TWO COLORS, TWO FABRICS
Many of the new dresses combine two entirely different fabrics and two smartly contrasting colors. The New York creation pictured shows this trend, being all one color in the back, and two-toned in front. The entire skirt, and the back of the bodice and sleeves are of sheer black wool, the front of fuchsia moire.

WARN AGAINST USING CADMIUM

RALEIGH, Jan. 21.—Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, State Health Officer, has issued a statement warning the public against the use of cooking utensils and refrigerator containers plated with cadmium, a substitute for aluminum, because of outbreaks of food poisoning traced to the use of this metal.

Dr. Reynolds' statement followed receipt of information from Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, who announced that his agency, under which the United States Public Health Service operates, had investigated these outbreaks of food poisoning and had found they were due to cadmium, which, investigators said, contains a poisonous substance causing severe illness even when taken in small amounts.

Mr. McNutt reported that both the Food and Drug Administration and the United States Public Health Service had found that five outbreaks, involving at least fifty persons, were traced to the consumption of frozen foods which had either been chilled in refrigerators equipped with cadmium-plated ice trays or served in cadmium-plated containers.

"Symptoms of cadmium poisoning," Dr. Reynolds reported, "include acute gastritis, nausea, vomiting, cramps, diarrhea and weakness. Illness may occur within ten minutes after eating or drinking the contaminated food. As little as fifteen parts per million of cadmium may cause acute symptoms. Foods containing acid are particularly apt to be affected."

None of the cases reported, however, has been fatal, and, so far as was known last night, none has been reported in North Carolina. However, Dr. Reynolds said he felt he should issue the warning requested by Administrator McNutt, in order to put the people of this State on their guard. The Federal Security Agency, he was informed, has conferred with manufacturers who produce plated goods, and it is probable that the use of cadmium for food-container purposes will be discontinued.

"The difficulty of obtaining aluminum and materials used in making stainless steel has led to the use of cadmium, especially in repairing or replating household equipment," Dr. Reynolds said he had been informed, reporting further that "utensils in which cadmium has most frequently been detected are refrigerator ice trays, plated aluminum ware, water pitchers, meat grinders, and food choppers and mixers."

Dr. Reynolds said he felt sure the Security Agency would do effective work in getting cadmium off the market, but that, in the meantime, the public should display caution and make sure, if possible, against its use through ignorance or by mistake.

He added that he was informed "chronic poisoning, with severe damage to vital organs, results from repeated exposure to cadmium." He said the North Carolina State Health Department would be on the lookout for any cases that might occur in this State, although none so far has been reported that he knows of.

Willing

Since the declaration of war, Jackson County farmers have indicated they are more than willing to do whatever is possible to insure a speedy victory, says Assistant Farm Agent C. H. Kirkman.

Due to increased costs and scarcity of leather goods, farmers are being urged to extend the usefulness of harnesses by repairing and oiling them frequently.

MORE ABOUT REGULATIONS (Continued From Page 9)

only WHEN ALL of the following conditions are satisfied:

(1) Such person must be the registrant's wife, divorced wife, child, parent, grandparent, brother, or sister, or must be a person under 18 years of age, or a person of any age who is physically or mentally handicapped, whose support the registrant has assumed in good faith; and

(2) Such person must either be a United States citizen or live in the United States, its Territories, or possessions; and

(3) Such person, at the time the registrant is classified, must depend in fact for support in a reasonable manner, in view of such person's circumstances, on income earned by the registrant by his work in a business, occupation, or employment (including employment on work relief projects but excluding employment as an enrollee in the Civilian Conservation Corps and similar employment in the National Youth Administration).

(4) Such person must in fact regularly receive from the registrant contributions (including payments to a divorced wife) for the support of such person, and such contributions must not be merely a small part of such person's support. Even though the registrant is unable to furnish to such person money or other support for temporary periods because of the registrant's physical or economic situation, he may be considered to be regularly contributing to such person's support if such person and the community look upon the registrant as the normal source of such person's support.

3. Section 622.31 of Selective Service Regulations provides that no registrant shall be placed in Class III-A if he acquired dependency status on or after September 16, 1940 (the date of the adoption of the Selective Service Act) and before December 8, 1941, unless he presents information which convinces the local board when classifying him that such status was not voluntarily acquired at a time when his selection was imminent or for the primary purpose of providing him with a basis for deferment. No registrant shall be placed in Class III-A if he acquired dependency status on or before December 8, 1941, unless he presents information which convinces the local board when classifying him that such status was acquired under circumstances which were beyond his control.

4. It should be noted that the classification of married men will be considered under three separate rules:

(a) A registrant who married before September 16, 1940, and claims dependency is required only to prove that a condition of dependency exists under the definition of "dependent" as defined in Section 622.32;

(b) A registrant who married between September 16, 1940, and December 8, 1941, must not only prove that a condition of dependency exists but also that such status was not voluntarily acquired at a time when his selection was imminent or primarily for the purpose of providing him with a basis for deferment;

(c) A registrant who married on or after December 8, 1941, must not only prove that a condition of dependency exists but also that such status was acquired under circumstances beyond his control.

5. Section 622.31-b instructs the local board to determine all questions of Class III-A deferments with sympathetic regard for the registrant and his dependents and cautions the local board in doubtful cases to be mindful of injuries which may be expected to result from separating a father from his children or a husband from his wife, and announces the policy that "the maintenance of the family as a unit is of importance to the national well-being."
