

THE HOT BLOOD OF YOUTH.

As Brewed in German Universities It Leads to Quarrels, and at Last to Twenty-one Duels in a Day.

The Vienna correspondent of the London News writes under recent date: The University of Jena, and indeed the whole city, have passed through a week of intense alarm and anxiety. On one day twenty-one serious duels took place among the students, and the arms used not being properly cleaned, all those who were wounded had their blood poisoned.

About forty young men are lying in the hospital in a serious condition. One great favorite, the only son of wealthy parents, had his mind upset by an intense attack of fever, and committed suicide by taking strychnine. He died after a terrible agony that lasted many hours. Two more have died already, and there is little hope of saving more than one-half of those who are still in a pitiable condition.

This dreadful calamity will no doubt serve to make university dueling very unpopular in Germany; if not with the young men themselves, certainly with their relations. It is difficult for an Englishman to believe on what pretenses a duel will sometimes take place. At Heidelberg an English friend once dined at the table d'hote, and being seated right opposite to a young man who wore the badge of a "corps" across his breast, he could not help noticing the extraordinary manner in which this young man took his meal.

At first he admired him for the skillful manner in which he managed his knife, which incessantly passed from his plate to his mouth, heavily laden as it was with green peas. But when the student, having finished his meal, took up his gray with the knife the Englishman began to feel his blood boil. Pudding with apple sauce followed, and the student operated with his dessert-knife just as he had done with the larger knife. But the Englishman could control himself no longer.

In a hoarse whisper he addressed his vis-a-vis, saying: "You will cut your mouth open if you don't leave off eating gravy with your knife." The student looked up and answered: "What is that to you? I can cut my mouth open to my ears for all you have a right to interfere." "Oh, nonsense," said the Englishman, coolly; "you can't expect a decent person to let you butcher yourself at dinner!" "Oh, but I can't," he said, "and you shall see! Dummer Junge!" With that the student rose and left the room. Dummer Junge! (Stupid fellow!) signifies as much as a challenge.

When the student's seconds came to arrange details with the Englishman he was terribly surprised at the serious consequences of what he had deemed a most natural remark. He offered to apologize, and begged them to remember that he believed himself in the right. But the seconds declared their friend would accept no apology, and they even hinted that the Englishman had probably been told that his opponent was a first-class fencer, the pride of Heidelberg. Of course, when matters took this turn, the Englishman spoke in a very different tone, and everything was arranged for a duel with pistols, he being no fencer. He spent a dreadful night, because he was told that the young student was in such a foaming rage that his only desire was to see his opponent lie dead on the ground. The Englishman did all in his power to have the matter arranged, but he did not succeed, and on his way to the trysting-place he said to his seconds: "It is a dreadful shame that I should have kill this young man because he does not know the proper use of his knife and fork. Still, it would be just as unfair to let him kill me."

The Englishman intended firing in the air if he had the second shot, but chance was averse to him. He had the right to shoot first—the aim was deadly, the young Teuton fell without a groan.

Next day the Englishman traveled to the town where his victim's widowed mother lived, and at the end of a two hours' conversation he convinced her of his sincere regret and his wish to serve her. She admitted that her son had not died through his fault, but through the mistaken notions of honor current among the youth of Germany.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Working is the acquiring of knowledge. Humility is the mother of contentment.

So adorn the doctrine that those may be won by the life who will not be won by the word.

The marriage of true and loving hearts is the most beautiful and touching event in nature.

Fame comes only when it is deserved, and then it is inevitable as destiny, for it is destiny.

A really great man is known by three signs—generosity in the design, humanity in the execution and moderation in success.

Be not stingy of kind words and pleasing acts, for such are fragrant gifts, whose perfumes will gladden the hearts and sweeten the lives of all who receive them.

The law of the harvest is to reap more than you sow. Sow an act and you reap a habit; sow a habit and you reap a character; sow a character and you reap a destiny.

"May I Kiss That Baby?"

