"He Never Harmed Anyone" LITTLE BOY MARKS GRAVE OF PET

WHEN A LITTLE BOY loses his pet dog it brings about a situation which is touching to even the most hard-hearted person. When anyone loses a pet dog, as a matter of fact, it will cast a pall of gloom over the entire household in which the pet lived. Recently in Beaufort many people have lost their dogs, and according to reports, they were poisoned by some person or persons unknown. If the person who has been responsible for the death of the dogs will look at the above picture, they will probably think twice before poisoning the next one. The picture shows the grave of "Billy" the late Setter owned by John Duncan, son of Graham W. Duncan, the prominent real estate and insurance broker here. Reading the epitaph is Horace Loftin Jr. (BEAUFORT NEWS PHOTO by Aycock.)

"Man's Best Friend" —By Senator Vest"

Editor's Note: In view of the fact that many persons have lost their pet dogs recently, The Beaufort News prints today the famous jury speech of Senator Vest. He once represented in court, a man whose dog was shot without provocation and who sued for $200 damages. The speech to the jury has gone down as one of the judicial classics. It follows:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The dog that a man has, he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it the most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him and the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. "Gentlemen of the Jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounters with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death."

The jury, after two minutes deliberation, awarded the plaintiff, Senator Vest's client, damages of $500.

Many Events Planned For Gladiolus Festival Here

Auction Mart Gives Tomato Growers Luck

With tomato picking started this week the Beaufort Auction Market opened on Tuesday and prices increased from an average of ninety cents and one dollar per bushel to an average of $1.50 to $1.60 for the day and a high of $2.20. Four buyers were present on opening day and their desire to have tomatoes for their packing sheds caused an immediate spurt in the market. On Wednesday, a rainy day, prices continued good with an average of $1.40 to $1.55 with a top price of $2. It all goes to show that through the operation of the Beaufort Auction Market, the producers are getting a break.

Close observers of the market and tomato growing generally are convinced that Carteret farmers can get better prices for their tomatoes than ever before if they will stick together, sell only through the Auction Market, and not sell to transient trucks or buyers. Incidentally the farmer who sells through the market is assured that if the buyer pays by check, that the check is good. Buyers on the Beaufort market this year are paying for the privilege to buy. The Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring the Auction Market determines definitely the financial status of a buyer before the privilege is granted. G. W. Huntley Ships First Car Load Of Tomatoes By Rail

George W. Huntley who started packing tomatoes this year before any other grower started harvesting, also shipped the first solid car load to leave Beaufort by rail this season. His car load moved on Wednesday and was assigned to a produce firm in New York. Other car loads were expected to move today and before another week passes, with favorable weather for picking and packing, there will be several such consignments leaving by rail over the Beaufort and Morehead City Railroad tracks to connecting lines each day. With the largest acreage in the history of Carteret devoted to tomatoes this year, it is likely that rail shipments which are always heavy, will reach a new high before the season is over.

Colorful Program Will Continue 3 Full Days

First Annual Gladiolus Festival of Beaufort will begin next Friday (June 23) with a parade that will feature local and visiting musical organizations, a kiddie parade, and floats of local firms and communities of Carteret. The complete program, subject to last minute changes follow:

Friday, June 23

AQUACADE

Twelve members of the Goldsboro Swimming Association will stage a miniature aquacade during the first Annual Gladiolus Festival in Beaufort, Friday afternoon, June 23rd at 1:30 o'clock. The water pageant will take place at Inlet Inn wharf.

Goldsboro swimmers have won national recognition since their organization three years ago. They are holders of the Carolinas A. A. U. championship, the High School team has won the State High School title at Duke University for the past three years. Swimmers of the organization have appeared in meets and exhibitions in the following out of the state cities: Richmond, Va., New York City, Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Harrison, N. J., Atlanta, Ga. and Sumpter, S. C.

Among the swimmers in the group the following are expected to participate in the exhibition here: Elizabeth Hawley, Lessie Pratte Mallard, Prince Nufer, Shirley Lancaster, Hortense Liles, Marie Crone, and Betty Michaux. Ed. Shumate, Bill Nufer, Herman Pate, Buddy Crone, S. Simmons, and Ben Ward.

SUPERIOR COURT

Judge Williams Has Tried Many Cases On Docket

Many cases have been tried before Judge Clawson Williams who is presiding over the June Term of Superior Court here this week. Next week, second of the term will be devoted to hearing civil actions. Some of the defendants found guilty have been sent to prison. LeRoy Guthrie, arrested on charges of operating gambling devices (slot machines) posted a $500 bond for his appearance at the October term of superior court of this county. Early in the week in his charge to the grand jury, Judge Williams outlawed all types of slot machines which did not give a nickle worth of something for nickle placed in the slot. As a result nothing but music boxes are left in the county—the aviation, skating, baseball, numbers and other games of so-called "skill" were annihilated in a hurry, and some people are wondering if the nickle music is worth more than one or two cents per record.

For forgery, Andrew Abney was sent to State Prison for a period of not less than two nor more than four years.

Dan Merrill was given six months on the road for resisting an officer.

Henry Rick's drew two years on roads when convicted of charges of abandonment.

