AUCTION MART MEETING TO BE HELD APRIL 8

All Farmers Urged
To Be Present
At Meeting

All farmers of Carteret County, especially those who grow truck produce and do not want to be faced with low prices this year are urged to attend a meeting at the Courthouse next Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of discussing plans for the operation of The Beaufort Auction Market this season. Farm Agent J. O. Anthony, Produce Auctioneer Bill Sermons, Chamber of Commerce President, C. L. Beam, C. G. Gaskill, C. of C. Committeeman, and other persons interested in cooperating with the farmers will be present.

Farm Agent Anthony is sending out form letters to all produce growers this week-end urging them to attend the meeting. Last year the Auction Mart was not operated successfully. The previous year the market was operated and at a benefit to every farmer who sold his produce through the market. Lack of cooperation between the farmers and poor management resulted in failure during the past year.

Carteret County farmers have everything to gain and nothing to lose if they cooperate this year. If they show the proper spirit and interest, plus cooperation, arrangements will be made with several produce houses to have buyers on the market.

Covering The Waterfront

By AYCOCK BROWN

GUEST COLUMNIST

BECAUSE JIMMIE Guthrie, Harker's Island's fisherman-philosopher always has an interesting tale to tell, we are using his column this week under the caption "Covering the Waterfront." As guest columnist, Jimmie Guthrie offers a suggestion about building a bridge to which this editor heartily agrees. He also tells of other interesting incidents in the vicinity of Cape Lookout.

THE OLD FORT HILL

BY JIMMIE GUTHRIE

NORTH of Cape Lookout Light House may be seen the ruins of the "Old Fort" built way back yonder in 1860 or maybe further back. From this place one sees the ocean that washes the eastern beach, from the Gulf. In the direction of the setting sun one will be looking on that part of the ocean that sweeps down the west. GREEN IS NOT A MIXTURE OF YELLOW AND BLUE

A mixture of blue and yellow pigment will make a green pigment, but a mixture of blue and yellow light will not make a green light. Pigment is not color; it is something which absorbs all the colors of white light except certain ones. An object does not possess color; it only reflects color. Therefore, mixing blue and yellow pigments does not produce green color, but it does produce a mixture of pigments capable of absorbing all the colors of white light except green. If blue and yellow light are mixed, the resulting color may appear blue-gray, fawn, or even white.

Candid Cameraman Shoots Picture Of Efficient Clerk Of Court Deputy

WE DO NOT BELIEVE she knew her picture was being made at the time so when this photo of Mrs. Eva Bravaldo appears in print today she will probably be surprised. Mrs. Bravaldo is the very efficient deputy in the office of L. W. Hassell, clerk of the Carteret Superior Court. All the credit for the recent "capias cleanup" does not go to Sheriff Holland, because both Court Deputy Bravaldo and Clerk Hassell have both played important roles in this war against "court gypers."—(Eubanks-News Photo).

C. S. Long Selected Out Of 332 Agricultural Teachers As The Master Teacher Of This State

POLITICS

Municipal politics continues to hum as new announcements are made this week for the coming election on May 2. Elsewhere in this edition is an advertisement pertaining to the registration of voters. Incidentally, the legislative bill relative to filing fees was ratified in Raleigh this week and becomes a local law.

In this edition are the announcements of candidates who for the most part are seeking re-election to the office they now hold. New candidate for Town Commissioner is C. Z. Chappell. Others seeking re-election to the Town Board include E. H. Potter, J. T. White, C. G. Guthrie and G. M. Paul. If elected the group promise to "take care of the affairs of Beaufort for the best interests of everyone."

Chief Walter R. Longest, who in former elections has proven that he has many friends and supporters who re-elected him to his job, which proves to be a sort of combination police and street and sewer engineer, announces for re-election this week.

Mayor George W. Huntley announces that he is a candidate to succeed himself in this municipal office. He promises to fulfill the "duties of the office to the best interests of the Town."

Other political news of the week in Beaufort is the announcement by Charles E. Case, Sr., that he is withdrawing his candidacy as Town Commissioner.

U. S. Procurement Division Officials Here On Tuesday

T. H. Mahlinan, representative of the U. S. Procurement Division was in Beaufort on Monday night and Tuesday to confer with local citizens about the proposed pier to be constructed on the Federal Building properties here. On Tuesday morning the pier proposals were discussed at length during a meeting in Postmaster W. H. Taylor's office.

Present at the meeting were: George W. Huntley, mayor; Mr. Taylor, postmaster; W. V. B. O'Pter, Beaufort Fisheries, Inc.; R. Hugh Hill, N. B. & C. Line; Capt. Fred Gillikin and James Caffrey, U. S. C. G.; Dr. Herbert F. Prytherch, U. S. Bureau of Fisheries and Aycock Brown, secretary the Chamber of Commerce.

It was Mr. Mahlinan's first visit to Beaufort. He was accompanied by Mrs. Mahlinan. They stopped at The Anchorage while in town.