To a soldier, far away from home, there is no more touching sight than that of a baby in its mother's arms. While on their way to Gettysburg, our troops were marching by night through a village, over whose gateways hung lighted lanterns, while young girls shed tears, as they watched the brothers of other women march on to possible death. A scene of the march is thus described by the author of "Bullet and Shell."

Stopping for a moment at the gate of a dwelling, I noticed a young mother leaning over it with a chubby child in her arms. Above the woman's head swung a couple of stable lanterns, their light falling upon her face. The child was crowing with delight at the strange pageant, as it watched the armed host pass on.

"I beg your pardon, ma'am," said Jim Manners, one of my men, as he dropped the butt of his musket on the ground, and peered wistfully into the faces of the mother and her child.

"I beg pardon, but may I kiss that baby of yours? I've got one just like him at home, at least he was when I last saw him, two years ago."

The mother, a sympathetic tear rolling down her blooming cheek, silently held out the child. Jim pressed his unshaven face to its innocent, smiling lips for a moment, and then walked on, saying:

"God bless you, ma'am, for that!" Poor Jim Manners! He never saw his boy again in life. A bullet laid him low the next day, as we made our first charge.—Youth's Companion.

"What can a boy do?" asked an exchange. Leave him alone in the house with a pot of paint, a sharp knife and a bounding ball. Come back in an hour and see what he has accomplished.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is not extolled as a "cure-all," but admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most potent specific in those chronic weaknesses peculiar to women. An Unfaded Blessing.

About thirty years ago, a prominent Physician by the name of Dr. William Hall discovered, or produced after long experimental research, a remedy for diseases of the throat, chest and lungs, which was of such wonderful efficacy that it soon gained a wide reputation in this country. The name of the medicine is Dr. Wm. Hall's Balm for the Lungs, and may be safely relied on as a speedy and positive cure for coughs, colds, sore throat, etc. Sold by all Druggists.

This well known remedy for Catarrh still maintains its well earned popularity. E. A. Savage, of Geneva, Kansas, writes, March 4, 1891: "I have used Durno's Catarrh Snuff, and it is the only thing that does me any good. It always effects a cure." Sold by all Druggists.

SPRING

Is the most dangerous period of the year to those who suffer with throat and lung complaints. Dr. F. W. Nestle, Baptist minister, residing in Accomack county, Va., says that after suffering for more than six months with severe lung and throat trouble he was speedily cured by using New Life, the Great Cough Remedy. He calls it "a wonderful medicine for throat and lung trouble."

Voluntary Tributes of Gratitude for Benefits Received.

DEAR SIR—Please allow me the privilege of giving my testimony regarding the wonderful curative properties of your invaluable medicine, Hunt's Remedy. During the past six or seven years I have been a great sufferer from kidney disease, and during a great part of the time my sufferings have been so intense as to be indescribable. Only those who have suffered by this dread disease know of the awful backache, and pains of all kinds, accompanied by great weakness and nervous prostration, loss of force and ambition which invariably attend it. I had all these troubles intensified, and was in such a bad condition that I could not get up out of my chair except by putting my hands on my knees, and almost rolling out before I could straighten up. I tried the best doctors, and many kinds of medicine, but all failed to help me, and I experimented so long endeavoring to get cured that last spring I was in very poor shape, and in seeking for relief my attention was directed by a friend to the remarkable cures of kidney diseases, etc., which were being accomplished by Hunt's Remedy. I was induced to try it, and began to take it, and very soon "limbered up," as it were; my severe backache and the intense pains I had suffered so long speedily disappeared, notwithstanding I had been bothered with this complaint so many years.

When I began to take Hunt's Remedy I was considerably run down in my general health, and suffered also from loss of appetite. Ever since I have been taking the Remedy, however, my improvement has been most marked; my former complaints, aches, pains, etc., have disappeared, and I now feel like my former self, hale, hearty and sound in health. I shall always keep Hunt's Remedy with me, and would most earnestly recommend all those who are sufferers from Kidney or Liver disease, or diseases of the Bladder or Urinary organs, to use Hunt's Remedy, and take no other.

Yours very truly, HENRY H. SWEEDS, No. 280 Westminster St., Providence, R. I.
