School days are at hand, and the truant boy and girl are already planning.

Now is the time for the school children to get busy.

Alamance court for the trial of criminal and civil cases began Monday with His Honor Judge Allen presiding. The docket will be light since all the civil cases against the city have been settled.

There are several back lots that need cleaning up badly. Also Front and Spring Streets. We trust the proper officers will get busy. Cleanliness is next to godliness, and while it is almost impossible to keep all the streets and back lots clean, still we can make some improvement.

CITY SCHOOLS.

The City Graded Schools started today with Prof. A. H. King in charge and a full corps of teachers, the attendance was much larger than usual for the first day. A large crowd of visitors including parents, friends and well-wishers were present to see the opening. Everything points to a successful school term the coming season.

J. ED. STAGG.

The announcement of the death of Mr. J. Ed. Stagg comes as a shock to thousands, and will bring grief to many. His life has been suddenly terminated in the prime of his mature manhood when he was apparently at the zenith of life's activities.

Mr. Stagg was a man of quiet life. He was singularly unostentatious, and while he went about doing good, he never made a show of his charities or of his aid in other lines. He never sought popularity, yet he was universally respected, honored and liked. Gifted with fine natural endowments, his abilities commanded recognition in the business world. His personal life was remarkably clean and exemplary. He was always identified with the best interests of Durham. He believed in the city and its future, and his activities had their center here.

The death of Mr. Stagg is a serious loss to the business life of the state and city, and a greater loss to those who numbered him among their friends. His place will be hard to fill. It is some consolation, however, that he lived his life so well that his influence and the results of his life's work will remain among us.

Mr. Stagg was born in the village of Company Shops (now Burlington,) the 27th of June, 1860. His mother was Mrs. Sarah A. Stagg, who died several years ago, and his father was the late Mr. F. A. Stagg, who died and was buried in Durham about four months ago. Mr. F. A. Stagg was at one time president of the old North Carolina railway. Mr. J. Ed. Stagg educated in the academy at Burlington and at Guilford College, and became telegraph operator at High Point after leaving school and was called from that place to be private secretary to the late Col. A. B. Andrews, who was at that time president of the old Lynchburg & Danville railway company. He remained in this position twelve years and left it to engage in the quarry business at Graystone, N. C., with Messrs. John Winder and William Tucker. He moved to Durham in 1893 and became the private secretary of Mr. B. N. Duke, and while acting in this capacity managed the interests of Messrs. J. B. and B. N. Duke throughout the south. When the interests of these gentlemen were largely moved to the north, Mr. Stagg became vice-president of the Durham & Southern railway company and it was in this capacity more than any other he was thought of in business. He was director of the Union Station company and a member of the directorate of the Fidelity bank. It may be truly said of him that he was diligent in business, "fervent in spirit, serving the Lord."—Durham Sun.

CELEBRATING NEW YEAR'S DAY

Jewish Population Are Celebrating One of the Oldest Festivals—It Began Last Night—Interesting Services Will be Held in the Local Synagogues.

The first of the series of holidays that are celebrated by the Hebrew part of the population of the city was started yesterday evening and will continue throughout today. It is the Jewish New Year. The day of Atonement will be celebrated on September 17 and the Feast of the Tabernacles from September 22 to the first of October.

Regarding the Jewish New Year the following information is furnished by the rabbi:

It will begin on Wednesday evening, September 8, with an ornate solemn service in the Temple and Synagogues. The Thursday morning service comprises a more elaborate form of worship and combines some vestiges of antique ritual with expressions of human experiences and feelings true and real for everybody and at all times.

The Jewish New Year's Festival is the oldest of all festivals celebrated in the civilized world. But it is unique for its significance as well as for its antiquity. The secular New Year (on January 1st) is a day of gratifications; men rejoice in what they have achieved; it is a day for sordid inventories. The Jewish New Year's Day, however, is a time for serious thought on the Meaning of Life; it evokes pious contemplation of the difficult and in-evitable problem as to right and wrong and its appeal is not that we should get more out of practical life but value more genuinely, more truthfully, more morally the life God has entrusted to us.

Much of the success and failure of our work depend, not upon our equipment, but upon our motives. The Jewish New Year's Day, accordingly, is placed by a wise tradition at the beginning of Autumn, when men enter upon their enterprises and obligations with zest and zeal. Just then they need a right interpretation of life and a true measure of its values.

The antique features of the ritual of that Day express the aspirations all men feel equally. The trumpet calls, constituting the central part in worship of that Day are appeals for the moral stir which men should feel when they contemplate their experiences and seek for re-enforcement of their hopes. The calls are also an appeal to the large sense of life. Our week-day wishes and prayers are self-centered and do not give us a perspective of our relations and obligations to the community and fellow-men, and of their influence upon us. But the New Year's Day offers us an occasion to re-affirm our respect for and trust in Providence which is the organization of all lives into an all-encompassing justice. The Jew comprehends this as a comfort in the face of misfortunes and as motivation in the successes he may have. The function of the New Year's Day is to establish a moral judgment in our life and experiences.

CALOMEL WHEN BILIOUS? NO! STOP! MAKES YOU SICK AND SALIVATES

"Dodge's Liver Tonic" is Harmless To Clean Your Stagnant Liver and Bowels.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work. Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodge's Liver Tonic tonight on my guarantee.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodge's Liver Tonic. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodge's Liver Tonic is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick. I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodge's Liver Tonic will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodge's Liver Tonic will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

SOUTHERN TRAINS MAKE GOOD SCHEDULE TIME.

Atlanta, Ga., September 4.—Of the 175,465 regular passenger trains operated by Southern Railway during the fiscal year, ended June 30th, 1925, 636, or 89 per cent, made schedule time and 146,288, or 83 per cent, were on time at all stations.

During the year 149,100 strictly local trains were operated and of these 133,366, or 90 per cent, made schedule time while 127,622, or 89 per cent were on time at all stations.

Of the 26,303 limited trains, nearly all of which cover long distances are handled by other lines in connection with Southern Railway, 21,744 or 83 per cent made schedule time while on the Southern Railway and 18,637 or 71 per cent were on time at all stations.

THE MORTGAGE.

You'd need white paper by the ton, the pen of Oppenheim or Dante, if you'd describe the grief of one who has a mortgage on his shanty. The mortgage is a grievous weight for workingman to stagger under; it bends the back that once was straight and makes the hair as gray as thunder. The toilet says, "To blithely roam the landscape o'er, I've long been wanting; I'll put a mortgage on my home, and buy a car, and do some jaunting." He puts the mortgage on his shack, and buys a motor with the money. "In fourteen months I'll pay it back," he says, "or it will be blamed funny." Alas, an Old Man of the Sea he's placed upon his back and shoulder, and from the weight he won't be free till he's asleep beneath a boulder. The home that once he viewed with pride—a pride that all the world indorses—will soon from his possession slide, while he is paying for dead horses. Debt is the worst and fiercest hell that ever inspired a smoking sonnet; 'twere better 'neath a bridge to dwell than in a hall with mortgage on it.
