KEPT OFFICERS IN COLD

Bad Negro Holds Newbern Officers at Bay All Night.

Newbern, February 2.—A negro named Shade Morning held the chief of police and three officers at bay all Sunday night and until 8 o'clock Monday morning. The negro had a row with his wife, Hester Morning and when the officers appeared he shut himself up upstairs and threatened to kill the first man who attempted to enter the house. All Sunday night the officers stood on guard—The coldest night of the winter. Monday morning Officer Griffin went to their rescue and succeeded in arresting the man, although he shot at them during the attempt. Yesterday he was tried and sent up on two charges, and as court is in session he will likely be sent to the roads this week.

A Cold Weather Story.

Shakespeare's idea of keeping out the cold was pretty good in its time. It will be remembered that he said, "Imperious Caesar, dead and turned to clay, Might stop a hole to keep the wind away."

But the young fellows of this generation could give Shakespeare points. A Charlotte chap who recently went to up into the mountains to enter school, found a window casing in his room quite comfortable while the weather was of a character to tempt the blue birds to song, but when the blizzard rattled at his casement, a few days ago, he found that it was necessary to do something or die. A blanket nailed over the window would swell in like a sail. Rags chinked in would blow out. Then the young fellow got his water bucket and dipper and cast water into the crevice. The water froze quickly and in a minute or two he had the wind barred out. If that does not beat the use of either imperious or common clay, what does? This is a cold weather story, but it is a true one. But whoever would have thought of that particular plan of combatting the blizzard?

The Birds.

Newark News. It is easy to see that the birds are having a rather hard time of it just now. Not the birds which fit southward in the fall and will return to us with the warmer weather, but the sturdy little fellows who, like us, are unable to get away. They are the faithful friends who stand by in winter as well as summer, and their companionship is all the more desirable in that it is offered in the bleak and cheerless days of the year. It is too late in the day to debate the immense value of bird life to the country. All of us have a regard for them that is more than merely sentimental, even in our carelessness we occasionally permit them to suffer.

All of which leads to the remark that when the ground is covered with snow and ice the birds find it extremely difficult to secure their food. Every "hard winter" tremendously destructive to the feathered tribes. This is true of the country as well as in the city and the smaller towns. Much of this death and suffering could be easily obviated were we only a little more thoughtful. It requires no exertion and it costs no money to spread a handful of grain or crumbs abroad for the birds every day, especially when the ground is covered with snow, and it means much to them. Enough of them die of cold and exposure when the temperature is very low. It is almost cruel that others should starve when it is so very easy to supply them with food.

First Coal Train Over Virginia Road.

Roanoke, Va., Feb. 3.—The first coal train over the Virginian Railway was run from Pinetown, Va., to Roanoke, reaching here to-night. Crowds of people gathered at the new stations along road and cheered the train. The road has been built by Henry H. Rogers and its cost is approximately $40,000,000.

The proposition to increase the salary of the President of the United States to $100,000 is a good one—not so much perhaps, because he needs the money, as because "Uncle Sam" can afford to be more generous in that respect than he has been heretofore.

MR. NEWBERRY'S TASK.

Blazing the Way for Legislation Dealing with Naval Reform.

New York Sun. Can the work of the Bureaus be co-ordinated without new legislation? The Secretary may try to do it—there is law enough for that—and Mr. Newberry is making a creditable attempt to prevent repetition, duplication, and waste of time and money. Under his orders consolidation is proceeding at the New York Navy Yard, where the chief constructor, William J. Baxter, has been put in charge of four bureaus, construction and repair, steam engineering, ordnance and equipment, and yards and docks. Under the law, however, these bureaus are autonomous, and before the reform has gone far there will be in the nature of things an outcry, and Congress will be asked to intervene. Secretaries Whitney, Long, and Moody all inveighed against the bureau system in their reports and made recommendations that were never heeded.

Mr. Newberry, as a practical business man, and with scant time to serve, has seized the bull by the horns. The more liberties he takes with the system for the good of the navy the sooner Congress will have to solve the problem by new legislation, which it would be better to defer, however, until the way is well blazed.

The Crime of Idleness.

Idleness means trouble for any one. Its the same with a lazy liver. It causes constipation, headache, jaundice, sallow complexion, pimples and blotches, loss of appetite, nausea, but Dr. King's New Life Pills soon banish liver troubles and build up your health. 25c. at Freeman Drug Co.

Labor Unions and Socialism.

