David B. Hill, says an exchange, has been nominated for Governor of New York by the Democrats. Every delegate in the convention voted for him. Hill was chairman of the convention and told the convention that he could not accept the office, but when Alleghany county was called, the chairman of that delegation presented as their candidate the name of Hill. There was at once a stampede for Hill, and he was nominated twice, first by acclamation and then by a call of counties. His speech before the convention was magnificent. He placed himself on record as favoring the tariff bill that has recently become a law, and eulogized Cleveland.

Peffer, the Populist leader in Congress, wants to abolish all tariff and internal revenue. He wants to raise all the revenue that the government needs by taxing land. He wants all railroads, manufacturing establishments and whiskey drinkers to go scot free, but wants the farmer to pay all the tax that the government needs. That is a hard thing to believe about Peffer, but it is so stated, and we have not seen it contradicted.

An exchange is eminently right when it says: "Patriotic instinct is not dead. Men can be controlled for a time by demagogues and appear to be their willing tools, but when the danger line is reached they are quick to see it, and reaction is certain. They will not follow the standard of one who makes plain the selfishness of his aims."

Do you want to pay eight cents on the hundred dollars tax for State purposes as you did in 1869-'70? If so, vote for the Republican and Populist members of the Legislature. If you prefer paying 22 cents on the hundred as you have been for the past ten years, then vote the Democratic ticket.

The Winston Republican says: A Miss D. Waggoner, of Davidson county, committed the saddest of all deaths, suicide, last Wednesday, about noon, by hanging herself. Upon the second story of her home the body was found suspended from the ceiling. Selvage from a quilt-lining was used to form a rope with which to commit the deed. Miss Waggoner was about 30 years of age, and was affected mentally. Efforts were being made to have her admitted to the Asylum at Morganton. It was necessary to closely watch her movements, but with the shrewdness, so noticeable with an unnatural mind, she managed to escape all vigilance and accomplished her purpose. It is our opinion that very few if any persons commit self-destruction with sound mind. The deed may be done in a moment of mental aberration. Ingersol may argue the eternal fitness and efficacy of suicide but happily none but an infidel will countenance such theories. Men, like Ingersol, can prate and do much harm, but the eternal truths of holy writ are clear and decisive and will stand as they have done, against kingdoms and principalities, persecution, dissenters, and educated infidels, until in God's own time all things terrestrial shall pass away and the good shall go into life eternal and the wicked into outer and everlasting darkness.
