

FOUR BROTHERS DIE AT THROTTLE

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 13.—Engineer W. A. Kinney, the last of the four brothers to be claimed in the railway wrecks, was killed and several trainmen and passengers were slightly injured near here today when the southbound New York, Atlanta and New Orleans limited on the Southern Railway, was derailed.

Seven cars left the track and turned on their sides.

The escape of the passengers is attributed to the fact that all the cars were of steel construction. The accident occurred while the train was running about sixty-five miles an hour and was caused by a spreading rail. Fortunately the cars turned toward an embankment. Had they turned to the other side they would have toppled into a ravine and the loss of life undoubtedly would have been great.

Among the most seriously injured are:

Ed Towns, fireman, of Spencer, N. C.

A. M. Shaw, of Charlotte.

D. Line, Baltimore.

Henry Mowyer, Greensboro.

R. F. Arrington, a negro porter.

These, with the passengers were brought here on a special train.

DAY SET FOR TRIAL OF BOSTON PREACHER

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson will be placed on trial on the charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, on January 12, 1912. This date was set late today when Richeson was arraigned.

Without emotion and in a clear voice the preacher pleaded "not guilty." He was then returned to the Charles street jail to await the trial.

The date of January 15, proposed by District Attorney Pellitier, was strenuously opposed by W. A. Morse, the pastor's council. He declared that the defendant's council had not been able to hold a single meeting and asked a continuance of six months.

Mr. Morse said that John D. Lee, of Lynchburg, Va., who is to be the chief counsel for the defendant, would be unable to meet the lawyers until the latter part of this month at the earliest. Considering that Mr. Lee represents the accused man's family he felt that the council should confer before the date of the trial was set.

District Attorney Pellitier urged an early trial and Judge Sanderson who presided, sided with him. In fixing January 15, as the date the court said that two months was ample time for the defence to prepare its case.

Escorted by a court officer, the accused minister came into court today appearing calm and confident. His month in jail had affected him but little. He showed no signs of nervousness and his plea of "not guilty" could be heard distinctly in all parts of room.

A Preacher's Appreciation.

Mr. Editor:—My congregation at Long's Chapel sent me a load of good things last Friday, consisting of wheat, flour, sugar, coffee, chickens, o'possums, &c., amounting to between twenty and twenty-five dollars in value. Last Sunday I was held up at the close of the services at Union church by brother W. J. Graham, after the congregation had arisen to receive the benediction, and in behalf of my friends presented me a purse amounting to $41.75 expressive of their sympathy for me in my late serious sickness. My wife joins me in thanking these dear friends for this great kindness. Jeremiah W. Holt. Mary E. Holt.

Though Mr. Taft may not have the satisfaction of being a member of the Supreme Court, he has that of exercising exceptional supervision over its organization in the way of appointments.

Wins Piano in Contest.

Little Miss Joyce Phillips, of Graham, was the happiest little girl in that place last Friday morning when Mr. Simmons, proprietor of the Alamance Pharmacy, presented her with a very handsome piano. Mr. Simmons purchased the piano and put it in the drug store to be given away to the most popular girl in Graham, the customer voting for any of the contestants at the purchase of drugs, etc. And when the time came round for counting the votes it was found that this little girl had won the piano over the other two contestants by a majority of two million votes. Miss Joyce is about 13 years of age, and when she goes for anything she never fails to win as a faithful and persevering little girl will do. Go right at the time and let Miss Joyce show you how she can play.

Death of a Baby

Ben Hornaday Love the seven-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Love died Tuesday at four o'clock at their home on Broad Street after an illness of about a month.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday by Rev. J. A. Hornaday at the home. Burial at Pine Hill Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Love have the deepest sympathy of their many friends during their hours of bereavement.

Thus a precious flower has been plucked from the ever garden of earth and a place in the home made vacant.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas, on the 19th day of October, 1911, Bro. R. J. Askew was called from earth to eternity he it resolved:

First, That North State Council No. 34, Jr. O. U. A. M., bow in humble submission to the will of him that doeth all things well.

Second, That this council has lost one among its oldest members.

Third, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the widow of the deceased brother, and a copy to each of the city papers for publication.

Penalty of the Franchise.

New York Times.

A woman who was asked whether the fact that registration as a voter usually involves the disclosure and recording of the age of the person registered would not prevent many women from exercising the elective franchise, even if it were offered to them, frankly admitted that this was probable. She declared however, that the requirement to tell age was wholly unnecessary as a means of identification, and of no practical utility in cases of doubt. She also said that not a few men are kept from the polls by the disinclination which is supposed to be a characteristic exclusively feminine.