John Tillery drew a 6-months suspended sentence for seduction upon payment of the costs, which were not paid so judgment was that a nisi sci fa be issued for him. If she remains of good behavior and stays sober, Alice Fisher will not have to serve a 12 months suspended sentence for breaking and entering.

The second degree murder charge against J. W. Watson, a case which has been on the docket for sometime or before the Supreme court was not proessed with leave.

ART EXHIBITION OPENS SATURDAY

Beaufort Exhibition of Art opens in Community Center building, two miles east of Beaufort on Saturday, June 17. It will continue through August 15. Miss Frances Morgan is manager of the Exhibition and she has been busy this week hanging the paintings which have arrived from all parts of the United States.

FEATURE OF FESTIVAL. The Goldsboro Junior Drum and Bugle Corp under the direction of J. Robert Moore, director of music in the Wayne Capital will be one of the outstanding features of the Gladiolus Festival Parade in Beaufort on Friday, June 23. This group of youngsters form one of the outstanding drum and bugle corps in America. Not one but five beautiful drum-majorettes lead the group while they drill.

Two Very Attractive Girls— WITH TWO VERY LARGE CABBAGE—

DOWN HERE IN Coastal Carteret its—cabbages and 'queens,'—as the above photo proves. The cabbage combined weighed a total of 16 pounds. They were grown on the farm of Manley Springle, near Beaufort. The queens, (and that gag-line was borrowed from Alice in Wonderland—remember?) are Miss Hattie Styron and Miss Ruth Lewis. Both are Soil Conservation Association employees in the office of Farm Agent J. O. Anthony, (Beaufort News Photo by Aycock.)

BAILEY TO SECURE BIG SUM FOR WATERWAYS IN STATE

Between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 Expected to Be Provided For Improvements —Commerce Committee, With Tar Heel As Chairman To Report Measure

Washington, June 15.—The senate commerce committee of which Senator J. W. Bailey, of North Carolina, is chairman, expects to be in a position to report out the river and harbor bill next week. The appropriations for North Carolina will probably total between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000, and provide for a variety of improvements in sea-going waterways.

Some of the contemplated improvements had previously received the approval of the house committee, but a number of the more important projects have been tentatively sanctioned by the senate committee and, with respect to rivers and harbors, may be regarded as the first fruits—in a big way—of Senator Bailey's efforts as chairman of this most important senatorial body.

While navigation has received constant attention, flood control has not been neglected. Last year the Tar river channel was cleaned out as a flood control measure, and the same thing is to be done this year with respect to the Neuse river. It was also recalled today that one of the accomplishments of last year, in which Senator Bailey took the initiative, was that of making permanent the Drum inlet.

Projects Planned. As approved by the engineers, and favorably passed upon by the senate committee, the following improvements have been planned for the current year: Pamlico Sound to Arm, N. C., $16,500; thoroughfare Baygeacader Bay Channel, N. C., $20,000; Beaufort Harbor, N. C., $54,000; Manteo to Oregon Inlet, N. C., $45,000; Silver Lake Harbor, N. C., $60,000; Cape Fear river, N. C., at and below

Barden and Warren Active On Project

Taking the leading roles in getting the proposed waterway projects listed in this story underway, were Representative Graham A. Barden for his District and Representative Lindsey Warren in his District. Both fought hard to get the improvements approved by Congress.

low Wilmington, and to insure a depth of 32 feet and an enlarged harbor, $790,000; Cape Fear river to St. John's river in coastal waterway, anchorage basin near Myrtle Beach, S. C., $11,000; inland waterway from Norfolk, Va., to Beaufort, N. C., $39,000; Chowan river, N. C., and Blackwater river, Va., $135,000; channel from

Pamlico Sound to Rodanthe, N. C., $5,000; channel from Edenton bay into Pembroke Creek, N. C. $9,500; Rollinson Channel, N. C., $27,000; Swan Quarter bay waterway, N. C., $22,500; Cape Fear river

IN THREE HOURS Dave Driskill could have taken me to Bermuda, in his airplane. But then Beaufort is as far as I chose to travel at one stretch in a plane, so I go by car to Western North Carolina. In the same length of time I could have driven to the shores of Lake Erie, or Newport, Rhode Island, Columbus, Ohio, Knoxville, Tennessee, Atlanta, Georgia, or Jacksonville, Florida. IF AND BUT. I was going to see my wife who with the two boys is visiting her parents in Iredell County, so last Tuesday I set forth, taking with me Capt. Herman Smith, seafaring man, but who refused to drive a foot in the mountains. And that is how I happened to be in the mountains and out to Murphy, where I have been before. AND I WOULD say to anyone who wishes to travel, he should travel in North Carolina awhile before going to many other places. North Carolina is a great state. It is about 700 miles across it. Its interests are diversified. Its western end more remote from Raleigh, than it is from the Capitals of Georgia, South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia; its industry and commerce as completely distinct from that of eastern Carolina as is that of New York or Arkansas. And the people of its distant west are of different stock and outlook, altho hospitable and progressive. (Continued on Page 2)

TIDE TABLE

Information as to the tide at Beaufort is given in this column. The figures are approximately correct and are based on tables furnished by the U. S. Geodetic Survey. Some allowances must be made for variations in the wind and also with respect to the locality, that is whether near the inlet or at the head of the estuaries.
