Thousands Pay Honor To Congressman Warren At Ocracoke This Week

Principal Speaker At Banquet On Monday

Swept off his feet by a testimonial banquet that came as a climax to the opening day of Hyde County's celebration on Ocracoke Island and of Lindsey Warren Week, Congressman Warren groped for words to express his emotions on Monday night as the plaudits of nearly 300 people sitting in on the banquet subsided and then finally gave it up as an impossible task and proceeded to tell the people who were gathered to pay him homage some of the things that have been done and are being done for the coastland.

"The people of the coast of North Carolina," he declared, in concluding his talk, "are intimately associated with the various agencies of the Federal government, to a large extent more so than with the State government because the Federal government has come directly to them. All of these have been accomplished through great effort and work. If I have in any

Covering The Waterfront

By AYCOCK BROWN

A FEW YEARS ago it took me three days to make the trip from Beaufort to Ocracoke Island due to stormy weather. First day of the three was spent in getting to Atlantic and learning that the mailboat had not run due to rough waters. It was necessary to stop overnight at an Atlantic Inn. The mailboat failed to show up the following day so during the afternoon I took passage on a commercial fish boat which was going as far as Portsmouth. It was almost night when we reached Portsmouth and it was necessary to stop overnight there with friends who assured me that on the following morning I could get passage across the Inlet to Ocracoke aboard a Coast Guard or fishing boat. Early the next

Now AND Then

by VICTOR MEEKINS

I have just ended a drive of 400 miles. While a curious public travelled to Dare's beaches and filled every available room, largely because the First Lady of the Land visited this county, I was paying a visit to a young woman four days old in the perfect pink of condition and weighing six and a half pounds.

As one approaches his two score and two, he begins to have a feeling that about all the thrills of life are exhausted. In this crowded today, one soon experiences so many things, that little is left to look forward to. But I had not taken into account the thrill of being the father of a daughter for the first time.

Nothing I had anticipated is just like it. To look at this little mote of humanity wailing for her lunch with great eagerness and to realize the pride of the mother, who has seen her fondest hopes come true after mothering two sons, gives me much to think about. This new experience seems a little more or at least a little different than seeing two sons grow up. It is a challenge.

TWO BEAUFORT BOATS WON IN RACES ON 4TH

M. City Waterfront Lined With Many Thousands

Graham Duncan, Jr., sailing the "I Like It" in the sharpie contest was winner and Luther Paul of Beaufort in the open class also sailed to victory in the annual Fourth of July races sponsored by the Morehead City Boat Club. Thousands of persons lined the waterfront to witness the races.

R. A. Thompson, of Kinston won first place in the cruising class division, defeating Commodore Gib Arthur by hardly more than the length of a bowsprit. Thompson was driving the "May Dare" and Arthur the "Gibbie Ann."

Charles Norton of Durham, captured first place in the comet class with the "Pop Eye" and Billy Hines took second place. Miss Virginia Pou who recently sailed her boat to victory in the Gladius Festival races in Beaufort, came in third place in the comet events.

Gerald Davis of Morehead City sailed his dead-rise skiff to victory with Leonard Smith coming in second. Davis recently won in a similar event at the Gladius Festival races.

Jack Jackson aboard the "River Rat" was second place winner in the open class which was won by Luther Paul and Bullet Thornton driving the "Bullet" sailed second in the Sharpie contest won by Duncan.

Joe Bailey, of Raleigh, won in the handicap division with Mondell Salter sailing second.

Funeral Held For Seymour Guy Sunday

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at the late home at Smyrna for Seymour Joseph Guy, 68, who passed away Friday of a heart attack at Potter's Emergency Hospital. Rev. W. B. Sprinkle, pastor of the Baptist church there, conducted the services. Interment was in the local cemetery near the Guy home.

Mr. Guy, who was of English descent and was a Captain of the New York fire department prior to his retirement 20 years ago, at which time he moved to Carteret county and built a home at Smyrna. His wife died at Smyrna about 17 years ago.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Tom Potter, two grandchildren, two sisters, Miss Jamie Guy and Mrs. A. Weinheimer of New York City.

Fisheries Board Meets On Monday

The Fisheries Board of the Department of Conservation and Development will meet in the municipal building in Morehead City on next Monday, it has been announced by Commissioner. The session will continue for two days. First called by Capt. John A. Nelson, Fish-day of the meeting will be devoted to hearing complaints of fishermen who wish amendments or new rules relative to fishing laws.

Major Armstrong Vacationing Here

Major Armstrong and Mrs. Armstrong of Raleigh are vacationing at The Manson House. Major Armstrong is head of the State Highway Patrol in this State. He stated today that at present the patrol has 120 members but 50 new members will be added to the patrol at an early date. At present 100 men are in training at Hendersonville from which 50 will be selected as new members of the patrol.

Department Of Conservation Officials To Meet In Morehead City On Monday July 10

OFFICIALS OF THE N. C. Department of Conservation and Development, pictured above aboard the patrol boat Hatteras will have their annual summer meeting in Morehead City on Monday and Tuesday, July 10 and 11. The first day of the session will be for the purpose of hearing suggestions relative to changes in fishing laws and rules from fishermen throughout the coastland. Usually large delegations attend these meetings. On Tuesday routine business such as reports from department heads of the Conservation Department will be given.—(News and Observer Photo by Chas. Falling Mast Kills Leon Willis Monday

Leon Willis, 35, of Salter Path was fatally injured Monday when the mast broke aboard the fishing boat Charmer and struck him in the head. He was rushed to the local hospital for medical attention but died a short time later.