The men, according to this authority, conceal their ages, after reaching the fourth decade, as carefully as do women, and do it because of the increased difficulty of retaining, and especially of getting, employment that comes with advancing years. That as many men as women are thus reticent is, of course, not true, but it may be true that in some men the fear of the age handicap is so great that they disfranchise themselves rather than intrust their secret to the registration clerks. That would be carrying caution absurdly far, but perhaps it is done—by how many it would be interesting to know.

Great things, these railroads. They lower rates in order to get people to live in the country and then raise 'em 'cause suburban traffic "doesn't pay."

It, looks as if McNamara will be too old to care much about the verdict by the time the jury agrees on one that Los Angeles dynamiting case.

BEATTIE MUST DIE

By refusing Monday to grant an appeal in the case of Henry C. Beattie, Jr., convicted in Chesterfield county on September 5, for the murder of his wife, the Virginia Supreme Court takes away from the condemned man his last hope of escape from execution on November 24, unless Governor Mann should intercede. While declining to comment on the court's ruling Governor Mann announced that he will issue a statement after a conference with Beattie's lawyers, who are still fighting desperately in his behalf. There is a bare possibility that the governor will grant a brief respite, although this by no means certain.

Contrary to the expectation of lawyers generally, the Supreme court filed no written opinion, giving its reason for not allowing an appeal. In the presence of the entire court Chief Justice James Keith made this official statement to the clerk:

"In the Beattie case, the court being of the opinion that the judgement of the lower court is plainly right, doth refuse the petition of a writ of error."

Seventeen bills of exceptions were filed with the higher court by Beattie's council. Cases were cited in an attempt to show that in the closing address to the jury Prosecutor Wendenburg had erred in his command that Virginia should open the graves of all murderers hanged heretofore and apologize to their bones if Beattie should be permitted to go free.

Early Monday, H. C. Beattie, Sr., went to the penitentiary and was escorted to the death chamber where he in a faltering voice, notified his son that the appeal was denied. The prisoner's iron nerve did not desert him. He did not seem to feel or comprehend its meaning, but endeavored manfully to comfort his old father, whose grief was intense.

NEW WOMAN WITNESS IN THE RICHESON CASE

Boston, Nov. 10.—A new woman witness is being sought in the case against Rev. C. V. T. Richeson for the murder of Miss Avis Linnell to give the details of the dead girl's character. Senator William A. Morse, an expert criminal lawyer, has been added to the list of attorneys to defend the minister, who will be arraigned Monday. John L. Lee, of Lynchburg, continues as senior counsel for the defense.

Agreement is Reached by Southern And Telegraphers

Washington, Nov. 7.—All agreement was reached between the Southern Railway officials and their two thousand telegraphers and station agents today. By the terms of agreement the men get an increase of approximately $80,000 a year, which, if divided equally among the men, would amount to about $40 a man. But the matter for increase has not yet been decided. The committee and the officials of the railroad are at work on this phase of the proposition and will reach an agreement within the next few days.

Other concessions made to the men include a reduction of hours at Greensboro and Charlotte from nine to eight a day and an annual vacation of fifteen days for all telegraphers who work as much as four hours on Sundays and legal holidays. It is also provided in the agreement that employees who have been in the service 5 years will be given an annual pass over one general superintendent's division; 10 years, over four divisions; 15 years, an annual pass for the employe and his wife over the entire system.

Both sides are satisfied with the agreement and Chairman Alexander and his men tonight are singing the praises of General Manager Coapman for the fair manner in which he treated the committee.

Don't Neglect Your Eyes.

The prudent person does not wait until his or her vision becomes perceptibly weakened before attending to it. Yet some people will persist in believing their eyes to be the exception to the rule; and will never be obliged to wear glasses. Don't take chances with your eyes. Dr. N. Rosenstein will be in Burlington, Tuesday, Nov. 21st at the Burlington Drug Co., and Wednesday, Nov. 22nd at Mebane at the White House. Come to him and he will give your eyes a thorough examination and advise you to their condition. His prices are very moderate, from $2.00 up.

Met Death Instantly.

Vernon Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hart of Hillsboro, met death in a peculiar way last Saturday Nov. 11th. He belonged to the cornet band and was walking up the steps to the practice hall when he slipped and fell striking his chin with such force that death resulted in a few minutes.

Vernon was 12 years, 6 months and 8 days old. His remains were brought to the home of his uncle, John Fogleman in Burlington where at 2 p. m. on Monday Nov. 13th the funeral was conducted by Rev. J. D. Andrew and the body was laid to rest in Pine Hill Cemetery. The deceased was a grandson of Mr. Albert Long of east Burlington. He will be greatly missed in the home as he was the only child.

