown, everyone was convinced that it was a tooth, and a mighty tooth. It measures about five inches wide and three inches from base to point where the roots have been broken off. The editor assumed that it was (Continued on page 8)

Citizens Want Changes Made In Plans For Wharf—Proposed Pier For Federal Building Makes News

WHEN THE U. S. Engineering office sent out the usual Public Notice form advising that plans for the proposed Federal Building pier in Beaufort were completed and asked opinions of navigation interests relative to building of same, local citizens were quick to voice objections. Under the proposed plans the pier would extend 90 feet beyond the harbor line, or that distance from the present location of Inlet Inn pier and other local wharves adjacent to harbor line. Major George Gillette is expected here this week-end to confer with local navigation interests relative to the pier which would be located in front of the new Post Office and Federal building pictured above. Following the conference with Major Gillette, his suggestions will be forwarded Congressman Barden who stated in a telegram to Aycock Brown, Chamber of Commerce Secretary on Friday, that he would co-operate in every way towards having necessary changes made to serve the interests of citizens and navigation generally.—(Eubanks-News Photo.)

EDITORIAL ON PARKWAY IDEA GETS COMMENT

Huntley Says Board Wanted To Have Park Created

An editorial appearing in The Beaufort News last week relative to views on creating through a Legislative Act a park on the south side of Front Street, and especially that area adjoining Front Street extension which will eventually extend to Community Center attracted some attention at any rate, although no one to date has taken a lead in doing anything about the proposal.

Mayor George Huntley stated that it was a very constructive thought, which this newspaper had turned over to the Town Officials for results. As Mayor, he said: "May we graciously return the idea to you with the information that the present town officials did hand to Representative Seelye two years ago a roughly drafted bill, that would have reserved all property east of Queen Street and South of Front Extension to Community Center."

It seems that at the time there were some parties who opposed the measure which if created would have at least saved the waterfront as a place of beauty during the years to come. No action was taken on the activities of the Town Board to have the park created and limited to recreational and educational use.

In the opinion of Mayor Huntley, if Community Center is to be attractive, that the approaches thereto must also be attractive, and if Beaufort is to expect further development of the W. C. U. N. C. Biological School, that Beaufort in turn must protect adjacent waters, shores and marshes for scientific research.

Mayor Huntley further stated that the waterfront idea is fine, a drive to Community Center improved along public park lines (Continued from Page 8)

Relief For Parking Situation In Sight

It won't be long now until the parking situation on Front Street will be relieved considerably, according to a wire received from Congressman Graham A. Barden by Aycock Brown on Tuesday. The wire follows: "President just approved project for improving Front Street in Beaufort involving four thousand and forty-six dollars." Mayor George W. Huntley who has been seeking relief for Beaufort's downtown parking situation since he went into office told Editor a few days ago that the Raleigh office of the WPA had approved a project for widening Front Street from Queen to just east of the new Federal building. The increase will be eight feet. When the work is completed, the new improved and widened area will be used for long time parking, while in the downtown business area limits of 10 to 20 minutes will be enforced.

Covering The Waterfront

SOME UNFINISHED matters for the Town authorities to look into: Erect a "ONE WAY STREET" sign at the intersection of Craven and Ann. Too many people, mostly strangers, are driving into Craven from Ann on a one-way route. A simple and inexpensive sign would solve the problem: Attend to that parking matter on Turner Street near the Courthouse Annex. If cars were allowed to park on only one side of the street, and town officials said they would attend to the situation, it would be possible for trucks which frequently pass that way having more room and a safer route to follow. It seems that something, I don't know what, could be done about "Live Oak Lake" that flooded area after every rain just north of the railroad track on Live Oak Street. I WAS TOLD that the drinking fountains in the corridor at the public school were scrubbed daily by the janitor, so I guess it was (Continued on page 8)
