Foreign correspondents are enthusiastic about the U. S. Navy's handling of press censorship. Lt. Comdr. J. R. Mickler (formerly of the N. Y. Journal-American) and his staff ironed out every kink within a week. Orchids . . . Among the Nazi agents arrested by the FBI was Hans Sievernich, lately connected with the N. Y. office of Dr. Goebbels' DNB. Sievernich was first exposed by this column in April, 1933, when he was listed in the city directory as a tenement house janitor. Agents apprehended him in time. He was organizing subversive groups over here and had credentials from Goering.

George Jean Nathan, the dramatic critic, is another who wants to do something for his country . . . "But what could you do?" teased a taunter . . . "Well," well'd the veteran, "I think I will criticize Army camp shows—and maybe you don't think they need it!" . . . All this yelling about the German army marching into Spain is the bunk. Returning freighter officers say the Nazis have been there for nearly two months, all set to take over . . . Midtowners hear that Hugh Johnson may replace Mayor LaGuardia as Civilian Defense chief . . . Orchids to Herbert Bayard Swopes: Told he was voted "The best dressed man in America," he said: "There's only one well dressed man today—the man in uniform."

In the Place Elegante we heard the story that Rudolph Hess allegedly got a letter through to his old cronies in Germany telling them how well he was being treated and fed . . . This glowing account of life as a prisoner in England finally fell into Hitler's hands. He called a meeting of party members and read them the letter. Then he exonerated the British for undermining such a Spartan Nazi with the drug of easy living in England. When he finished, all of them to a man jumped up and headed for the door . . . "Where are you going?" Hitler asked them.

"We are going," they replied licking their chops, "to save Hess."

At George Jessel's "High Kickers" show the other night, Waxey Gordon, who is trying to redeem himself, was seated on the aisle down front. Directly in back of him was District Attorney Dewey, the nemesis of the underworld. When Gordon was being hounded (after paying his debt to society) the Dist. Atty publicly denounced those "not giving the man a chance."

At intermission, the former gang chief went up to Mr. Dewey, and said: "I want to thank you for giving me another break."

Merry-go -Round

Associate Vice Admiral Muselier, take three French corvettes to do the job. There was no great secret about it, for Admiral Muselier stopped in Canada to talk to Canadian Naval Minister Angus Macdonald, and also picked up some American newspaper men to witness the taking over of the two islands.

'SO-CALLED' FREE FRENCH

However, on the morning Admiral Muselier placed the Free French flag on St. Pierre-Miquelon, Secretary Hull, getting the news at his breakfast table, hurried to the state department and OK'd a scathing statement, castigating the "so-called" Free French.

This upset the British considerably, because they had been encouraging the French people to think of the Free French not as a "so-called" government, but as a government more truly free and representative of the French people than Vichy.

Also it upset the Jugoslavs, the Dutch, the Greeks and a lot of other "so-called" governments which have been maintaining headquarters in London and have been calling themselves the real governments of their countries—even though in exile.

However, Secretary Hull seemed to be even more upset than the British. He had made a deal with Vichy's Admiral Robert in Martinique a few days before, by which Admiral Robert was to keep an eye on St. Pierre-Miquelon. And he felt this agreement should be kept. So, his Tennessee dander up, Mr. Hull cabled U. S. Ambassador Winant in London to take up the matter with the British government.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Lend-lease officials were puzzled by a British request for "horn and hoof meal" manufactured from dead cattle—until they learned it was excellent for extinguishing incendiary bombs.

Most staggering lend-lease request was for one railroad—complete with locomotives and freight cars. The order has been filled, and shipped off to Iran.

Before buying cloth for army raincoats, the quartermaster depot in Philadelphia tests it with a machine that creates an artificial rain storm.

For military reasons details can't be revealed, but the U. S. is producing an anti-aircraft gun that is more powerful and deadly than any now in use in the army. The new weapon is designed to combat stratosphere bombers.

Recommendations Are Changed For Tobacco Fertilizers

RALEIGH, Jan. 14. — L. T. Weeks, Extension tobacco specialist of N. C. State College, calls attention to a change made in the tobacco plant bed fertilizer recommendations for 1942. Growers are now advised to use a 6-9-3 mixture, instead of a 4-8-3 plant bed fertilizer which has been withdrawn from the market.

"The change was made," Weeks said, "to effect a savings for farmers and to produce better results during the critical plant bed life of a tobacco plant. Only one pound of the 6-9-3 fertilizer will be needed for each square yard of plant bed space, whereas two pounds of 4-8-3 per square yard are required."

The extension worker said that fertilizing materials are likely to be scarce in 1942 and 1943, and the use of the higher analysis mixture in smaller quantities will be a step in the direction of meeting the emergencies of war.

He said, however, that farmers who are unable to obtain the 6-9-3 mixture may buy the 4-9-3 fertilizer. The 4-9-3 material should be applied at the rate of two pounds per square yard.

"Growers should be careful not to use too much of the 6-9-3 fertilizer," Weeks warned. "If more than one pound per square yard is applied there is a possibility that the germination of the seed will be very low."

The recommendations were changed by the Tobacco Workers Conference, comprising agronomists, tobacco specialists, and research workers of the flue-cured tobacco-producing states. The conference continued its recommendation that tobacco plant bed fertilizers be free of chlorines. It also urged that one-fourth of the nitrogen be derived from nitrates, one-fourth from natural organics,
