Newport Junior-Senior Cruise

The annual cruise of the Newport Juniors and Seniors was made Saturday April 15th, on Capt. John Dickinson's good ship Idle On. Leaving Beaufort around 9 A. M., the cruise this year led to Cape Lookout. Destination was finally reached after encountering many sand bars on the way necessitating many by-way excursions. Despite these delays a tempting lunch was waiting upon their arrival. After this, games, a tour of the Lighthouse and other places of interest was made.

Capt. Dickinson stated that this was his fourth trip with classes from Newport. He said that he always looked forward with pleasure to take out classes from this school as they were orderly and well behaved.

Those enjoying the trip were—Seniors: Billie Roberts, Leon Owen Garner, James Garner, James Quinn, Reginald Lewis, William McCabe, Clyde Garner, Melvin Garner, Edgar Hibbs, Monroe Garner, Marie Pringle, Clara Watson, Geraldine Worthington, Idell Garner, Ada Gray, Lucille Gould, Maggie Cannon, Lula Mann, Vera Lee Murdoch, Anne Garner, Myrtle Williams, Doris Bell, Dorothy Garner, Elizabeth Lilly, Annette Bell, Barbara Elliott, Margaret Rowe.

Juniors: Jack Bell, Bobby Garner, Harvey Garner, Walton Garner, Bill Gould, Gerald Murdoch, Roland Murdoch, Vernon Tolson, George Rhodes, Billie Bell, Quinton Haskett, Arlene Garner, Betty Garner, Catherine Garner, Janie Locke, Mary Culpepper, Elsie McCain, McColla Elliott, Lilly Dale Garner, Joyce Garner, Rowena Winberry, Thelma Oglesby, Virginia Walsee, Mary McCabe.

High School Faculty and invited guests: Mr. R. L. Pruitt, C. S. Long, Jack Richards, Lucille Parker, Minnie Johnston, Matilda Gaskill, Mrs. C. S. Long.

FISHING & OUTDOORS

(Continued from page one) them off beyond the whistle buoy. Proof that they are off there in the Gulf was that catch of Hugo Rutherford, some 60 nautical miles to the northeast of Lookout Whistle buoy, last summer. If Capt. Mel Eldard and the Bonoff party are big game fishermen, I believe, if they properly exploit that ledge of the Continental Divide, or Hundred Fathom Curve, about 15 miles due east of the Whistle buoy, which is less than 30 miles from Beaufort—they will make piscatorial history.

THANKING CAPT. Willis for sending me the dope about the foregoing party I sent him a scale from the Silver King which was landed by netters just south of Newport river bridge last Saturday. I autographed the scale and gave the date it was caught. My friend, the late Kalbfleisch who fished so consistently at Ocracoke for many years, used to send his friends autographed scales of big channel bass. And that is an idea some of you guides can use in your letters to prospective parties. Send them a channel bass scale possibly from a 50-pounder and write that fact on the scale like this "scale from 50-pounder landed in surf here recently." It would be a splendid buildup and help put you across, especially if the party happened to be new on your list. Those commercial fishermen catching a tarpon in Newport river sort of made news in the Carteret sector. The oldest resident could not remember a silver king or tarpon, being landed in the river during former years.

THERE ARE tarpon galore in the waters of North Carolina's coast. The reason so few are landed with rod and reel is because no one fishes for them with the proper tackle. Less than a dozen have been landed with rod and reel on the North Carolina coast during the past 12 years. That is my observation, if I am wrong, I hope someone pops right up and tells me so. I would be glad to know that I was wrong. The late Dr. Dave Taylor of Washington landed a beauty down in Pamlico sound during 1927. It was the first one, insofar as I know that was ever landed with rod and reel in North Carolina.

coast with the late Senator Joe Robinson of Arkansas. They had been fishing off in the graveyard of the Atlantic all day long and had arrived at Pamlico Inn dock just in time to see an Ocracoke square dance get underway. The late Simie O'Neal came up to shake hands with Congressman Warren who in turn said, "Simie, I want you to meet my friend Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas." Simie extended his hand and said "Howdy Joe" and then continued his conversation with the First District Congressman.

SEVERAL PEOPLE have asked me who made that beautiful picture which illustrated my fishing column in the News and Observer last Sunday. If you saw it and if you are interested, the photographer was Fred Steadman of High Point, who from my way of thinking has some of the best action pictures of fish and fishing ever made—especially on the North Carolina coast.

GET SET FOR the opening of the first annual state sponsored surf casting contest which begins on May 1. Entry blanks for your fish, (blues or channel bass) may be obtained from The Beaufort News office in Beaufort or the Dare County Times office in Manteo. They will also be available at most of the inns along the coast and especially at the official headquarters of each district.

IF YOU WANT some really fine fishing, be on the lookout for the "tide runners", which some of you are already calling ultra large trout or weakfish which usually show up about May 1. They will be making their appearance in the vicinity of bridges on the Carteret coast, (Beaufort channel and Newport River) and in the vicinity of the screwpile lights of Pamlico Sound. The time to catch them is on the flood tide and for the first two hours of the ebb. You will probably be using shrimp for bait if you fish in the vicinity of Beaufort channel and Newport river, but if you make the trip out to Bluff Shoal light, Hatteras Inlet light, and possibly Croatan light, take shrimp only for the purpose of chumming. As your fish appear, and they will appear when conditions are favorable, use a chromium plate squid, about two or three inches in length with a 4-0 or 5-0 hook. If you don't have the most elegant sport you have ever had with fish, if they are biting and show up in the "tide-runner size" then you had better get a tarpon rig and go after silver kings—or maybe a marlin.
