Entered as second-class matter May 20, 1908, at the post office at Burlington, North Carolina, under the Act of Congress of March 3 1879

Wednesday, November 3, 1909.

GREETING.

Out of an original wilderness, out of the primeval conditions of an undeveloped sector, out of the wreck of desolation of a colossal war, we have built here a beautiful little city, throbbing and vibrating with industrial and commercial life. With this issue, The State Dispatch presents its Industrial and Illustrated Edition of sixteen pages, filled with pictorial and historic matter, expressing the invincible enterprise and the restless energy of our people. This edition contains a message to the outside world, proof of our progress and a record of our achievements, and at the same time a presentation of an indomitable citizenship of which any community could feel justly proud, because the names presented are the builders of a Greater Burlington. It is a panoramic view of the progress and pretensions of the town, showing illustrations of great factories, banks and business blocks, views of churches, schools and handsome residences.

JOHN E. HART,

It is not intended to be a characteristic trade publication, it has a retaining value, but is a contribution to the history and literature of Burlington. The aim of this Edition is to give the widest possible publicity to the natural and acquired advantages by means of which such splendid results have been accomplished during recent years, in order that these may attract the attention of the alert and ambitious, and then join in the era of still greater development. The threshold of which has only been reached. We are living in a pictorial age—a growth of modern journalism—and the Dispatch endeavors to keep abreast of the advance of the times, although it has not yet celebrated its second anniversary, hence we feel proud of this Edition as it is one of the most elaborate publications ever issued in the State, but we are prouder of Burlington and her boundless resources and almost limitless opportunities; and in this issue we ask that you forget the Dispatch, forget the artistic beauty of its typography—the neatness and Symetry of its make-up, and only think of the subject matter that we are discussing—the link of Burlington, and what Burlington offers to the homeseeker, the investor.

The Dispatch wishes to thank all those whose generous co-operation has made this Edition possible. They all recognized the invaluable medium of publicity to be heard to the world the exceptional advantages that Burlington possesses, and with that spirit of liberality so commendable and so edifying they extend a welcome to the wide-awake and progressive to share in the prosperous era of development already at hand, and which must continue until our brightest hopes are realized.

POST MASTER

J. ZEB WALLER.

There is perhaps no department of the United States Government which appeals more forcibly to our admiration and respect or which is under a more perfect system of management than the postal service. Its business in every detail is in the hands of able and responsible parties from the post master general at Washington to every member of the rank and file of his large army of assistants throughout the Union. From the handling of mails en-route and the unrepresented service in the transportation of mails to the highest and vast convenience afforded the citizens of a town the mail service is systematized to a most perfect degree. To be chosen by the nation's chief executive to preside over this advanced state of affairs is no small tribute to the worth of the incumbent. Not only must he stand well with his political party but must command the good will and respect of his fellow citizens.

J. Zeb Waller is now serving his third term as postmaster of Burlington to the satisfaction of our people under his administration the R. F. D. has been established which is a great boon to the county people and is an important factor in creating closer trade relations, with remote points. Free mail delivery for Burlington is only a question of a few months. This means more employment for our citizens and a great convenience to the town. No man is better known in Alamance county than Mr. Waller always taking an active interest in every move that would advance the material growth of Burlington and Alamance county.

The personnel of the Post office is as follows: J. Zeb Waller, Post Master, Susan A. Waller, Assistant, Maud V. Gunter, Chief Clerk, Swannanoa L. Patterson, Stamp and general delivery clerk, John C. Jones, Night clerk, Lula V. May, Substitute clerk. The Burlington Postoffice is in charge of an efficient corps of clerks, and is the only office between Greensboro and Durham, with night service.

Lutheran Church

In 1869 citizens of Burlington, their Company Shops, petitioned the Lutheran Senate of North Carolina to establish a mission at that place, and assist them in the support of a regular pastor. The Senate granted the request and made Rev. W. A. Julian pastor. A congregation was immediately organized and received into the Senate 1869. The first church building was erected 1879-80 and was dedicated the fourth Sunday in April 1880 by Revs. W. Kimball, G. D. Bernheim now of Charlotte. It is worthy of note that this building was the first church building erected in Burlington with the exception of the old Union Church on the railroad property. The church property is on West Front Street, there being about two acres in the plot for which the congregation paid $175 originally. It is now one of the most desirable plots in the city, and when the new church shall have been completed, and including the parsonage and lot the property will be worth easily $25,000. The following are the pastors, Revs. W. A. Julian, S. Scheres, W. Kimball, J. S. Buck, C. B. Miller, V. Y. Boozer, W. W. J. Ritchie and the Present pastor, C. B. Cox. The membership when organized was 15 from which it has grown to 170. The congregation was still a mission when Rev. C. B. Cox became pastor six years ago. Since then the congregation has practically doubled and become a self supporting, is now erecting a handsome new brick and stone church edifice.

The Methodist Protestant Church.

This church was organized in 1892 under the pastorate of Rev. W. F. McDowell in the old Union church with about twenty character members. During his pastorate the lot was purchased for the church and the church was completed about 1894. A year later it was seated and furnished. The church has had a rapid growth having now over 300 members. The pastor's since 1892 have been Rev. C. A. Pickens, Rev. W. A. Bunch, Rev. J. G. W. Holloway Rev. C. A. Cecil, Rev. C. H. Whitaker, Rev. Wm. Potter, Rev. J. H. Abernathy, and Rev. J. D. Williams. The Annual meeting of the North Carolina Conference was held at this church in 1896, and again in 1904. The church has one of the largest Sunday Schools in the city, the average attendance for October being 205. It has also a Christian Endeavor Society, a Ladies Aid Society of 48 members, a woman's Foreign Missionary Society and a Jr. C. E. Society. During this year the interior of the church has been thoroughly renovated; and a furnace has been installed. The church has sold its old parsonage, and purchased the Newlin property adjoining the church where a new one will be built early next spring.

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the field till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurlock Ky. shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16 year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bites. For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a god-send to weak, sickly run-down or old people. Try them 50c at Freeman Drug Co.

There is not one empty store in Burlington. New stores are being erected in all parts of the business center and rented before the foundations are laid.

We need more capitalist to develop our natural resources. We need more manufacturers to utilize our raw material. We need more homeseekers to build homes.

The business men of our town should rally around our young tobacco market and make it the most popular market in the Piedmont belt.

Kills To Stop The Fiend.

The worst foe for 12 years of John Deye, of Gladwin Mich., was a running ulcer. He paid doctors over $400.00 without benefit. Then Bucklen's A-mica Salve killed the ulcer and cured him. Cures Fever-Sores, Boils, Felons, Eczema, Salt Rheum. Infallible for Piles, Burns Scalds Cuts, Corns. 25c at Freeman Drug Co.