Announcement Made At Father-Son Banquet

FUTURE FARMERETTES SERVE FINE BANQUET

Future farmers of the New port section with their fathers as honored guests enjoyed a delicious banquet on Friday night, prepared by the "future farmerettes" of Miss Parker's home economics class. A feature of this Father and Son banquet was the announcement by N. B. Chestnut, district supervisor of agricultural education, that C. S. Long, vocational educational teacher of Newport's consolidated school had been selected as North Carolina's "Master Teacher" in this field of work during the past year. In other words C. S. Long of Carteret's only agricultural class was selected out of 332 teachers in the State holding similar positions.

The district supervisor was the principal speaker on the program. He outlined the activities of agricultural work in the school, since vocational work began. He was

Master Teacher

To give the reader an idea of the competition a vocational instructor faces to be classed as "Master Teacher", an honor won during the past year by C. S. Long of the Newport school here is how it is decided: From each of the five districts, one outstanding teacher is selected. In this district there are 60 teachers. Long was the one selected. In the state at large there are 332 teachers. And C. S. Long was the best one of all. As a prize, he will be given an all-expense trip to the National Livestock Show in Chicago.

DEAN JACKSON TO BE GUEST SPEAKER

Tickets for the "Boost Beaufort Barbecue" annual Spring Meeting of the Chamber of Commerce here went on sale early this week, and they have been selling fast. The price of tickets for this event has been increased from the usual 50 or 60 cents charged before to 75 cents and each purchaser is told that all profits derived from the venture will go in the fund to buy new advertising pamphlets for Beaufort. As a result several persons have taken not only one and two but several tickets.

Dr. W. C. Jackson, dean of W. C. U. N. C. will be guest speaker at the barbecue. He will speak briefly. Coming to the coast with Dean Jackson will be C. E. Teague, comptroller, Dr. Shaftesbury and (Continued on Page 8)

Inlet Inn Will Open

Beaufort's hotel facilities will be greatly improved during the coming tourist season. This newspaper upon reliable information has learned that Col. F. S. Dickinson, of Rutherford, N. J., has or will purchase The Inlet Inn, and that considerable improvements will be made in the hostelry which will be leased to Mrs. A. V. Peirson, (the only person who has operated the Inn successfully and at a profit in many years). Features of the new improvements will be additional rooms for guests and the Grade A kitchen and dining room. The improved Inlet Inn which will have approximately 60 rooms will be opened on or before June 1.

MY LITTLE BOY

My little boy is going on three. Since he could first toddle he has followed me eagerly; since he could first talk, he has cried after me each day; "I wanna go widje Daddy." Almost each thing I do in his sight, he tries to do. I am beginning to realize the great care I must exercise in my choice of language; my habits that may come under his observation, my manners, and my conduct, on all occasions. My little boy is already saying, when corrected by his elders: "Daddy does it."

Before I was a father or a husband, I vowed I would make it easy for my boy. Maybe I could raise him so he wouldn't have to work much; so he could have spending money, a good time, fine clothes, so he might move around among the elite—in short to have all the things my childhood denied me. Maybe I could start him on the road to be Governor, or perhaps a great artist, poet, writer, or engineer, or in some other of the high places a boy longs to achieve during the various stages of his adolescence, even as you and I.

But I think I know better. I have no ambitious plans for the life career of my little boy. I believe one thing that is, it will be better for him if he has to work in order to cultivate his industry, and discipline his habits; I believe it (Continued on page 11)

Her Husband Is A Lieutenant And She Is The Daughter Of A General

VACATIONING IN Beaufort last week was Mrs. Ernest Snowden, pictured above on a tandem bike in front of Inlet Inn with her husband, Lieutenant Snowden's young brother, Macon. Mrs. Snowden is the daughter of Major H. H. Arnold, chief, U. S. Army Air Corps and Mrs. Arnold, Washington, D. C. At present she makes her home at Long Beach, California, near the U. S. Navy Air Station where Lieutenant Snowden is stationed. In Beaufort she was the guest of Mrs. Macon Snowden. (NEWS PHOTO).

Legislative Enactments Will Effect This County

C.G. REPORTING TOWER TO OPEN EARLY IN APRIL

Portsmouth Waters To Be Observed By Three Men

Good news to navigation interests, especially fishermen and pleasure boat operators who have to ply the waters in the vicinity of Ocracoke Inlet will be the report that Portsmouth Station will be re-opened in the status of a reporting station for Ocracoke Coast Guard station early in April. This news came to The Beaufort News direct from Commander C. J. Sullivan of Elizabeth City who is commander of the Seventh C. G. District.

"Three men will be assigned to Portsmouth Station for the purpose of keeping track of the boats going in and out of Ocracoke Inlet and to keep the active Ocracoke Station advised of all distress cases and of vessels in need of assistance while engaged in fishing or pleasure, so that the fine equipment maintained at Ocracoke Station can be gotten into action at a moment's notice from the excellent shelter provided at Silver Lake, to the scene in quick action," Commander Sullivan stated.

