CHAPEL HILL, N. C. Dec. 22, 1921

The pessimist says the country is going to the dogs; the optimist says "Well, it's a fine day for it."

It may be more blessed to give than to receive, but it isn't nearly as easy on the pocketbook.

The shortest days of the year come just before Christmas. But you'd have a hard time making the average small boy believe that.

The only time some men get their names in the paper is when they die. And even then it is sometimes misspelled.

Doctors say hard work never killed anyone. But some people don't believe in doctors anyhow.

"Mexican Reds Threaten American Consul Dye"—Headline. It may be true, but it sounds like highly colored news to us.

Ever notice how much the man who is opposed to movies, dancing and everything in general, really knows about the things he condemns?

An English sculptress has made a bust of Charles Chaplin. It doesn't look much like Charlie, but then, of course, it doesn't show his feet.

And we wonder how the Goddess of Liberty would look on short skirts and with her hair bobbed?

Secretary of Treasury Mellon says prohibition enforcement officials talk too much. In other words they should "dry up."

Landru, the French bluebeard must go to the guillotine for the murder of 11 of his former sweethearts. But, then he's not the first man who has lost his head over a woman.

We've seen, and you probably have too, some autoists who drove as if their life insurance was paid up and they were anxious for their heirs to collect.

And we hope the Recording Angel turns a deaf ear to some of the hunting stories that are being told nowadays.

One little letter will make a lot of difference. For instance, take the advertisement of the restaurant which read: "The best people in town die at our tables."

SYMPATHY

We wouldn't give two figs for that neighborly sympathy which is called to life only by the hush of death. And that is one reason why some people do not like the public card of thanks. There should be no occasion for thanking folks for simply doing their duty. If your home catches on fire it stands to reason the neighbors will help you to save what they can. If you are stricken by the death of a member of the family, it is only common decency upon the part of your friends to come to your aid. And yet this mere assistance is so rare that we have seen strong men with tears streaming down their faces as they felt the heart break of parting with a loved one, say "What would we do without friends?"

This noble attribute of sympathy ought not to be so rare that only death or disaster can call it into being. We ought to practice it towards our neighbor every day of our lives. You don't know how a showing of interest, a kind word or a hearty hand clasp may strengthen the poor devil who is trudging under a load he keeps hidden from the public gaze.

And, then, there is mother. It isn't much of a task making Mother happy. Her white hair and the light in her eyes begins to fade, her want grow correspondingly simpler. But she wants to know that she sometimes is in your mind. She needs a little change from the monotonous routine of her life. Can't you manage to give her one? Think it over and do something for Mother. Give her a little gift some other time than up on Christmas Day.

And you fellows who have left the old home and are far from her, do not fancy that a letter telling her more or less of what has happened will be enough. You must write her a love letter. Perhaps it is not in fashion, but that is one kind of a love letter that must never become obsolete—the love letter to Mother at home.

We wish for all of you the happiest and Merriest Christmas and a Prosperous New Year. THE OLD MAN'S DREAM.

Chapel Hill store, one that all of you may appreciate. They call our Manager the old man, which he does not dispute, while Sheriff of this County for six years he drove miles and miles in the cold and dark otentimes alone hunting law-breakers, rading stills, and dreaming of his return to Chapel Hill (Home Sweet Home) where he hoped to build up a business that all of her citizens would appreciate and support, in some respects he has succeeded in many he has failed, and now Chapel Hill is growing by leaps and bounds the question becomes a bigger one. We want to give you a bigger store, a neater store and better service. The cooperation of every citizen is asked for any suggestions will be carefully considered. We know something must be done very soon to meet the demands of the growing Town, if we are not the people to meet the issue, we stand ready to sell out, or to merge into a larger corporation, that our people may get better service.

PAYING BILLS.

From the day this store opened its doors in 1911, it has been a puzzle to the management to know what is the right thing to do. Believing that the people who pay cash or pay their bills by the 6th of the month should have some allowance yet how to do it has not been solved. A good customer says try giving a 2 per cent discount on all bills paid by the 6th of the month, this means a saving of 24 per cent in a year. Beginning January 1st we will try this for the month of January. To the slow pay, those who think we never need money we are forced to say "friends you must pay up January 1st. It is up to you, you have had notice after notice, our creditors say we must pay so must you, and all accounts not paid by Jan. 10th will be in Roberson & Whitfields hands. We beg you not to force us to this unpleasant process.

Again thanking every customer, and wishing all a Merry Christmas,

The Ford Sedan.

This splendid car is growing more popular every day, because every day the demand for the enclosed car increases in volume, and when you think that the Ford Sedan, with its comforts and conveniences—an enclosed car, handsome appearance, roomy for five passengers, nicely upholstered, sliding plate glass windows which make it an open car in a minute or so or a tightly closed car that is dust-proof and water-proof—ready for service every day of the year, rain or shine, summer or winter, and then think that this car is lower in price than any touring car (except the Ford car) and you will not wonder that we ask you to leave your order for a Sedan as soon as possible that we may be able to give you reasonable delivery.

Of course, you cannot forget that matchless and reliable "Ford After Service" that follows every Ford car the world over—always within arm's length a reliable Ford dealer or authorized Ford garage that can tune up your car and keep it in running condition every day in the year. We want your trade.