The Charmer was fishing in Bogue Sound when the accident happened. The crew were bailing the fish from the net when the mast to which the hoisting gear is attached, suddenly snapped knocking Willis to the deck with terrific force. His skull was crushed and other bones broken.

The Charmer is owned and operated by Wallace Fisheries of Morehead City and is one of a number of boats operated by the firm in local and Florida waters.

Willis is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rebecca Smith Willis, and four children.

PEOPLE HERE DO NOT CARE FOR EXHIBIT

Art Exhibition May Be Moved Into Beaufort

People hereabouts do not care for art exhibits. That is what one would judge at any rate considering the lack of patronage shown by local people to the exhibit down at Community Center. Since it opened on June 17, less than a dozen Beaufort people have been down to see the paintings. As a matter of fact more people from other states have visited the exhibit than local people or residents of North Carolina towns and cities.

The trouble may be that the exhibit is located too far away from town. At the present time Chamber of Commerce officials are considering the feasibility of moving the exhibit into Beaufort. If brought to town, it will probably be placed in a local firm near Front Street and admission will be free.

Before leaving for the West Coast last Saturday Professor Ivy gave some interesting criticisms on the exhibit.

Ivy's Criticism.

The First Annual Beaufort Exhibition is made up of twenty-seven paintings, representing artists from the West Coast, the Middle West and the South. The largest number came from the South. The usual flower paintings found in so many southern exhibitions in the past are not to be found here—not even one magnolia. At least two of the painters, Mary Leach Stewart and Mary Burgess are interested in the racial and social problem of the industrial areas. In only a few instances are these people interested in frankly picturesque mater-

Admission Prices To Casino Lowered

Admission prices for the Wednesday and Saturday night dances in Atlantic Beach Casino have been reduced since July 4. The Wednesday night dance admission will be 80 cents in the future and the Saturday night dances will be $1.10. This is expected to meet with popular favor among patrons of the Casino which has been leased this year by Jack Wardlaw who is presenting his Rolling Rhythm Orchestra at the dances.

WHALE DIES

The Killer Whale which was on exhibit at The Shark Pen near Beaufort Draw Bridge died last night, The Beaufort News was advised as we go to press today. Had the whale lived many persons would have visited the pen, because it was a real curiosity.

BEAUFORT WON FROM KINSTON

Ed Potter Broke Deadlock In Twelfth

If you failed to witness the baseball game here last Sunday you missed one of the best games ever played on the local diamond. It was tight like that from beginning to finish and anyone's game for eleven innings.

For eight innings there was not an error and only 2 hits, both sides playing air-tight ball. There were several snappy and thrilling plays by both sides and it was only until the 12 that the visiting pitcher weakened and C. Rice was safe on first and was sacrificed to second by Longest and scored on Ed Potter's single.

If you want to see the good ones you have to attend all of the games to do so. The local team has played six games so far and won 5 of them which is no bad record.

Whales And Sails Taken On Coast Of Carteret

After a 55-minute battle in the Gulf Stream off Cape Hatteras Monday morning, the second and biggest blue marlin ever taken north of Bimini was landed by Marshall Dana of Cincinnati who was fishing with Hugo Rutherford aboard his new cruiser Mako II. While blue marlin was making news in the Hatteras sector, E. E. Crow, Wilson banker was getting on the front page in Carteret County as a result of capturing a 60-pound sailfish off Cape Lookout while fishing aboard Owen G. Dunn's boat. On the same day, killer whales swam into the spotlight in Carteret and out of a school of five or six two or three were landed, one of which was towed into Beaufort and placed on display at the "Shark Pen" near Beaufort draw.

The great fish landed by Dana of Cincinnati measured 13 feet two inches in length and weighed 594 pounds, shattering by a wide margin the old record of 439 pounds made by Rutherford who landed his marlin last year, the first ever taken off North Carolina. Other dimensions of Dana's marlin were: Girth, 62 inches.

Fishing And All Outdoors

FISHING OFF the North Carolina coast during the past week was worthy of front page news throughout the country. Marshall Dana of Cincinnati and the blue marlin he landed off Hatteras Inlet was the biggest news of the week—and his marlin, a 594 pounder was the biggest of its species ever taken north of Cuban waters. He was fishing with Lloyd Styron, widely known Hatteras guide aboard the Mako II, new deep-sea cruiser owned by Hugo Rutherford of New Jersey. Their successful venture into the Gulf Stream Monday was their first trip out this season.

E. B. CROW of Wilson, made the initial catch of sailfish off Cape Lookout this week. It is, I believe the first sailfish ever taken with rod and reel off North Carolina. Crow was fishing from aboard the Mary Lou II, fishing cruiser owned by Owen G. Dunn.

IN THE OCRACOKE section huge cabio were being landed by anglers early in the week. The

TIDE TABLE

Information as to the tide at Beaufort is given in this column. The figures are approximately correct and are based on tables furnished by the U. S. Geodetic Survey. Some allowances must be made for variations in the wind and also with respect to the locality, that is whether near the inlet or at the head of the estuaries.
