NAVY'S SUPER CRUISER WORK IS UNDERWAY

Total Number New Ships Ordered Is 2,831

An announcement made public recently by the United States Navy Department, that construction has been started on six 27,000-ton super cruisers, indicates that work on our new "Two-Ocean" Navy has been further accelerated. This latest statement concerning Naval shipbuilding brings the total number of new ships ordered since January 1, 1941 to 2,831—with 968 of these ships already under construction. Production line methods are being used wherever possible and a pronounced speed-up has been accomplished by the institution of a 48-hour week and a three-shift 24-hour day. 375,000 men are already employed in shipyards and another 125,000 men will be added to this force of workmen who are speeding ships down the ways at the rate of at least one every ten days.

So coordinated and precise is the current naval shipbuilding program that many months are being cut from the normal building time of American-made warships.

This expert planning and new speed in construction of our ships from 45,000-ton dreadnaughts to small torpedo boats opens the way for the Navy to accept new qualified men for training at the rate of 12,000 to 15,000 a month. These men, enlisting in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, will be sent to one of the four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will receive regular Navy pay and the free Navy schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

Every new ship in our Navy will require not only hundreds of additional sailors but many more men will be needed to work in Navy dry docks, machine shops, ordnance depots and other shore posts to keep the new ships in action.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," Secretary of the Navy Knox recently said.

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, William L. Hatsell has been made Navy Editor of The Beaufort News to help the Navy in giving ambitious young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean" Navy offers for technical training and advancement.

In outlining the many advantages offered by Naval enlistment, Mr. Hatsell said, "It is possible for a bright young man to increase his pay seven times during his first enlistment and he can earn as much as $126 a month. This monthly figure is actually worth much more when it is remembered that the man has few living expenses and is provided with the finest of medical and dental care.

"You have all your food and lodging, and also your original clothing outfit is provided by Uncle Sam free," Mr. Hatsell continued. "In addition, there are free sports and entertainment. On top of this, you get free travel and adventure in colorful places — a thing few civilians can afford.

"When you consider the size of this country and the fact that the Navy will select only 12,000 applicants a month from many times that number throughout the United States, the quotation 'Many are called, but few are chosen' will apply to local men interested.

"As Navy men are a 'hand-picked' lot, candidates must be men of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral character and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townspeople."

As Navy Editor, Mr. Hatsell has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and, in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy and the Naval Reserve new offer for training for later civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

War Secretary Lists Danger Zones On Coast

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 7 of the River and Harbor Act approved August 8, 1917 (40 Stat. 266; 33 P.S.C. 1), the following regulations are hereby prescribed to govern the use and navigation of the waters of the Atlantic Ocean between New River and Cape Fear, North Carolina, comprising firing ranges of the Marine Corps at New River and the Anti-Aircraft Firing Center at Hollyridge, North Carolina:

The Danger Zones

(a) The firing ranges include the waters within three sectors, located as follows:

Section 1. The center of the sector is located on Hurst Beach, Onslow County, North Carolina at Latitude 34 degrees 45' 15" north and Longitude 77 degrees 16' 10" west. This sector extends over an arc of 135 degrees, with a radius of 25,000 yards, bounded by limiting lines bearing N. 85 degrees E. and S. 49 degrees W from said center.

Section 2. The center of the sector is located on the outer bank opposite Sears Landing near Beacon No. 70 of the United States Intracoastal Waterway between Beaufort and Cape Fear River, North Carolina, at Latitude 34 degrees 25' 40" north and Longitude 77 degrees 32' 30" west. This sector extends over an arc of 136 degrees, with a radius of 25,000 yards, bounded by limiting lines bearing N. 30 degrees E. and S. 10 degrees W. from said center.

Section 3. The center of this sector is located near the center of old Fort Fisher, near Federal Point, North Carolina at Latitude 34 degrees 58' 08" north and Longitude 77 degrees 55' 10" west. This sector extends over an arc of 180 degrees, with a radius of 25,000 yards, bounded by limiting lines bearing N. 30 degrees E. and S. 10 degrees W. from said center.

The Regulations

(b) (1) Sailing vessels or any watercraft having a speed of less than 5 miles per hour will keep clear of these sectors at all times after notices of firing have been given. Any vessel or other watercraft propelled by mechanical power at a speed greater than 5 miles per hour may enter the firing sectors without restriction except when the signals enumerated in paragraphs (4) and (5) are being displayed. When the above signals are displayed, all vessels in the sectors will clear immediately and no vessel will enter the sectors until the signals indicate that firing has ceased.

(2) Firing over the range will take place during both daylight and night-time hours, at irregular periods throughout the year.

(3) Two days in advance of the day when firing in either sector is scheduled to begin the Commanding General, Camp Davis, North Carolina, and - or the Commanding Officer of the Marine Base, Jacksonville, North Carolina, will warn the public of the contemplated firing through the public press, the Coast Guard, the Cape Fear Pilots Association at outport, North Carolina, and the Pilots Association at Morehead City, North Carolina.

(4) A tower shall be erected near the shore in each sector, at least 50 feet in height. On days when there is firing in a sector, a red flag will be displayed on the respective tower. This flag will be displayed not later than 8:00 a. m. and will be removed when firing ceases for the day.

(5) During night firing red lights will be displayed on the respective tower and searchlights will be employed as barrier lights to enable safety observers to detect vessels which may attempt to enter the danger zone.

(6) These regulations shall be enforced by the Commanding General, Camp Davis, North Carolina, and - or the Commanding Officer, Marine Base, Jacksonville, North Carolina, or such responsible agent or agents as they may designate.

Approved August 28, 1941.

Henry L. Stimson,
Secretary of War.

NOTE: These rules and regulations, when published, have the force of law. They were published in the Federal Register on September 19, 1941; public notices of their approval were sent to all known interested parties on September 22, 1941; they have been posted at the Post Offices at Wilmington, N. C., Beaufort, N. C., Jacksonville, N. C., Sneads Ferry, N. C., Southport, N. C., and Swansboro, N. C.
