ELON COLLEGE NOTES.

Special to The Dispatch.

W. P. Lawrence, Alumni Orator for 1911 Prof. W. A. Harper, with J. A. Long Esq. alternate. On May 31 at 8 p. m. occurred the Annual Concert, which was a success and which was enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience.

June first at 11.30 a. m. occurred the graduating exercises, in which of course the interest mainly of the whole commencement centered. Six representatives spoke according to the following program: Goldsmiths or Soul-Smiths, Which?, W. F. Warren, N. C. In the Silences, Miss Carrie Hubbard Boyd, Va. Music. The Incoming Tide, Asa Liggett Lincoln, Va. Un-guarded Gates, Leon Edgar Smith, Ga. Music. The Impassable Gulf Miss Nannie Baker Farmer, Va., Lest we Forget, John Willis Barney (Valedictorian) Pa. Music by college band.

After the graduating essays and orations, Rev. W. W. Staley D. D., for 11 years president of the college, presented the diplomas to the graduating class in his usual happy and felicitous manner, in which he compared the young college graduate to a ship that is being launched, and with a peculiar analogy characteristic of himself, produced an impression on his audience that will not be forgotten.

Dr. H. L. Elderdice, president Methodist Protestant Theological Seminary of the United States, of Westminster Md. presented the Bibles. It was Dr. Elderdice's first visit and he was very much impressed. He said he had been called upon to deliver baccalaureate sermon and addresses and diplomas to graduating classes, but he had never presented bibles to the members of a graduating class.

Prof. J. V. Judd, of Raleigh, N. C., superintendent of schools Wake County, presented the five medals which are offered by the college through their friends as follows: The Long Scholarship medal, established by Rev. W. S. Long, D. D. was awarded to J. W. Barney. The Wellons General Scholarship medal established by Gen Julian S. Carr, out of his regard for Rev. J. W. Wellons and an expression of his interest in the college, to W. F. Warren. The Morrow Thesis Medal, established by Dr. R. M. Morrow to J. W. Barney. The Stanford Orator's medal, established by Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Adams in honor of their progenitor Hon. Richard Stafford, to L. E. Smith, and the Moffitt Essayist medal, established by the family of the late E. A. Moffitt in honor of him, to Miss Carrie Hubbard Boyd.

The following degrees and certificates were granted: Bachelor of Arts. John W. Barney, W. W. Elder, A. C. Hall, A. L. Lincoln, L. E. Smith, W. F. Warren. Bachelor of Philosophy Carrie Hubbard Boyd, Nannie Baker Farmer, Nannie Emma Farmer, Claud Cleveland Fonville. Master of Arts: Henry Milton Loy, Ph. W. T. Walters, A. B. Doctor of Divinity, Rev. J. F. McCulloch, Ph. D., Greensboro, Rev. A. W. Lightbourne, Ph. D. Dover, Del. Certificates in Music William W. Elder, William F. Warren. Certificates in Art Miss Martha Annie Watson. Certificates in English Miss Bettie Alena Stephenson, Ga. Certificates in Book-keeping C. T. Rand, N. C. Robert Carson Lewallen, N. C.

At 3 p. m. on this day occurred the re-union of the literary societies in their halls and at 4 p. m. occurred the Art Exhibit on the first floor of the administration building. Both these functions were largely attended and largely enjoyed.

At 8 p. m. the concluding public exercises consisted of the Alumni Address. Rev. L. F. Johnson, Raleigh, N. C. presided, and Rev. W. T. Walters, Winchester Va., introduced the speaker, who was Miss Jennie Herndon, Ph. B. of Greenville, N. C. Miss Herndon was once a teacher in which department she rendered efficient service and for a few years since has been engaged in teaching in the Graded School system of the state. Her subject was the True Optimist, and she developed it with a masters hand and presented it with a masters charm. At the conclusion of her address she received a most deserved ovation from the audience. She spoke in part as follows: "The subject I bring you is not a new one, yet I venture to hope it is one that will tract you because it presents the highest truest type of manhood, the type the world ever has and ever will have. This optimism the world admires and this is that moves man to his highest attainment. The man who is blessed with such a spirit in storm turns his face upward to the skies where he knows the sunshines and though the long night be thick with darkness, schass the horizon in eager gaze, and not with despair, for the first gleam of the dawning light. This is the true optimist. What he has of cheer he has won by stern fighting with the ills of life. This spirit of true optimism has wrought every great event in the world's history and has been the foundation upon which every great character has developed. How may one attain to this high serenity, this calm unper-turbable constancy and purpose, this tenacity and patience of a conscience. The answer is easy. There is no royal road, only the old path of training of pledging of hope, of earnest endeavor of fixed determination, for optimism is the faith that leads to achievement and nothing can be done without hope.