J. O. Fagan, in the Atlantic. Compared with the actual and constantly increasing force of labor, the theories and propositions of philosophers and social betters have but little significance. Socialism may come and may go, but labor and its organization is march marching on, not indifferent to, but nevertheless quite independent of, these ideas and associations that are constantly at work for the betterment of society in general. If socialism desires to assist labor, well and good. That is the beginning and the end of the matter so far as labor is concerned. Similarly, if municipal or public ownership in any form can be shown to benefit the worker without interfering with his organization and his schedules, its claims and theories will receive consideration. In other words, labor leaders more especially on the railroads, are now preaching the gospel of separation. They avoid everything in the nature of an alliance, even in the interest of public safety, and day by day their ability and intentions to stand alone become more pronounced.

State Directed Morals.

Richmond News-Leader. Prohibition continues to make steady progress. First comes the demand that the saloons be closed because they are temptations to boys and traps for the weak. Then comes a series of enactments intended to throw all possible obstacles in the way of people who want liquor and wish to send for it and have it shipped to them. Now the Georgia Legislature is asked to make a law to forbid newspapers from printing liquor advertisements. The State is to take charge of our morals and to direct our personal habits and customs. That good old Puritan time when the authorities regulated the cut of man's hair, the fashion of the clothes and the time for him to go to bed and forbade him from kissing his wife on the Sabbath day seems to be returning fast. We shall have presently a general newspaper censorship to determine what news or advertisements may be an offense to the righteous and to exclude them rigidly.

DOES NOT KISS HIS WIFE

And Rev. Dr. Scudder Says Sweethearts Should Not Let Lips Meet.

New York, Feb. 3.—A revolution is coming in love-making, with one of the pleasantest features of that charming art omitted, unless some leader shall arise to champion the cause of young people of all ages against the onslaughts of the anti-kissing campaign which has been begun by the Rev. Dr. John L. Scudder, pastor and boxing instructor of the First Congregational Church of Jersey City. Dr. Scudder also runs the People's Palace, a sort of neighborhood house in connection with his up-to-date institutional church.

Just now, prompted by the Tubercular Congress, he has taken up the great white plague and in the course of his duties in this direction he has discovered the terrible ravages which the vice of kissing every year makes upon our population.

He said this afternoon he has not allowed his wife to kiss him on the mouth nor has he so kissed her in a good many years, and would not do so under any circumstances.

After touching upon the subject of mothers and their babes and kisses between them, Dr. Scudder had a few words to say about kissing "dogs, cats, canary birds and parrots and other household pets."

"We are an inventive people," Dr. Scudder said, "and we must develop some other method of showing affections besides kissing. It is time to start anti-kissing leagues in every state in the Union. Cut out kissing, I say, and do it right away. If you have got the kissing habit and cannot give it up, kiss your friends upon the cheek, but never upon mouth."

"There is no reason why some other method of expressing affection cannot be invented—many other people don't kiss and they get along just as well—and far better than we do in the United States. I was born in India, and there a mother, wishing to display affection for her child, picks it up in her arms and crushes its little face against her nose as we would do with a fragrant rose." "The whole habit of kissing is entirely disgusting to me," said Dr. Scudder. "Why anybody should hit upon so insane way of showing his affection I never could understand. If you love a girl tell her so, and if you want to and she is willing, kiss her cheek. But never think of touching your lips to hers."

Seven Dead in Alabama.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 5.—Mayor George H. Brier, of Cullman, Ala., wires that seven people are known to have been killed in that county this afternoon by the cyclone which passed over this section of the State but that wire communication is impossible with the stricken locality.

At Kayasa, a mining camp west of Birmingham on the Southern Railway, today, five houses were blown down but only one man was injured, a Mr. Logan.

The property loss in the territory north of Birmingham appears to have been very large. Numerous trees were blown down on Red Mountain with in a mile of the corporate limits of Birmingham. Telephone communications to the North is impossible tonight.

No attack on the character or motives of Congress appears in the latest message.

Your Cotton Crop Can Be Increased

It costs no more to cultivate an acre that produces two bales of cotton than an acre which produces only one-quarter of a bale. Why not see what you can do with

Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers

Other men have been able to double and more than double their yield per acre with a liberal application of Virginia-Carolina Fertilizers. Messrs. Lucas & Jackson of Kelsey County, Tenn., used Virginia-Carolina Fertilizer on about 55 acres planted with cotton, and say: "We have the finest crop of cotton we ever saw, and all the people around here think the same. We actually counted 447 bolls on one stalk. Another stalk had by actual count 409 bolls, forms, squares and blossoms. On about 8 acres we expect to make about 2 bales to the acre, and an estimate of adjoining farms not so fertilized and under other cultural methods, will yield only 1 bale to five acres."

An interesting picture of the cotton plants referred to will be found in the new 1909 Virginia-Carolina Farmers' Year Book, copy of which may be had from your fertilizer dealer, or will be sent free, if you write our nearest sales office.
