Another Munificent Offer.

It is not at all unusual for a man who has climbed high on the ladder of fame and wealth, with the greater number behind him that his heart and mind naturally reverts to the scenes of his childhood. Captain Isaac E. Emerson is by no means an exception to this rule. Reared in the country near here and educated at the University, he launched out on his own resources, about a third of a century ago, with little support, other than a splendid heritage, a big brain and a determination to do something in the world. His name today is known in almost all parts of the world and he ranks as one of America's greatest captains of industry.

In addition to the splendid stadium erected on the athletic field and donated to his Alma Mater, it was announced only a few days ago, at a meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons of North Carolina, assembled at their annual meeting that he would erect and donate to them for this time honored fraternity a beautiful Masonic Temple in memory of his parents, as a monument of his love and affection for them, which never swerved and who were never forgotten by him.

As a Chapel Hill boy we honor and respect him and as a national character we are proud of him. We trust that the fates may so decree, that in years to come we may see much of him in our midst and at least, in a measure, be one of us as of old.

Sanitary Inspector in Chapel Hill.

The State Board of Health announces that Mr. B. B. Ferrell State Sanitary Inspector, will be in Chapel Hill for several days for the purpose of inspecting and licensing privies in accordance with Chapter 71, public laws of 1919. The law became effective on the date of its passage, namely, February 24, 1919, but in order to give every one ample opportunity to comply with it, the State Board of Health deferred the date for insisting upon compliance with the law to October 1, 1919. Upon that date the inspectors were put into the field.

The inspector upon visiting a home will find it sanitary or insanitary.

Privies Found Sanitary: The procedure in such instances is simple. The inspector posts the state privy license number upon such privy and collects the annual license fee of forty cents.

Privies found Insanitary: Such privies will be found insanitary due either to faulty construction or faulty maintenance. In such instances the responsible parties will be subject to immediate prosecution but it is within the discretion of the inspector to follow one of two courses, as follows: (1) If reasonable evidence at the first visit is furnished to show that the responsible individual is acting in good faith, but for some unavoidable reason has been unable to meet the laws requirements, the inspector will be given authority to waive prosecution temporarily. In this case the inspector will collect the inspection fee as usual, and affix to the privy the sign: "Privy License Pending." Upon his next visit the inspector will naturally expect the requirements to have been met, and few if any excuses for non-compliance will be considered. (2) All other privies insanitary in construction will be placarded with the sign, "Insanitary; Unlawful to Use," and prosecution will follow immediately.

Privies 'Insanitary, Unlawful to Use.' (1) Where condemnation is due to defective construction, the owner will be held legally liable. (2) Where condemnation is due to defective construction, the user will be held legally liable.

In case a residence is not supplied with any kind of a privy, it is unlawful to maintain such a residence until a sanitary privy is supplied and the owner of the residence will be held legally liable.

The Inspection Fee. The law specifies a fee of forty cents which must be paid at the time the privy is inspected. The inspector can not and will not make more than one attempt to collect this money. If not paid on demand the account will be turned over to the State Board of Health which will proceed with collection by process of law. Both money and trouble therefore will be saved by having the money ready for the inspector at the time of his visit.

Yes, We Mean To Do It.

Personal interviews, letters and phone messages from our badly delinquent customers asking if we really mean to do what we said last week's News. To all such we answer YES. 'Tis true we propose to give all a chance. Fair notice will be given to every debtor and then if no response their will be placed in the dead list along with Hollis Snipes and many others who make good wages but refuse to pay what they owe. We are not seeking to offend any one, neither are we in business for health or exercise. Regardless of what the public may think, merchandising in a small town to day is simply a matter of existing and not one of making money as so many think. The manager of this store has had thirty-five year's of experience in public life, and never has he found so many so-called good people so careless about their obligations.

Wholesale Houses have cut their terms to a minimum, and it is collect or cease to exist. A man or a woman who will buy a merchant's wares on a week or month's terms and then ignores all statements, not even call to see about the payment, deserves exposure. The Banks have money and will gladly discount good name notes which would keep the merchant alive. Town friends and out of town friends read this, hand it along to your neighbors, tell them to come up and settle. To the greater majority of our customers, who pay cash or promptly, we again return our thanks and pledge you our best service and prices. Any customer who owes us long standing accounts who has had sickness or bad luck, come to see and so advise us. We will withhold their names

Chronic Constipation

There are people who never have a movement of the bowels without it is produced by a cathartic. Most of them have brought that condition on themselves by the use of mineral waters and strong cathartics that take too much water out of the system and aggravate the disease they are ment to relieve. A mild laxative tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets affords a gentle movement of the bowels that you hardly realize has been produced by a medicine, and their use is likely to be followed by constipation.
