George W. Huntley Resigns As Mayor

GEORGE W. Huntley, resigned as mayor of the Town of Beaufort on Monday night. The resignation takes effect on December 1. William L. Shirer's famous best seller "Berlin Diary," has been added to the rental shelf of the Carteret County Library in Beaufort, along with several other late and popular books, it was announced today by Miss Sara Rumley. One of the most talked about books currently, however, is the Shirer account of his experiences as a foreign correspondent. The text of this splendidly and easy to read book reveals many of the secrets which not only led up to, but which is making this World War No. 2, the most outstanding and

CANAL DEFENSE PLAN UPSET
It isn't going to be announced, but Nazi propaganda in South America has upset U. S. plans for an important new base defending the Panama canal. Plans had been carefully laid for commercial development of an island off the coast of Ecuador, to be followed by naval installations. But genial Jesse Jones innocently let the cat out of the bag, and the Germans did the rest.

The island is known as Albermarle, in the Galapagos group, lying southwest of Panama, a perfect location for watching Japanese maneuvers near the Pacific entrance of the canal. To inspect it Roosevelt went fishing there three years ago, when the U. S. S. Houston took him on a Pacific cruise.

Roosevelt had heard about the Galapagos since childhood. His great-uncle, Capt. Amasa Delano, put in at the islands on his voyages to China. And his mother, as a young girl, stopped there on a voyage to China.

The President personally was responsible for the strategy of forming an American trading company to develop Albermarle. He knew the sensitive Latins, knew that a direct proposal for building a U. S. naval base would arouse the old enemies of "Yankee imperialism," and that the only safe way was to set up a company for the development of fishing and cattle, thus bring the navy

Mayor Huntley Has Resigned As Of December 1

HE HAS HELD PUBLIC OFFICES SINCE 1917

Mayor George W. Huntley, serving his third term in office, tendered his resignation on Monday night, effective as of December 1st. While it is entirely up to the Board of Town Commissioners within whose power it is to appoint a successor to fill out the unexpired term, it is more likely that Mayor Pro-tem Graydon M. Paul, who has frequently represented Mayor Huntley at public functions, will get the job. The salary of Mayor is $50 monthly.

Mayor Huntley has held public offices since 1917. He served during World War as Carteret County Fuel Administrator, later being elected and serving as member of Board of Town Commissioners for four years. Then he was elected a member of the Board of County Commissioners, serving as its chairman. Following his tenure of office as member of the county board he served as member of the Board of Education and then became Mayor of Beaufort.

He gave as reasons for resigning, his mounting personal business and also the increasing attention which must be given to the job of Mayor. Feeling that he could not give the personal business proper attention while serving as Mayor, nor the Mayor's office proper attention due to his personal business were given as reasons.

Although he owns considerable property within the town limits where he makes his home, Mayor Huntley was engaged in farming for many years and recently has been operating Huntley's, a large hardware and farmers store at in-

BAILEY GETS EXPLANATION FROM GENERAL

Personal Training Of Observers Is Now Planned

Following criticism of the civilian air-raid observation posts by various high ranking U. S. Army officers prompted William H. Bailey, prominent American Legionnaire and organizer of the warning posts in Carteret to address a letter recently to Brigadier General W. R. Franks, in command of the 3rd Interceptor Command at Tampa. In his reply General Franks made certain remarks which explained that the criticism was not directed towards the posts which were organized, but had been handicapped by those which had been planned

B. H. S. GOES TO TOWN DURING SECOND HALF

Defeats Warsaw High 26 To 0 In Game On Friday

SCHEDULED TO PLAY VANCEBORO TODAY

By A. R. RICE
Beaufort turned a lethargic scoreless first half into a scoring orgy in the second to humble Warsaw 26 to 0 here last Friday. The locals unleashed their attack out of a clear sky with such ferocity and suddenness that it left the opposition and fans, alike, stunned.

The third quarter was young when Talbot Dunn on fourth down and on Warsaw's 18 fought, twisted and rushed his way thru the entire Warsaw team to go over standing up and with a man hanging on him. It appeared several times that they had him, but on each occasion he shook clear to November 30, a time during which the public spirited people of this community, both men and women, boys and girls, should make every effort to support and strengthen the Red Cross by enrolling thru our local chapter as members of the Red Cross, or by renewing their memberships in it; and I further proclaim that it is the sense of all of us who are residents of Beaufort and East Carteret that our membership enrollment in the Red Cross must be larger than ever this year, in order to enable this great national organization of ours to meet whatever demands may be made upon it.