Ever since Portsmouth Station was decommissioned, the Beaufort Chamber of Commerce has been active in getting the unit, located on the northern tip of Core Banks, made active again. The local civic organization has received excellent cooperation in its efforts from Congressman Graham A. Barden, Commander Sullivan, Capt. Jim Morris and others.

B. H. S. Glee Club Entering District Contest Saturday

The Beaufort High School music students will take part in the District Music Contest and Festival which will be held in New Bern Saturday, April 1st. Carteret County is one of seven counties which will be represented in this festival. The other counties being Green, Lenoir, Craven, Pamlico, Onslow and Jones.

Beaufort High School music department will enter three events. The Girls' Glee Club will sing, "Hark! Hark! the Lark," by Franz Schubert; the Girls' Trio will sing, "The Robin in the Rain," by Noble Cain and Elwood Edwards will render a baritone (horn) solo, "Fantasie Concertante" by Carl von Weber. Racing Bill Passes House; ABC Plan Adopted

Law Passed Taxing Non-Resident Crews

Carteret's Representative Fred R. Seeley who did not introduce many bills at the beginning of the current edition of the State Legislature, has surely been making up for lost time as the Law Making conclave nears an end.

Since last week he has introduced and gotten passed in the House measure which provides for a referendum in Morehead City to permit dog and horse racing and pari-mutuel betting; legislation pertaining to cuts in the ABC receipts for the municipalities in which liquor stores are located and many other new laws.

Tax On Fishermen
Creating most unfavorable comment locally was a bill which has been ratified into law taxing non-resident crew members of menhaden boats $5 each. The bill was passed and ratified before local business interests began to realize that it would primarily hit the Fish Meal Company which has for the past several years conducted and is at present conducting a vast expansion program at their plant in West Beaufort.

While it is true that similar taxes have been in effect in Georgia and Florida on crew members, local business interests would have worked hard to prevent the passage of the bill if they had given it thoughtful earlier. Some say it is discriminatory to the better interest (Continued on Page 8)

Sam Neese Landed 40 1/2 Lb. Channel Bass At Hatteras

Sam Neese of Hatteras landed the first channel bass of the season in waters adjacent to that village on the Outer Banks last Sunday, while Johnny Mack, Red and Gun columnist, and Capt. Smith sports editor of Pittsburgh (Pa.) Press, Dick Shubert, Pittsburgh insurance man, Bill Sharpe, state news bureau director, and J. L. Kyles of Albany, N. Y., stood by and looked on, according to a letter received by Tom Eaton of the Hatteras Development Company who was acting as host to the Pittsburghers, and who also saw the fish, a 40 1/2 pounder landed.

With the catch of that channel bass, Eaton thought his party were in luck, and a few minutes later every man in the party was holding a rod. But unfavorable weather—a strong southwester was blowing—prevented the landing of any more fish, although there were other strikes. That was the only (Continued on page 8)

LANDING FIELD RUNWAY IS NOW READY FOR USE

Planes Can Land Or Take Off In Four
Directions

At practically no cost, Beaufort and the Carteret coast is now provided with an excellent aviation landing field. This has been brought about through the efforts of Earl Taylor, local aviation enthusiast, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce, which has been working hard to establish facilities on the Carteret coast to take care of visiting airplanes. Incidentally, it has been through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, that the Roanoke Island Flying Service has agreed to establish a charter plane service here at an early date to connect with Ocracoke and Hatteras and the island of Roanoke at Manteo.

The Chamber of Commerce had no funds with which to make improvements in a landing field. As a matter of fact the organization had no property on which to provide the facilities. The West Beaufort development, which has been used as a sort of emergency field by visiting planes for many years was the only place. It was not necessary to make any major changes in the properties, because the field grown up in grass was already ideal, due to its flat surface. All that was necessary was to cut out the northeast-southwest runway, by filling a couple of ditches and grading the rougher sections. The northwest-southeast runway was already in excellent condition. (Continued on Page 8)

Fishing And All Outdoors

By AYCOCK BROWN

TWO OR THREE weeks ago this column offered the suggestion to fresh water fishermen coming to Eastern Carolina streams, that they pack a rifle or revolver in their outfit with which to shoot alligators. The column upon good authority stated that many Eastern Carolina farmers complained about the 'gators killing their livestock. So if the fresh water fisherman would pack a gun or traps

FIRST CHANNEL BASS

First channel bass of season taken with rod and reel on North Carolina coast was landed at Cape Hatteras Point on March 23, by Capt. Bernice Ballance, retired Coast Guard officer of Buxton, to Eastern Carolina streams they could mix in a bit of shooting with casting. After writing that section (Continued on page 8)

TIDE TABLE

Information as to the tide at Beaufort is given in this column. The figures are approximately correct and are based on tables furnished by the U. S. Geodetic Survey. Some allowances must be made for variations in the wind and also with respect to the locality, that is whether near the inlet or at the head of the estuaries.
