Beaufort's Newest S&PGROCERY GOING FORWARD

Elsewhere in today's edition of The Beaufort News is the display dvertisement of the S & P Grocery Store which was established on September 21, 1940, and is going forward with excellent progress. It is Beaufort's youngest grocery store and is owned and operated by two of Beaufort's youngest business men, Charles Smith and John Parkin. Both of these young men got their initial grocery store training at C. D. Jones Company. Since they went into business at their store in Live Oak street, (across the street from Johnson aunders Dry Cleaning Company) these two grocers have tried several forms of advertising. They have tried newspaper displays, hand bills and other forms. On Wednesday when they placed their current ad, they told Publisher Hatsell, that they found the most effective means of advertising was through The Beaufort News and in the future they will be placing frequent displays in this newspaper, in which three grocery stores advertise regularly and a fourth occasionally. The S & P carries a full line of staple and fancy groceries, meats, poultry, soft drinks, ELIJAH WILLIS so feature a prompt and efficient of the "passion for anonymity" White House secretaries, following a careful survey in 35 states, the memorandum by inference severely criticizes OPM and war department handling of defense contracts.

Mellett found that little business generally is bitterly disgusted with the whole defense administration, is convinced that it is being run by big business and corporation lawyers, and is up in arms politically about the matter. Mellett warns that the administration had better do something about the situation and do it fast or it will be just too bad in next year's crucial congressional elections. A long list of specific grievances are detailed in the report: Little firms are excluded from defense orders in favor of big competitors, even though there was no difference in their prices. Endless run-arounds from OPM and army brasshats because the little business men had no "in" with the big shots. Small manufacturers put out of business by the priority system which enables big concerns with defense contracts to hog supplies of raw ma-

George Eastman. head of this firm, believes in advertising, and he told the advertle business man if he could read it. | tising representative of this newspaper on Monday that he felt that the main reason his November business of 1941 was far ahead of the same month last year was because of well placed, and properly made up ads in The Beaufort News. Mr. Eastman has not just started an advertising programhe has seldom missed having a display ad in each weekly edition of The Beaufort News since he went into business in Beaufort three > years ago. That is perhaps the reason his firm has made such rapid progress. During November his was the only firm which took as much as a half page of space in a single edition. He said that last month's advertising brought results - and in a big way. He has not slowed up in the size of advertising space, as will be noted on Page 6 of this edition where he again takes a half page space, listing a few of the many items of furniture offered by his firm, plus one of the finest line of toys ever before offered in Carteret County. You will be reading more (in ads) about the Eastman firm during December and in Janmary and every other months of the year in The Beaufort News.

VILLA HOTEL ALMOST LOST Innocent Bystander: LAST FRIDAY

Morehead Villa ,largest hotel on the Central Carolina Coast, was saved from complete destruction by flames last Friday morning by Morehead City's Fire Department the warm affection and es-teem in which she is held by the Beaufort. The east wing of the building was the place of origination of the fire. Had the firemen not been on hand to combat the flames the entire structure would have probably been razed. The hotel fire fighting equipment was placed in service immediately by Stamey Davis and another fireman of the Morehead City Department who happened to be there when the blaze was discover-
