STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

Q. What about perennial ryegrass as a grain crop?

Ans. Seedlings of perennial ryegrass are usually very vigorous but on the other hand, when this grass gets older, it is much tougher than either Italian or common ryegrass, says Enos Blair, Extension agronomist at State College. A large part of the Italian ryegrass that we buy is really a mixture of this species, common, and perennial ryegrasses. On account of thorough quality of the perennial grass, Blair suggests that growers test it on a very small scale, if a trial is desired.

Q. What are the seeding rates for winter legumes?

Ans. Dr. Emerson Collins, in charge of Extension agronomy at State College, recommends 25 pounds of Austrian peas per acre drilled or 30 pounds broadcast; 20 broadcast; 20 pounds of crimson clover drilled, 25 broadcast. Cover the peas and vetch about one inch deep and crimson clover from one-half to one inch deep. Seed inoculation is necessary when planted on soils not recently used for these crops. Winter legumes furnish winter grazing, decrease leaching, prevent erosion, take nitrogen from the air, and help maintain soil organic matter and increase crop yields. Plant as early in September as possible to produce a good soil cover before cold weather. In the mountains they should be planted at the last cultivation of corn.

Q. When would you dig holes for peanut poles?

Ans. Plan now to dig holes and set the poles before plowing out the peanuts. This saves labor at digging time. The poles can be tipped to one side to permit the mules to pass when plowing. Dig holes for stack poles about 18 inches deep. Well tamped poles will not fall over and cause loss of nuts and hay due to weather damage. Peanuts are ready to dig when the inside of the shells turn dark and veins appear on the outside.

College Hints For Farm Homemakers By RUTH CURRENT

As a vitamin C rich food, tomatoes are among the best. One good sized, vine-ripened tomato will give you about half your day's quota of vitamin C, as well as a generous amount of vitamin A. To get the most good from tomatoes, eat them raw and fresh. But remember, they hold a large share of their vitamins even when cooked or canned.

Carrots, celebrated for vitamin A, also have vitamin C. Fresh from the garden they rate as moderately good in the vitamins, but improper handling and cooking may destroy most or all of the natural C. Those who can eat carrots freshly pulled are lucky, so far as vitamin value is concerned. Research says that mature carrots are richer in vitamins and flavor than young, tender "baby" carrots, so the gardener will be wise not to gather them too early.

Greens from fall gardens can do much to help the family; build up a winter supply for winter health. Eating plentifully of green and yellow vegetables this fall is good winter health insurance for everyone.

Eat eggs every day because eggs have protein in the top class with such foods as meat and milk for building and repairing body tissues. They also carry three of the B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin, niacin—plus vitamins A and D, to help protect health. The egg yolk holds a rich store of iron for red blood cells and has phosphorus and other minerals needed by the body.

Winter Hays Give Needed Roughage

Mixtures of small grains and winter legumes harvested for hay provide an excellent source of roughage for livestock, says Enos Blair, Extension agronomist at State College. They give more hay than any of the crops planted alone and are more palatable.

"The grains prevent bedding down and excessive tangling of the legumes, while the hollow stems make the hay easier to cure," Blair points out. "The legumes increase the percentage of the protein in the hay. These mixtures may be moderately grazed in the fall, winter, and spring, and still make a fairly good crop of hay."

The agronomist explains that there is an almost endless number of mixtures that can be sown but that the general rule is to sow more than a full seeding of grains with two-thirds of a full seeding of winter legumes.

As to seeding dates, experience shows that mixtures which do not contain wheat should be sown September 1, if intended partly for grazing or about October 1 if sown mainly for hay. These mixtures that contain wheat should be sown November 1 to 15 because of the Hessian fly.

Blair recommends 300 pounds of 4-10-6 fertilizer per acre for hay crops and a like amount of 8-8-0 where the grower desires both grazing and hay. In either case, the crops will need about 150 pounds of nitrate of soda per acre the latter part of February.

Hogs Bringing Higher Prices

Raleigh, Aug. 1.—The hog market is booming again, according to J. A. Winfield, market newsman with the State Department of Agriculture.

He reported that the demand for hogs has within the past four days surpassed available supplies, and prices have jumped from 35 cents to as much as $2 per hundredweight.

Winfield attributed the increase in prices to the drop in hog production during the past three months. He said that "apparently swine production is now getting in line with the production of feed."

In the past six months, 12 per cent fewer pigs were farrowed than in the same period in 1943, according to Winfield, and he added that this is indicative of a general trend away from unbalanced hog production born out of a sudden need for meat for lend-lease and military consumption.

"It seems that we are finally approaching some semblance of balance in the production of feed and livestock," said Winfield. The price for butcher hogs has increased from $1.15 to $2 per hundred; 120-140 pound weights, 75 cents to $1 per hundred; 160-180, 50 cents; 180-270, 35 cents to $1.35; and 330-360, 50 cents to 65 cents per hundredweight.

GASOLINE FOR THOSE ON LEAVE.

Members of the armed services will get a gallon of gasoline for each day of their leave or furlough up to 30 gallons, according to a new Office of Price Administration policy. No ration will be granted for passes, for liberties or for leaves or furloughs of less than three days, at the suggestion of the Army and Navy. The member of the armed services should apply for gasoline rations to the War Price and Rationing Board having jurisdiction over the automobile he is to drive and he should present proper leave or furlough papers.

'CHRISTMAS MAILING MONTH'

September 15 to October 15 has been named "Christmas Mailing month" by the Army and Navy, which this year have 33,000 uniformed men and women in their postal services to handle an estimated 70 million Christmas presents—three times as many as last year, the Office of War Information says. Packages mailed during "Christmas Mailing Month" should reach their destination by Christmas.

SOME NEW SCHOOL BUSES AT LAST.

After almost total lack of new school buses for two years, WPB approved a 1944 production quota of 5,000, or which more than 2,400 already have been released to schools where new buses were needed to prevent absences and replace unsafe equipment, the Office of Defense Transportation reports.

FACTORY DAMAGED SHOES

Mr. Consumer may be lucky enough to get a pair of factory-damaged shoes without a shoe ration coupon and for no more than $1.80 a pair, if his shoe dealer happens to have some such shoes on hand and obtains permission from the OPA district office to sell them unrated. The dealer must apply for the release of these factory-damaged shoes before August 31, but there is no time limit on the sales after the dealer has received the OPA rationation stickers and attached them to the shoes.

Silas Clay Gets Mad at Women's Hats

Silas Clay is complaining that his wife's new hat cost more than a bull calf. "And I wouldn't mind it, if it was a hat," he says, "but all it is, is a small bow and a piece of feather." "It isn't the size of the hat that counts," says Bivon Earp, reproachfully. "Well, what is it that counts?" asks Si, exasperated. "I'll tell you what it is that counts," says Doc. "It's the lift that a new hat gives to any woman. It sort of picks up their spirits... boosts morale. Little things can do that. Like the flower in your buttonhole," he says to Silas, "or that glass of beer that you're enjoying." From where I sit, Doc has given us a mighty good definition of morale. Important little things. A flower in your buttonhole... a kind word from a stranger... a mellow glass of beer with friends. Little things especially important in these days of strain.

Sentinels of Health Don't Neglect Them! Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out. Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval.
