State Has Received $8,149,604.76 From Beer Industry Taxes

Raleigh, April 28.—The Beer industry has contributed $8,149,604.76 in taxes to the state of North Carolina and its various political subdivisions since it was legalized by the 1933 legislature.

According to figures compiled by the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee, the State collected $6,777,854.76; the counties accounted for $993,750; and the cities and towns $337,500 for the period ended March 31.

For the first quarter of 1941, the State collected $306,275.80 in taxes, distributed among these three months as follows: January $75,615.41; February $92,892.70; and March $137,857.69.

These totals do not include the taxes paid by the North Carolina legal beer industry to the federal government. Federal taxes amounted to $1,657,333.42 for the calendar year of 1940, and it is probable the total taxes paid to the U. S. government since beer was re-legalized in North Carolina exceeded $7,000,000.

The tax on beer has become an important source of income for the state. It has risen from $183,102.37, which was collected in beer taxes by the state for the calendar year of 1933, the first year beer was permitted to be sold under the Franchise act of 1933, to present important economic status.

Lard

Prices of lard during the coming year probably will be strengthened by Government purchases under the recently announced program for support and stabilization of hog prices.

Tar Heel farmers received a cash income of $35,026,000 from cotton and cottonseed in 1940, or $7 per cent more than in 1939, the State Department of Agriculture reports.

SEED SHORTAGE IS THREATENED

Farmers Can Increase Income By Growing Legume Seed

A seed shortage is imminent in the United States and A. D. Stuart, seed specialist of N. C. State College, says an opportunity is offered alert farmers of North Carolina to supplement their income by saving grass and legume seed.

Joe Koonce of Jones County, a senior in agricultural education and editor of the "Agriculturist" magazine at State College, interviewed Stuart on the subject. The seed specialist said that seed supplies of several grasses and legumes can be produced economically in North Carolina.

"With increased emphasis on pastures and soil-conserving crops" the student was told, "North Carolina farmers will need more grass and legume seed to meet their soil-building requirements under the Agricultural Conservation Program."

"Importation difficulties caused by the European War have reduced the supply of many of the seed which originally were shipped into this country in large amounts from Continental Europe," Stuart continued. "Taking these two facts into consideration, there will probably be a shortage of many of the grass and legume seed. This will result in higher seed prices unless suitable sources of these seed are developed at home."

The State College specialist recommended that rye grass, orchard grass, Kentucky bluegrass, white clover, red clover, alsike clover, crimson clover, low hop clover and hairy vetch seed be saved by North Carolina farmers. Dallis grass is another important pasture crop in the State, but locally-grown seed have a low germination due to disease. Consequently, the saving of Dallis grass seed is not recommended in North Carolina.

13 Per Cent Of Southern Timber Is Destroyed

Destructive mortality accounts for 13 per cent of the drain on living timber in the South, says E. W. Graeber, Extension forester of N. C. State College. The destructive forces are chiefly fire, insects, disease and wind.

"Timber farming is a real industry in the Southern states," Graeber said, "but it can be a greater and higher income-producing industry if care is taken to control destructive forces."

Recent data compiled by the U. S. Forest Service and other agencies shows that 40 per cent of the timber used in the South is made into lumber. Another 29 per cent goes for fuel wood, 4 per cent for hewed cross ties, 4 per cent for pulpwood, 3 per cent for fence posts, and 7 per cent for other uses by man.

North Carolina, a typical Southern state, has more than 10 million acres of farm woodland, or more than 50 per cent of the total farm acreage. Another million and a quarter acres of idle land can and should be returned to forests through planting, the Extension specialist stated.

"We in North Carolina can use our woodland more advantageously

CARELESSNESS AND SPEED ARE GRIM REAPERS

Death, Suffering And Sorrow Are The Price Paid

North Carolina streets and highways ran red with the blood of traffic accident victims last month, as the death toll showed an 81 per cent increase over that of last March, the Highway Safety Division reported this week.

Records of the division list 90 traffic deaths last month, against 53 for March, 1940. This is the greatest increase on record in this state. The traffic toll for the first three months of this year was 275 persons killed, against 188 killed in the same period last year, an increase of 46 per cent.

Fifty of the 100 counties, showed increases over the first quarter of last year. Twenty-three counties, were not charged with a traffic death during the entire three months period. Carteret had 2 fatal accidents the first quarter 1940 and 2, 1st quarter 1941.

The worst counties included Columbus, which had 11 traffic deaths the first quarter of this year, against none for the same period last year; Wake County, with a death toll of 18 this year, against three last year; Pender with six this year against none the first quarter of last year; Rockingham, with six this year against one last year, and Mecklenburg, with 15 this year, against 12 last year.

"These shocking figures challenge every citizen of our state and every agency having anything to do with accident prevention to devote more time, more thought and more hard work to the accident problem than ever before," declared Ronald Hœut, director of the Highway Safety Division.

Traffic deaths in the 20-24 age group showed an even 100 per cent increase, from 22 the first quarter of last year to 44 the first quarter of this year. Fatalities among children under ten years of age also were up nearly 100 per cent, from ten last year to 19 this year. Of the 275 persons killed, 211 were males.

Large increases were noted in the number of persons killed in railroad crossing crashes, bicycle accidents, pedestrian accidents, and in cars that struck fixed objects or ran off the roadway. The first-quarter toll was as follows: Pedestrians, 81 this year, 54 last year; railroad train, 24 this year, 45 last year; bicycle, 11 this year, 4 last year; fixed objects, 22 this year, 6 last year; overturned in roadway, 18 this year, 17 last year; other non-collision accidents, 7 this year, 5 last year. Only 11 of the March fatalities occurred in cities of over 10,000 population. For the first quarter, only 36 persons were killed in the 28 cities, against 37 for the first quarter of 1940.

ANSWERS To Timely Farm Questions

QUESTION: What is the object of the national campaign to produce more eggs?

ANSWER: The call which Secretary of Agriculture Wickard has made for increased egg production is a part of the United States determination to assure ample food supplies for this country, Great Britain, and other nations resisting aggression. The campaign aims for an increase of six per cent in the next 15 months, or about 10,000,000 cases of 30 dozen eggs each.

QUESTION: When should colts be weaned?

ANSWER: Fred M. Haig, professor of animal husbandry at State College, says colts should be taken away from the mare when four to six months old. When three or four weeks old, colts will nibble at grain and hay in the mare's feed box. As the animal grows older, he will eat more and more grain and hay. In this way the weaning is a gradual process and the final separation from the mother will not cause a set-back in the colt's growth. After this the young animal should be kept on pasture as much as possible.

QUESTION: Will deductions be made in AAA payments if superphosphate is not applied according to recommendations?

ANSWER: E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer, says a farmer will not receive soil-building credit and the cost of the phosphate will be deducted from any AAA payments coming to him if the farmer does not apply this AAA material in a prescribed manner. Application at any time during the program year to a depleting crop with which no eligible grass or legume is seeded or growing will cause a double deduction.

Cattle

Dewey Wallin of Marshall, Rt. 3, believes more clear profit can be received from beef cattle by raising and fattening steers at home, reports P. R. Elam, farm agent of Madison County.

Electricity

The construction of new power lines will provide electricity in six new communities of Cherokee County, reports A. Q. Ketner, farm agent of the N. C. State College Extension Service.
