CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SEPT. 19, 1912

No one regrets young Rand's death any more than the hazers themselves. It was one of those accidents which would not happen again in a thousand years.

While the affair Friday morning was horrible, to say the least, it was not much worse than what happened at A. & M. College a year or so ago. Hazing of any kind should be stopped, even if the colleges have to be closed.

North Carolina is aroused as never before to the purpose that these hazings must end in the colleges and the State University. The death of young Rand has called direct attention again to the evil, and the college authorities are called upon to see that it ends. Else they will be derelict in their duty.—Sundays News and Observer.

A college should teach a young man to be fair and open and gentlemanly in all of his dealings. There is nothing more cowardly than hazing. A bunch of fellows band together and take out a lone fellow student, and submit him to all forms of embarrassing antics, when not one in the crowd would not attempt the job by himself.—Charlotte News.

The schools and colleges and the people generally over the State have expressed deep regret for the very unfortunate affair, and great sympathy for the University and the bereaved relatives and friends in the tragic ending of young Rand. President Harper, in a communication to THE NEWS views the matter from a broad standpoint.

"No amount of sympathy for those affected by this tragedy should darken our vision of the real issues involved. Hazing is wrong, not because young Rand is dead, but because it strikes at one of the primal constituents of gentility. A gentleman will not enjoy himself at the expense of another. College men should never engage in any sort of fun-making in which all the participants cannot enter with relish and equally enjoy.

"It is no excuse for the hazers to say that the death of young Rand was accidental. It was accidental in the sense that it was not premeditated, but it was not accidental in the sense that young Rand was to blame for it.

He was forced into the circumstances that led to his death. No citizen has the right to force another to do anything, save by due process of law.

"The way to stop hazing is to put in the hearts of the hazers a higher principle. The gospel of Christ, the golden rule, lived in individual hearts, will put an end to it. If the sentiment, the spirit, of our colleges shall become essentially Christian we shall see an end of hazing. Hazing cannot thrive in a Christian atmosphere."

What We Never Forget

according to science, are the things associated with our early home life, such as Bucklen's Arnica Salve, that mother or grandmother used to cure our burns, scalds, sores, skin eruptions, cuts, sprains or bruises. Forty years of cures prove its merit. Unrivalled for piles, coughs or cold sores. Only 25 cents at Eubanks Drug Co.

Rev. W. A. Stanbury, pastor of the Methodist church, preached to a large congregation Sunday night, the first time the church has been crowded since the students departed for their homes the first of the summer. Mr. Stanbury referred to the hazing episode at the University Friday morning, in which Freshman Rand lost his life. He expressed himself freely on the hazing question. He declared that the sophomores who engaged in the hazing were deserving of no sympathy. That it was cowardly when they entered the room of freshmen under the cover of masks and that they were hardly human when they deserted the young man right on the verge of death, and lastly, the cold-blooded attitude which the four sophomores had assumed since the death of Rand. Mr. Stanbury struck some keynotes which sounded loud in the ears of some of his congregation. He laid the blame of the awful tragedy and hazing in general to more deep-rooted causes. The authorities of the University, the citizenship of the town, and the student body, he thought, each must bear a portion of the responsibility of the crime, which was directly the work of hazing. Especially to the authorities of the University did he lay a share of the blame for allowing hazing, citing examples where the authorities could interfere with the practice of the barbarous custom. The minister knows whereof he speaks and it seems that he does not mind whose ox is gored.

New Home to be Built.

The plans for the building of the new $60,000 home for the North Carolina Children's Home Society, which will be located near Durham, have been accepted. The contract has been let to a Durham contractor, and work on the building is expected to begin at an early date. The site of the home will be on the Mineral Springs road, about two miles from Durham, and is an ideal location for such an institution. This will be a great thing for the homeless children of the State. W. B. Streter, of Greensboro, is manager of the home.

New Fly Killer.

A new discovery for the extermination of flies, which may be effective in paving the way to complete eradication of the pests, has been tried at the Washington (D. C.) Star's headquarters. The new method consists of charging the atmosphere with an alcoholic distillation of the long leaf pine. This is a discovery of Dr. Joseph C. Shepard, of Wilmington, N. C. The demonstration was given by Dr. L. J. Morel, who is Dr. Shepard's representative. After a trap containing several hundred flies had been opened in the room, Dr. Morel dusted a small blower for charging the atmosphere with the mixture, and within a few minutes the insects began to drop to the floor lifeless, and it was not long before all were dead. Several water insects which had been turned loose on the floor expired in the same way. It was explained that flies breathe through the pores in their bodies, and that the long leaf pine product closes the pores and thus stops respiration. It is stated that the mixture is not injurious to human beings, who, of course, breathe in an entirely different way. The health department at Washington may conduct experiments to determine the effectiveness of the preparation in destroying the breeding places of flies.

"Generally debilitated for years. Had sick headache, lacked ambition, was worn-out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Chas. Freitoy, Moosup, Conn.

Dogs killed twelve turkeys belonging to D. E. Belvin, near Fayetteville, a few days ago.

The New Parcels Post Law

The following is a summary of the new parcels post law, which goes into effect January 1, 1913:

Any article is mailable if not over 11 pounds weight, nor more than 72 inches in length and girth combined, nor likely to injure the mails or postal equipment or employees.

Flat rate of 1 cent per ounce up to 4 ounces, regardless of distance. Above 4 ounces, rates are by the pound or fraction thereof, and varying with distance as follows:

Rural route and city delivery: First pound, 5c.; each additional pound, 1c.; 11 pounds, 15c.

50-mile zone: First pound, 5c.; each additional pound, 3c.; 11 pounds, 35c.

150-mile zone: First pound, 6c.; each additional pound, 4c.; 11 pounds, 46c.

300-mile zone: First pound, 7c.; each additional pound, 5c.; 11 pounds, 57c.

600-mile zone: First pound, 8c.; each additional pound, 6c.; 11 pounds, 68c.

1,000-mile zone: First pound, 9c.; each additional pound, 7c.; 11 pounds, 79c.

1,400-mile zone: First pound, 10c.; each additional pound, 9c.; 11 pounds, $1.00.

1,800-mile zone: First pound, 11c.; each additional pound, 10c.; 11 pounds, $1.11.

Over 1,800 miles: First pound, 12c.; each additional pound, 12c.; 11 pounds, $1.32.

The Postmaster General may make provision for indemnity insurance, and collection on delivery, with additional charges for such service, and may, with the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission after investigation, modify rates, weights and zone distance, when experience has demonstrated the need therefor.
