Entered as second-class matter May 20, 1908, at the post-office at Burlington, North Carolina, under the Act of Congress of March 3 1879.

Wednesday, October 6, 1909.

Raleigh seems to be punishing the booze-artists to the Queens taste, but the fellow who dispenses it is out of reach.

The Dispatch extends a cordial welcome to the visitors who are here to attend the Fair. You will find a genial hospitalable people.

If the Republicans do not elect their candidates for State officers over in Virginia, they will give the Democrats a race of their lives.

There does not appear to be any drouth in the "wet goods" market in Raleigh, and many other towns in the State. Burlington, for instance.

Robbers broke into the sheriff's office in Raleigh last week. We would not be surprised to hear of that good government league being stolen next.

It is presumed that the Anti Saloon League leaders, who proclaim that prohibition is a success from one end of the State to the other, do not read the Raleigh papers.

The Southern Poultry Review, of Charlotte, has made its bow to the public in newspaperdom. It is a neat and attractive sheet, and will, as its name implies, be devoted to the poultry industry of that section.

It is about time for the writing of another two column article by the Anti-Saloon League leader, proclaiming the effectiveness of prohibition. The fact is, the very trains that the leader is riding upon from the sea shore to the mountains, is freighted with two or three express cars of whiskey. The consistency in such instances is ludicrous.

The Greensboro Daily News has secured the services of Mr. R. M.
Phillips, as associate editor. A better selection could not have been made, while we do not know Mr.
Phillips personally, yet we feel like we do, after reading after him for many years on the staff of some of the States best papers. Here's wishing the Daily News continued prosperity with this new acquisition to its force.

The next session the North Carolina Postmasters meets in Winston-Salem. These meetings are very beneficial in developing the best methods of service throughout the State, not only in the postoffice, but in the carrier and railway mail service. North Carolina's postmasters will measure up to the standard of any in "Uncle Sam's" service, in business qualifications and alertness to the improvement of the service in the interest of their patrons.

Politics in the Fifth District.

The political chaldron is beginning to bubble in the ranks of the Democracy in this the bloody old Fifth Congressional District. If we read correctly the signs of the times, about all that the Democracy in the 5th, will get out of the next Congressional race will be the excitement incident to nominating a candidate. Our Democratic friends appear to be fond of a scrap, even though they have to scrap among themselves, so we may expect a lively time at the meeting of the next Democratic Congressional convention. The last Congressional convention held in the district was the scene of much vilification and confusion.

Mr. Brooks, who bore off the honors at that convention was doubtless the strongest candidate that the convention could have named, but he was easily defeated by the Hon.
John M. Morehead. The fact is that the people of the 5th, district have found out that the policies of the Republican party are better adopted to the needs and wants of the great manufacturing interests of the district than the tariff for revenue only doctrine of the Democracy.
However, it does not take the eye of a prophet to foresee that the 5th, district has aligned itself with the Republican party for good and always. The voters of the 5th, district have turned their backs on the dead past and are facing the problems of today and the future. They are being educated to the fact that the Republican party is a party of progress. A party that never discusses dead issues and a party that never breaks its promises. It is enough to gladden the heart of the most pessimistic citizen as he looks out on the great business activity now prevailing all over the country, due to the wise policies of the Republican party.

Peary, says he has discovered the North Pole, but Cook hasn't, Cook says he has, but Peary hasn't. There is no difference of opinion about Melrose, Dan Valley, and Champion flour being the best.

Multiply and Replenish the Earth.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Washington Herald publishes the following bit of Georgia news with some editorial comment.

Augusta Ga., Sept.—Sudge Richard B. Russell, of the Georgia Court of Appeals, became a father again for the thirteenth time today.

"The baby is a boy with a proud record behind him, for he is the thirteenth child of a thirteenth child of a thirteenth child on his mother's side and the seventh son of a seventh son on the side of his father."

Those who are inclined to be superstitious will watch with eager interest the destiny of this sprig of illustrious lineage. However should no bad luck befall him on account of the fateful number thirteen the superstitious can account for the escape by the accompanying number, seven, which is a scriptural number and is considered to be a number of good omen.

The creator of the universe created the world and all things therein in six days and rested on the seventh.
Joshua was directed by the Lord to march around the city of Jerico seven times. Also the Prophet Elijah directed the leper Syrian General to dip himself in the river Jordan seven times, after which he was healed of leprosy. Numerous other instances might be cited of the use of the number seven in the Holy scriptures, but there will suffice.

If there were medals for maternity and former President Roosevelt had the awarding, surely the female branch of the Russel family would be in line for medals. But the same issue of the Herald contained a news item from Long Island City, which relates that the wife of one John H. Thiry, of that whose head is whitened by the snows of 87 winters, has just presented him with their fifth child. It is stated that they were married when he was seventy-five. The children are all bouncingly well. Mr. Thiry was once a professor of literature in Belgium, and came to America in 1859. After making money as a dealer in rare books, he retired to his Long Island farm and engaged in gardening and fruit culture. So it would appear that the Russell family would at least show honors with the Thiry's.

"A Big 2 1/2 ounce bag of Golden Grain Smoking Tobacco for five cents."

They Sang "Goodby, Miss Liberty."

The new McIntyre and Heath production, "In Hayti," now at the Circle Theatre, New York City, owes its success principally to one charming little song which fairly brings down the house at every performance. The song is "Goodby, Miss Liberty," and it has made such a hit that The Sunday World has arranged to present it, words and music complete, with next Sunday's World. There will also be another set of pictures in colors of stage beauties drawn and painted by Archie Gunn, so there is a double treat in store for you in next Sunday's New York World.