Life is sacred because it is the arena which character is developed, the trails, the defeats, the disappointments the temptations, the sorrows, no less than the joys the pleasures, the triumphs are merely tools placed in our hands to chisel out the fine lines of a deathless character. Finally let me say to you if you develop the strongest character if you would attain the greatest success you must be a true optimist, without fear and without discouragement, with calm hope and serene confidence look boldly, triumphantly and optimistically to the future.

The Alumni Banquet in the West Dormitory Dining Hall at which May E. Moffitt presided as toast master and at which only the chosen few were permitted to be present, was a delightful function indeed. The toasts were many and wit and humor and laughter together with delightful refreshments gave a fitting close to what many have been pleased to call and perhaps so rightly call Elon best commencement.

The Marshals for the public exercises were as follows: Clio: J. A. Dickey, Jr. Chief. Calvin J. Felton, C. W. Roundtree, Philologist J. C. Stuart Chief. Walter H. Garrison, J. J. Ingle. The Board of Trustees through the temporary president Dr. W. W. Staley made known that they had provided the following: The Board has provided for the water supply of the college by a deep well which will be begun immediately and which will enable the sell water to adjoining villages, and besides meet a long felt need here. The committee looking after this matter is J. B. Beale Johnson, Dr. R. M. Morrow and Rev. J. W. Wellons.

Stone's Kind of Show.

Washington Post. Senator Stone and Col. John Donovan of St. Joseph were standing at the window of the Senator's office building as the parade of a wild West show passed. When the Indians, in war paint and feather, and the frontier scouts with their long rifles, came in sight the Senator and Colonel became as boys again. "I always did like shows with plenty of shootin'," said Stone, "John, let's go." Through his secretary the Senator phoned for seats. A few moments later Stone again spoke. "John," said he, "I've got into the moving picture habit. There was one I saw last night—a trapper, or a cowboy, or a hunter, or somebody like that, was being chased by Injuns. All of 'em were riding like blazes. The Injuns were shootin', and every now and then the cowboy, or whatever he was, would turn and bang away with a huge pistol, whereat an Injun would drop. Say it was a race! and the cowboy got away. I always did like shows with plenty of shootin'."

Democratic "Keynote."

Champ Clark's keynote speech attacking the Payne tariff law probably will appeal to practical politicians as a clever utterance, but since it is neither frank nor fair, it will not appeal to the great body of American voters who are beginning to demand a "square deal" even in the discussion of partisan issues.

Mr. Clark not only deals in those half truth which frequently are as bad as falsehoods, but deliberately misquotes Chairman Payne in an effort to be facetious. Nothing in the Republican leader's speech defending the tariff law which bears his name can be twisted or distorted into meaning what Mr. Clark professes to believe it means—"that reductions of duties increases cost to the consumer."

Mr. Payne cited higher prices for wool and lumber, despite decreases in the schedules bearing on those subjects, to show that other influences than tariff duties are at work to hoist values. Mr. Clark's inability to meet the issue caused him to misquote his antagonist, misrepresentation offering the easiest way of escape in a serious dilemma, in which such logic as the Missouri statesman possesses was unequal to the task cut out.

If the Democrats hope to win on a campaign of misquotations and misrepresentations, they have misjudged the intelligence and integrity of American citizens.

The campaign "keynote" is a distinct disappointment even to Republicans, who would like to see a little originality injected into Democratic methods to "add to the gaiety of nations" and to give spice to the forthcoming battle.