Begins to look like they'd have to investigate the Lorimer investigation.

Stephenson-Hornaday.

In Front Street Methodist Church on the morning of Wednesday November 8th, at ten o'clock was solemnized the marriage of Mr. Georgy D. Stephenson, of Raleigh, and Miss Dora A. Hornaday, of this place. For this occasion the church had been beautifully and tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and other potted plants. The chancel railing was intertwined with green and the chancel itself was banked with verdure in which yellow and white chrysanthemums blended harmoniously.

During the moments just before the arrival of the bridal party a musical program was rendered by Miss Susannah Linthicum, of Durham, and Miss Myrtle Muse, of Carthage. "Oh Fair, Oh Sweet and Holy," by Cantor, was beautifully sung by Miss Linthicum, while Miss Muse skillfully presided at the organ. Just before the entrance of the bridal party Miss Linthicum sang "Because" and then the strains of the great wedding march announced the bridal party.

Slowly up opposite aisles came Mr. E. S. W. Dameron and Miss Sarah Stephenson, Mr. John A. Hornaday, Jr., and Miss Nettie Dailey, Mr. John W. Lasley, Jr., and Miss Ida Edwards, Mr. Z. V. Judd and Miss Lola Lasley. Preceding the dame of honor, Mrs. C. L. Hornaday, came the little flower girls, Misses Katherine Buchanan and Mildred Sharpe, and then came the bride with her sister Miss Berdice Hornaday, maid of honor, and the groom with Mr. J. Ed. Pegram, best man.

During the ceremony Schubert's Serenade was softly played and upon the completion of the solemn marriage vows the great organ pealed out the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, while the wedding party retired in the order of entrance.

The bride was tastefully gowned in white crepe silk meteor and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and the bridal veil was caught back with lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore white silk marquisette over blue, satin, hand-embroidered, and white picture hat, and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The dame of honor wore blue marquisette over blue satin and black picture hat, also carrying a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore white marquisette over white with pink cords.

There were many beautiful and valuable presents, attesting the esteem in which the bride and groom are held by their numerous friends.

The groom is a successful young business man of Raleigh, and the bride is the popular daughter of the pastor of the Front Street Methodist church.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left on the northbound train for Richmond, Washington and other points north for an absence of several days. After November 25th they will be at home in Raleigh.

Will Be at Burlington, Tuesday, Nov. 21st, and at Mebane, Wed., Nov. 22nd.

Dr. N. Rosenstein, the eye specialist, of Durham will be at Burlington, Tuesday, Nov. 21st at the Burlington Drug Co., and Wednesday, Nov. 22nd at Mebane at the White House, for the purpose of examining eyes and fitting glasses. You should have them examined now and glasses fitted. Don't take chances with your eyes. Charges very moderate, as low as $2.00, including examination.

Expression of Thanks.

Nov. 14, 1911.

Editor Dispatch: Will you please grant me a little space in your valuable columns to express my sincere thanks for the kindness shown me by my friends and neighbors during my late spell of sickness. May God bless them all in my prayer. J. W. Temple.

Death of James E. Coleman.

James E. Coleman died in his home near Elmira public school house Nov. 10th 1911, aged 69 years and 15 days, after a brief illness with pneumonia. Mr. Coleman had been complaining for sometime but to most of his friends his death was a great surprise. He was married three times. From the first union he leaves five sons and one daughter, from the 2nd only one child was born and this is dead; from the 3rd he leaves a widow, one son and one daughter. In the late war between the States he belonged to Company 6 of the North Carolina Volunteers and gave four years of the best of his life to his Country's service.

His church preference was the Primitive Baptist. His funeral was conducted from the home and in Union Ridge Christian Church, on Saturday afternoon by Revs. J. D. Andrew and Wiley Jones. Thus another of the old soldiers has crossed the river and answered the last roll call.

Colored Teachers Association.

The Alamance County Teacher's Association (col.) will meet Saturday Nov. 25, 1911 at the Court House in Graham at 11 o'clock a. m.

All the teachers of the said association are expected to attend, as it is a duty that they owe to their profession, and the law requires it.

A short, but interesting program will be rendered.

- 1.—A paper by Miss B. M. Graves. Best method for teaching beginners.
- 2.—A paper by Miss Mary Moore. Best method to get all the class to give attention during the recitation.
- 3.—Best method to get parents to supply their children with all the necessary text books. It is desired that all teachers come prepared to discuss the subject. Rev. J. C. Core will lead the discussion.

Prof. J. B. Robertson County Supt. will be present and give a talk.

W. R. Hall.
