A MOTHER'S FAITH

Why am I proud and full of smiles? My boy is on the Solomon Isles... But somehow I know he'll come back to me And we'll laugh at the fears that used to be.

When he was little I could walk and guide So Savior I pray that thou be at his side As thou walked the lanes of Galilee, Dear Savior walk with him for me.

Be thou my hand that would keep his in mine And all things else that Mothers must resign Maybe he's one of the stars so bright in God's own service flag at night, That Boy of Mine.

Maybe I smile to hide the aches, Nobody knows when my heart breaks. So loving Savior, I pray to Thee To send him safely home to me, That Boy of Mine. Mrs. Millie Hodges

ANSWERS To Timely Farm Questions

Question: How may rust of galvanized roofing be controlled?

Answer: At the first sign of rust, says D. S. Weaver, Extension agricultural engineer of State College, or when the roof shows dark discoloration, the galvanized roofing should be painted with metallic zinc paint. Before applying the paint, the roof should be put in good physical shape and all gutters and low places should be cleaned of fallen leaves and dirt. If the roof has been painted with any kind of paint previously, all loose and scaly parts must be removed with a wire brush, rinsing the roof with water, and allowing it to dry.

Question: How should meat be cooked for canning?

Answer: Mrs. Cornelia C. Morris, Extension food conservationist of State College, says there are several ways to pre-cook meat for canning. "If meat is to be cooked before it is canned," she said, "it should not be more than half done. It can be browned quickly in a small amount of hot fat in a frying pan; it can be roasted in the oven; or it can be stewed or boiled. Do not add salt to the meat until after it is packed in the jars." Mrs. Morris also emphasized that a pressure cooker is essential in canning meats. Other methods are not safe, she declared.

Question: What substitute for steamed bonemeal may be used in the hog ration?

Answer: Thoroughly steamed bone meal is not always available for use in making mineral mixtures for hogs, says Ellis V. Vestal, animal husbandry Extension specialist of N. C. State College. When it is not available, he says, a mixture of 10 pounds of ground limestone and two pounds of salt may be used. If it is available, use 10 pounds of ground limestone, 10 pounds of steamed bonemeal, and five pounds of salt. Minerals should be placed where the hogs can have free access to it, but should be kept dry.

Reclaimer

A machine which will reclaim used baling wire and make it available again has been devised by workers of the University of California College of Agriculture.

Records

Judging by the number of record books already turned in, this appears to be a banner 4-H Club year in Polk County, says S. H. Dobson, assistant farm agent.

A SUPPLICATION

Oh, may I never grow too stern To reveal in a quiet hour; May I never get too tired to learn A lesson from a budding flower; May I always feel the urge to aid A friend—or e'en a foe, And leave no cheerful word unsaid As down life's path I go. —Selected.

North Car. State College Hints For Farm Homemakers

By RUTH CURRENT State Home Demonstration Agent N. C. State College

Beans are high in food value and low in cost. There are red kidney beans, pea beans, white narrow beans, yellow-eye beans, white kidney beans, black turtle soup beans, and all the rest.

Eat beans for energy, eat them for economy, eat them for patriotism; but eat them often. North Carolina grows them, almost every kind for almost every purpose.

Appeal! Beans appeal in cost, in convenience of storage, in their variety, and in their keeping quality. They are good in soups, in salads, and in sandwiches.

Nutrients are plentiful in beans. They contain protein for body building, carbohydrate for energy, and many of the vitamins and minerals for general good health and growth.

Serve beans hot; serve beans cold; serve them as a main dish for dinner, or as a pick-up supper. Serve them simply, or attractively garnished and seasoned.

Beans are as American as apple pie and today it is doubly important to use them because they are low in cost and high in food value. (When combined or served with milk and eggs they may take the place of more costly meats).

Eggs are a protective food. Serve them to your family because of their protein, fat, mineral, and vitamin content; they are bomb shells of protective food against vitamin-short meals. They should be included in diets at all times, but especially when extra strains necessitate more than ordinary health and vigor.

There is a place for at least a small flock on every North Carolina farm.

Chain

The 4-H Club pig chain is proving of tremendous benefit in the promotion of better hogs for Perquimans County, reports F. D. Allen, assistant farm agent of the N. C. State College Extension Service.

Loans

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the Commodity Credit Corporation had made 396,773 loans on 794,830 bales of the 1942 cotton crop through November 14.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbances. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

Carolina BIRD LORE

By C. S. BRIMLEY

THE COWBIRD

About the size of an English Sparrow or a little larger, the male Cowbird is glossy black all over, with the exception of the head which is brown. The female is entirely brown. It occurs irregularly throughout the State during the migrations and in winter, not being known to summer anywhere except on Roanoke Island and vicinity, where it was observed for several successive years in June and July by the late Rev. Francis Craighill of Rocky Mount.

It usually goes in flocks of varying sizes often containing no more than a dozen or so birds; however, during the early eighties, flocks that appeared to contain thousands of birds occurred near Raleigh in fields of newly planted grain, but such have never been noted since.

This bird, like the European Cuckoo, has the habit of laying its eggs in the nests of birds smaller than itself, usually only one egg being placed in any one nest. It usually only lays where it passes the summer. T. D. Burleigh, however, found eggs or young three times in the nests of Red-eyed Vireos near Asheville in the spring, but no adults stayed to name, and a similar case has been reported from Statesville in the nest of a Yellow-throated Vireo. If this habit is at all common it would provide such localities with a sprinkling of immature birds in the summer.

As the young Cowbirds invariably dump the rightful young of the nest overboard, this makes the species an enemy of our smaller birds and adding to this its occasional depredations of fields of sprouting grain, there is little to be said in its favor.