March 15 Is Direful Deadline Day You Must Pay Off

Editor's Note: Because it is a timely subject, and because it will effect just about every wage earner—everywhere in the United States, we are publishing a story "How To Pay New U. S. ## COVERING THE WATERFRONT

By AYCOCK BROWN
BEFORE WE GOT there folks on the mainland warned George Huntley and myself that we would be "eaten up" with mosquitoes down on Cedar Island last Friday.

Therefore when we reached Atlantic, George bought some insect spray and a spray-gun. We were going prepared. Stopping briefly at Thoroughfare Bridge a batch of mosquitoes flew into the car. We did a bit of spraying then and there and when we reached the beautiful grove near the church on the island where the people had assembled and the arrangements for the speaking had been made, we each took another spraying and got out of the car expecting to see clouds of mosquitoes.

BUT THERE WAS not a mosquito in the neighborhood. The neighborhood was crowded with the good people of Lola and Roe, and there were plenty of politicians milling around, but no mosquitoes. I just concluded that Capt. Gus Styron who had been

Ocracoke Island Beacon, published on the unusual island 30 miles off the North Carolina coast by Aycock Brown, its editor-owner (and printed in Beaufort News Printshop) received national publicity this morning in Washington Merry-Go-Round, America's most widely read column which is written by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen. They said:

"—With exception of New England, the most easterly newspaper in the United States is the Ocracoke Island Beacon 30 miles off the North Carolina coast in the Cape Hatteras region. The island was once the home of famous editor-ambassador and naval secretary Josephus Daniels."

(Ed. Note: Some day we believe the Merry-Go-Rounders will say: "Ocracoke Island Beacon is one of the most interesting newspapers published in America.")

Capt. A. W. Styron In Charge Of Event Did Good Job

JUDGE HAMILTON HAD ROLE IN CELEBRATION

Due to carefully laid plans of Capt. A. W. Styron, prominent resident of Lenoxville and Lola community on Cedar Island, the first annual homecoming event at the latter place of last Friday was a tremendous success. With Judge Luther Hamilton of Morehead City acting as chairman the many prominent guests present several of them being State and county officials were introduced. He introduced the principal guest of honor, Governor J. M. Broughton.

Prior to the speaking, Morehead City's band and the Boy Scouts of Beaufort paraded. Long rows of tables were filled with a variety of good island foods, and after the speaking from a platform erected under the direction of Rev. Louis Hayman and Capt. Styron to an audience on temporary seats built for the occasion, every person and every visitor ate one of the largest meals ever served in East Carolina. In addition to picnic spread there were baked clams and roasted oysters. Of such significance was the event News and Observer in Raleigh carried the story in its Saturday edition, which follows:

CEDAR ISLANDERS GREET GOVERNOR

And Broughton's Glad to Meet One Group Who're Not Asking for Favors

CEDAR ISLAND, Oct. 31.—Speaking to several hundred persons, most of them residents of the towns of Lola and Roe, the two communities on this island, Governor J. M. Broughton today expressed keen appreciation for his invitation to the first annual homecoming.

Early in his very interesting talk, the Chief Executive, who was making his first official visit here, told how he was so impressed with the people, because they had invited him to his far East community of North Carolina without telling him of the island's history.

Man About Town:

How British! Lord Louis Mountbatten, the ex-Captain of the illustrious, will soon be making front page news again, but that's a naval secret. He was telling us about the sinking of the Hood by the Bismarck and the way the Bismarck was chased, trapped and destroyed. Mountbatten suggested that the complete exciting sea saga be given to the newspapers—to cheer lovers of freedom.

"Heavens, no!" ejaculated the Admiral. "No more publicity. The incident has had too much of a press as it is!"

Observation: Eddy Duchin says he's surprised that none of the isolationist editors headlined it this way: "American Destroyer Rams Nazi Torpedo!"

We've Met Her: A lovely blonde walked into a night spot, nose in air. Someone cracked: "She's sure putting on the dog since she's been to the Coast."
"You mean," Dick Todd elaborated, "she's gone Hollywood!"
I Don't Believe It: Rosemary Lane met a panhandler who asked for a nickel feracuppacawfee and her name and address!
"Why my name and address?"
"Oh, don't get me wrong," he replied, "I want my secretary to drop you a note of thanks."
