The Battle of Alamance.

By far too little attention is paid by the present generation to the history of Alamance County and one of the objects of this article is to arouseif possible an interest in this tespect which would give our county the position, not only from a local standpoint but from a National point of view to which we are so clearly entitled. The battle of Alamance was fought on the 17th of May 1771, four years before the Mecklenburg Declaration and more than five years before the immortal document was published to the world from Philadelphia on the 4th day of July 1776. Lexington is a household word. British tryanny at Lexington rereived their first blood baptism of Senator Boies upon the field of Alamance. to his seat. where our own heroes now repose way leading to Liberty in Randolph County. Our representatives in Congress have been woefully derelict in rot seeing to it that this has been done long ago. It is to be hoped that this stigma will soon be removed and that something worthy of the nation and of the heroes who perished upon that battlefield, will soon be, done that will make of this spot an enduring and lasting memorial of our past glorious history.
